NEW EQUIPMENT FOR MUNDY OIL WELL ARRIVES

An engine, boiler, drill parts and extension stems arrived Sunday morning from British Columbia for use on the Mundy well on Coker Butte. The drill is one of the rotary type, which puts down a small hole with greater speed than the oscillating drill. It is of the same type which is now being used at the well of the Southern Oregon Exploration company, and it is understood that this drill is capable of going to a greater depth than the one in use there, as well as producing a hole with a larger diameter. It is understood that the drilling operations at the well on Coker Butte will be carried on under the supervision of P. J. Lynch of the firm of Lynch Brothers of Seattle, to whom the rig is addressed. Lynch is also supervising the operations on the company well.

OFFICIAL COUNTY TAX ANNOUNCED

The county court in adjourned session this morning approved of the county tax levy for the year at 26.7 mills for districts outside of high school districts, and 25.9 mills for districts inside high school districts, with the exception of the Ashland district, which was taxed at 26.7 mills owing to a .2 mill exemption from the library tax. The levy is .6 mills higher in districts outside of high school districts, and .9 lower in districts inside high school districts than last year. This is no change from the unofficial levy as published in the Mail Tribune last Friday.
