

CALUMET BAKING POWDER SAVES THREE WAYS

A moderate priced Baking Powder of greatest merit. Honestly made. Honestly sold. Economical in every way. Every particle is full of actual leavening value. A full money's worth.

You save time when you use it. Calumet is all baking powder. It begins to raise bakings the instant they are put into the oven. You don't have to keep "peeping" to see if bakings are all right. You know they are. Calumet is sure—never fails. That's economy. And true economy—in cost—in use—in time.

One trial will prove it and show you in results why millions of shrewd, thrifty housewives prefer Calumet to all other brands.

The unfailing strength of Calumet guarantees perfect results. Not only saves flour—sugar—eggs, etc.—but saves Baking Powder. You use only a teaspoonful—you use two teaspoonfuls or more of many other brands.

Calumet contains only such ingredients as have been approved officially by the U. S. Food Authorities.

HAVE YOU NOTICED THIS?

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

BUSINESS BRISK DURING 1921 FOR SLEEP PRODUCERS

Many Pugilistic Titles Change Hands Past Year—Million Punches Exchanged for the Bantamweight Title—Review of the Sport.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—(By the Associated Press)—In pugilism, where titles are knocked down to traders with the hardest or the truest punches, business was brisk in 1921.

There were many leaders for the title of the bantamweight, and a million punches, more or less, were offered by a group of traders well known to the sporting public. "Fash Joe" Lynch, of New York's east side, by virtue of a high bid last December came into the year with the title. He then engaged the ex-fighter, Pete Herman, of New Orleans, and lost when Pete's brand was recognized by the auctioneers—some people call him judges—as the better of the two.

Pete, however, went to sleep one night in the market at Madison Square Garden, and Johnny Buff, a junior title, Jerseyite, carried him. Buff still retains the title.

Not so long ago there was a new title placed in the market—one for 120 pounders or junior lightweights. Upon the scene came one Johnny Dundee, a former Italian fish-market clerk, who more than a decade ago was given his "Scottish name" by "Scotty" Monteith, who started Johnny on a career. Johnny realized his ambitions after twelve years by winning the new title in a bout with George Chenev, of Baltimore, when Chenev was disqualified for fouling.

Johnny Kilbane, grey-haired king of the featherweights, fought only one battle, that with Danny Frush in Cleveland, and retained the title.

Benny Leonard, expert fist thrower of the lightweights, got into some trouble at the outset of the year, when in a bout with Ritchie Mitchell, Ritchie bid high to the jaw with a right. Leonard, though taken aback, realized that he was a business man and retained the title with a hard right in the sixth. Leonard may, during the course of the coming year, make an offer for the welterweight title, held by Jack Britton. Britton had one important engagement during the year—in February he defeated Ted (Kid) Lewis, former British title holder.

Johnny Wilson, middleweight title holder, has had several bouts. In Cleveland he engaged Bryan Downey, an awkward, but hard puncher, and after being floored several times, was awarded the bout on an alleged foul. Downey claimed he had won by a knockout—Wilson claimed he had been fouled and they decided to try again. The result was an uninteresting no-decision affair in Jersey City.

The New Jersey boxing commission decided that Wilson's showing was very, very poor and they withheld his end of the purse. Johnny got his money only a few days ago when the commission relented and he is expected to meet Harry Greb of Pittsburgh in New York some time in February.

Georges Carpentier, the smiling Frenchman, held the light-heavyweight championship, won in 1920 from Battling Levinsky in four rounds, but he essayed to become the heavyweight title holder as well and found the bidding of Jack Dempsey too high.

This bout, in which Dempsey knocked out the popular Frenchman in the fourth round, was the biggest event of the year. The stakes were high and the Frenchman bid his all in the second round, but the effort was not enough.

As an accommodation to such families who find it impossible for husband and wife to do their Christmas shopping together in the day time, the retail stores of Medford, with the exception of the groceries, will be open tomorrow evening and every night thereafter until Christmas. The grocery stores will be open on Saturday night as usual.

The retail stores have enjoyed an unusual amount of early shopping which undoubtedly was the result of the efforts on the part of the merchants to not delay making purchases until the last day before Christmas.

Santa Claus has already visited Jones' Cash Grocery and left two new pieces of up-to-date furnishings. One a floor show case with ice compartment and is for butter, candy, etc. The other is a counter and showcase with drawers to hold a number of articles usually kept around in boxes. The counter is arranged to show each article and is strictly sanitary, odorless and mouse-proof. The Jones Grocery is one of the leading retail houses of the city and county.

The Screen

"Silent Years," Flaits

Thousands of readers who enjoyed Harriet Comstock's novel "Mansuelle Jo" will find even greater interest in the picturization of this most unusual story called "Silent Years" and is to be exhibited at the Biath theatre tomorrow for a four days engagement.

A gripping tale, the locale of which is the picturesque country along the shore of the St. Lawrence river in Canada; a big theme developed in a big and realistic way by Mr. Gaubier and a superb cast combine to make "Silent Years" one of the predominating motion picture attractions of the day.

Madame Dione, famous French actress, has the part of M. Marey, otherwise known as Mansuelle Jo among the rugged people who inhabit the St. Lawrence country.

Soldier has such a remarkable cast as Mr. Gaubier has assembled been seen in a photoplay. Rose Dione, as Mansuelle Jo, gives one of the most brilliant character studies ever seen on the screen. Pauline Starke also wins high laurels. Others of note in the cast are: Tully Marshall, George McDaniel, George Seligman, Will Jim Hatton, Jack Mower, James O. Harrows, Jack Livingston, Ruth King, Lata Tomeray, Lillian Rambeau, Jean O'Rourke and Ruth Ashby.

Norma Talmadge Tonight Only

Norma Talmadge, the popular and talented actress has a sure hold upon the public through her gifts of expression and her wonderfully charming personality. Her latest picture closes its four day run at the Page theatre tonight and is one of her best.

Two headline features, Buster Keaton in "The Haunted House" and Charlie Chaplin in a return engagement (by request) of "The Kid," are booked for the next movie attraction at the Page Thursday and Friday.

USEFUL GIFTS ARE POPULAR THIS YEAR

The article that's intended only for appearance doesn't interest the 1921 Christmas shopper. This year there is less indiscriminate buying of useless gifts than ever before.

Crater Lake Hardware Co., the local "Winchester Store," reports that more and more people are coming to the hardware store for holiday gifts. There's something about a gift from a hardware store that means usefulness.

For instance, in the hardware store are found pocket knives, scissors, flashlights, carving sets, guns, fishing tackle, skates and many other articles which are made for use rather than show. These are the things people are buying for gifts this season.

Watch Your Gums Bleeding Is the Sign of Trouble

Medical science knows how serious is the sign of bleeding gums, for it knows that tender and bleeding gums are the forerunner of PYORRHEA, that dread disease which afflicts FOUR out of every FIVE people over forty. If the disease is unchecked, the gum line recedes, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system and wreck your health; these poisons often cause rheumatism, nervous disorders, anaemia and other ills.

TO AVOID PYORRHEA

the best treatment for any disease is to prevent it. Free consultation and advice. Painless Dentistry is one of our specialties. Not only in EXTRACTIONS, but all other dental operations, where it is possible to alleviate dental pain.
