

EXPECT ANOTHER DISAGREEMENT EDWARDS' CASE

The jury in the trial of James (Shine) Edwards charged with violation of the prohibition law began its deliberations at 10:10 o'clock this morning and at two o'clock this afternoon was still out. A jury in a previous trial disagreed.

It is the general opinion around the court house that no verdict would be reached in the present case. At the reconvening of the circuit court yesterday afternoon Mrs. Frankie Edwards took the witness stand and corroborated the testimony of the defendant, Edwards, and other defense witnesses regarding the appearance of one Joe Kidd in front of the house at 129 North Central with a package which he handed special agent Gates.

S. Stevens, Pete Ord and John Goodwin were then called as witnesses for the defense and gave testimony contradictory to that of the witnesses for the prosecution.

The prosecution then called as witnesses Mrs. Boardman and her daughter, who own the house on North Central where Kidd rooms and who were home the entire evening when Kidd is alleged to have delivered the liquor to Gates. They testified that Kidd was not at home at the hour of the alleged delivery.

Several character witnesses were called by the prosecution and testified unfavorably to the reputations for truth and veracity of Billie Dooley and Frankie Edwards. Witnesses who were called by the prosecution to testify to the reputation of the defendant were not allowed to testify by the court.

Attorney O. C. Boggs, assisting the district attorney, outlined the case to the jury after which attorney George Roberts, who is representing the defense made his closing argument. District Attorney Hawley Moore delivered the closing argument for the state this morning, after which the court instructed the jury that unless it was satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that Edwards had sold the liquor to Gates that they should return a verdict of not guilty.

TWO HELD FOR STICK-UP GOLD HILL POKER GAME

On warrants sworn out by Gus Larson, the foreman of the camp, Mose Hall, aged about 42, and Anton Olsen, aged about 19, who were arrested on suspicion of being the two bandits who held up and robbed the poker party players at the cement quarry at Gold Hill last Friday night, were arraigned in Justice Taylor's court in this city Tuesday afternoon.

Hall is part owner and operator of a placer claim near Gold Hill, and Olsen is also from the Gold Hill vicinity. From the time of the hold-up it was generally held that local men were guilty of perpetrating the robbery. The charge against Hall and Olsen is robbery while being armed with a dangerous weapon. Their hearing was set for Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the bail of each was set at $2,500. Hall furnished bail. Attorney George Codding acted as special state's attorney at the arraignment.

Gus Larson and several of the other men who were robbed positively identify the two men under arrest as the robbers, despite the fact that the latter had their faces masked with handkerchiefs.

The robbery is described as follows:

Two masked and armed bandits entered Stagger Inn, boarding house of the Beaver Portland Cement company's quarry at Zacher, Friday night, and broke up a poker game. While one bandit kept the men covered after they were ordered to take their stand along the walls the other collected their money. Gus Larson reported that $500 he had put out of sight was spared. The hold up men hurried their operation, one leaving through a window with about $65, while the other backed out the door. Some shots were fired, but no trace of the robbers has been found.

Another meeting of the four American delegates was called for five o'clock today by Secretary Hughes with further discussion of the naval program in prospect.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—It has been stated that the actual decision of the conference on the fleet ratio question which is the basis of the whole American proposal probably would be reached through informal discussions between the individual delegates. Secretary Hughes is expected to announce later today that the naval experts had completed their work so far as the "5-5-3 ratio" was concerned and possibly to make public some of the figures involved as to existing naval strength of Japan and the United States.

The negotiations are expected to start immediately and in order to give the Japanese and Chinese delegates a free day for their discussions, the conference committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions adjourned today until Friday.

The question of Shantung came up in the meeting today of the Far Eastern committee and it was suggested that the Chinese and Japanese delegates should talk over the subject privately before the other members of the committee took it up. Both the Chinese and Japanese delegates agreed to this and they are to meet tomorrow and report to the full committee on Friday.

FIELD DIRECTOR OF PARK SERVICE IN PRAISE C. L. HOTEL

Praise for this year's hotel and concessions management of Crater National park and the great increase in attendance was uttered by A. B. Commer, of Washington, D. C., assistant director of national parks, and Horace M. Albright, field director of the national park service and also superintendent of Yellowstone national park, who on a swing around the national park system arrived here from Portland this morning with Alex. Sparrow. They leave this afternoon to visit the California national parks.

"It certainly was a great pleasure and very odd during the past season not to hear any kicks about Crater National park where in past years the bulk of the complaints received at headquarters were about that park," said Mr. Albright.

Crater Lake national park recorded a great gain of visitors during the past season than any other national park. While the other national parks showed a gain of 11 per cent in number of visitors, Crater Lake showed an increase of 43 per cent. The auto tourist is just beginning to come west and the new few years will see this kind of travel increase by leaps and bounds.

RUSSIA BACK UPON FEET IN 5 YEARS, BELA KUN SAYS

MOSCOW, Nov. 30.—(By a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.)—Russia will be on her feet again and take her place among the wealth producing nations of the world within the next four or five years, says Bela Kun, formerly Hungarian communist leader. He is now living with his wife and child in a small house attached to a hospital in the outskirts of Moscow.

He writes for the communist press, is active in the Third Internationale and is well thought of in the councils of the "Big Five," who control affairs in Russia, namely, Lenin, Trotsky, Kaminev, Djerinsky and Bukharin.

It will be recalled that Bela Kun was head of the communist government in Hungary for five months in the spring and summer of 1919 and had to flee when the Rumanian army invaded the country and completed the wreckage wrought by the world war. To the correspondent of the Associated Press he said:

"We are on the right road now, here in Russia. I am not speaking as an official of the soviet republic, but it is evident that the new economic policy will succeed. Russia will 'come back' in four or five years.

"You have just been through Russia. You see how rich she is, rich as the United States in forests, in soil, in mines. Her people have broken down the old feudalism. They are at last free. They are being educated, and that is wealth, too. Surely, such a country should have a better chance of repaying foreign investments than bankrupt countries of western Europe lacking Russia's natural resources.

"The government here is finished with revolutions and is growing more stable and will and can protect foreign investments. Industrial or social revolution may come elsewhere, but we are through with them.

"Communism has not failed. Until now we were running a sort of war communism and we were hit by the foreign blockade, too. With peace, the government will continue to control and own the great industries, and in the end will absorb all but the smaller ones. That doesn't mean there isn't room for foreign concessions. Russia is so big.

"We are not getting around to a democratic government like that of the United States. We are doing better. We are working to liberate the workers and try to prevent their exploitation.

"In considering business hazards with Russia, let the American business men remember that so far the United States has obtained only nice bits of paper, promises to pay, from France, England and Italy on the huge sums loaned them."

Bela Kun is working to overcome the famine, which he fears may extend far into the next year, partly because of the lack of seed grain, which the soviet government can't provide in sufficient quantities, partly due to the hazards of weather. He is pushing the plan of an international loan to be launched through trade unions the world over. The plan is to have the soviet government guarantee the loan, to be issued in bonds from one dollar up.

Bela Kun believes that persons who might not otherwise subscribe to famine charity would buy these bonds in the hope of their redemption, five or ten years hence, when the Russian government has recovered its financial credit.

TRY TO HOLD BACK MAIL SWAMPING AT HOLIDAY SEASON

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Postmaster Morgan has again appealed to the business men of New York to discontinue, as far as possible, the mailing of large quantities of circulars and catalogues during the week immediately preceding Christmas Day. This is to enable the postoffice to handle the great quantity of Christmas mail which begins to run heavy about two weeks before the holiday.

The postmaster stated that business men aided him last year in preventing congestion of mail at that time by withholding mail which could be deferred until after Christmas.

In urging them to do the same this year, he stated that it had been ascertained that many persons transporting large numbers of circulars and catalogues should arrange their advertising campaigns so that these can be mailed either before December 19 or after the holiday rush was over, without detriment to their interests.

CAUSES OF RUCTION 'TWIXT ERIN AND BRITISH REVEALED

Shall Ireland become entirely independent or, if it remain within the British empire, shall there be two separate governments in Ireland, one for Ulster and one for the rest of the country?

Prime Minister Lloyd George has refused to consider any proposal which would put Ireland outside the empire.

The Sinn Feiners refused to admit that Ireland should be split in two parts.

Ulster refused to unite in one parliament with the Sinn Feiners. It has organized a parliament of its own under the Government of Ireland act.

The Sinn Feiners refused to set up a parliament for the South of Ireland, as proposed in that act. They adhered to their own Irish parliament, called the Dail Eireann, which they had set up independently as the governing body of the Irish Republic.

That was the situation when the truce began last July, after King

George had made a conciliatory speech at the opening of the new parliament in Ulster.

The purpose of the negotiations now in progress, as defined by Lloyd George and accepted by the Sinn Fein representatives is "to ascertain how the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British Empire may be best reconciled with Irish national aspirations."

The conferences began in July. Both sides have at times entertained higher hopes of a final and satisfactory settlement probably than at any time since the Irish question became a thorn in the side of the British Empire but there have been several crises when the negotiations seemed doomed to failure.

The first of these occurred when Lloyd George offered to de Valera at consultation in London a form of self-government in Ireland something like that prevailing in the British dominions.

The Dail Eireann utterly rejected this proposal on the ground that it did not afford even genuine dominion rule. For a time it seemed that a deadlock had been reached.

How Better Than Pills?

The question has been asked—In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pills? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one hardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. Then, they not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

For Daughter.

If daughter has a way of growing out of her petticoats before they are at all worn, instead of sewing the shoulders together leave them open and lapping quite a bit when they are buttoned. By setting the buttons nearer the edges the petticoats can easily be made longer.
