Ye Smudge Pot By Arthur Perry.

An Oregon heifer produced 18,522 pounds of milk in 1921, and this does not include the water added by everybody who sold it.

MIKE'S AUTO WRECKING HOUSE (Ad Salem Statesman). Admirable frankness in announcing the opening of a new and much needed garage.

A Portland husband returning unexpectedly, furnishes a couple of jobs for the undertaker, and, as usual, shot with deadly accuracy, until he transformed himself into a corpse.

Reports from the chief cities of the land indicate that liquor was so plentiful at the threshold of a new year, that even a policeman could find it.

Tonsorial parlors re-opened this am. and the amiable chinwhackers warmed their fingers down the necks of their customers.

The United States is going to deport 1287 European heilraisers, including an ex-premier of Finland, who is full of anarchistic notions and American cooking.

Mica Womack strolled into the hills back of Jacksonville Mo., and discovered a gold mine without leaving the Nash district.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION VS. A PECK OF TROUBLE (Albany Democrat). After fumigating their house, Mrs. Ralph Danner's oldest daughter, Dorothy, took ill with the scarlet fever.

The New Year's edition of the Portland Oregonian arr. OK, and unlike previous years, purchasers were able to get into their homes with it.

There was a show at the opory house last eve. Roy Gardner is in jail, but his nerve goes marching on.

The disarmament confab has formulated a set of rules for the Chinese, with the Chinese in control every place except where money is concerned.

NOMINATIONS ARE OPEN FOR WORTHY POUNDER OF THE ROYAL DISHPAN (Sweet Home News).

The weddings in this vicinity have come so fast in the last two weeks that the charivari crowd are all tired out. Some suggest that they effect an organization and adopt uniforms.

The way the high moguls of Democracy are shooting appeals and speeches at the womenfolks, the men will have no vote in the 1922 elections. The object is to produce a solemn and hysterical referendum.

WANTED—H. S. girl to work for room and board and help care for 2 children. Apply in person 929 Winchester St. Mrs. L. R. Meredith.

At last a football team has been located that the University of California's three teams couldn't beat.

A MALICIOUS SPIKE (Oregon City Enterprise). George Beers has been limping around because of a rusty nail forcing itself into his foot.

The mule is an interesting cuss, and, according to the last issue of the "FARM and HOME," when young, will eat their own tails off, unless closely watched.

Miles Cantrill of Kach Mondayed in the metropolis. Mr. Cantrill is a prosperous farmer, but won't admit it.

THE LAST OF THE BIG BOSSES.

THE late Boies Penrose was a boss in his own right. He was returned to the senate as regularly by the people through the direct primary system as by the politicians through the convention system.

Penrose was essentially a modern boss. That is to say, he was not in politics for personal profit. He was not a grafter. He had a definite code of political principles, and these principles may be grouped under the general head of big business.

Penrose honestly believed in big business. He was convinced that legislation which protected big business, which extended its influence and increased its profits, was not only best for the Pennsylvania railroad and United States Steel, but best for the workers and best for the people.

However one might disagree with the Penrose code, no one could question its essential honesty. There was nothing of the demagogue about Pennsylvania's Big Boss. He was neither a mixer nor a baby-kisser, and didn't pretend to be.

The reason for this was undoubtedly the belief among the people of Pennsylvania at large that Penrose was, in spite of his faults, too great an asset to the state to lose. He had the ability, he had the brains, he knew more about the intricacies of the tariff and finance than any other man in the upper house, and above all he had power.

Quill Points

Hobby: Any convenient rat-hole for the reception of surplus income.

Even railroad bandits recognize spheres of influence. They never attack dining cars.

The funny part of it is that when congress is loafing it really thinks it is deliberating.

When the wire sizzles like that, you can't tell whether it is a static condition or central chewing gum.

Some people get ahead, and some can't resist the temptation to buy a thing that is only one dollar down.

In this glorious country, every man has a chance to get rich enough to write a book about the blessings of poverty.

Disarmament is a feather in Uncle Sam's cap, but let the world understand, please, that it isn't a white feather.

Turning up your coat collar doesn't really keep you warmer, but it serves to hide the tie the wife gave you for Christmas.

In a small town a girl whose parents are worth ten thousand dollars, has difficulty in finding a mate, who is her social equal.

It will be impossible to reverence the well-known human race, however, while it continues to stage amateur theatrical performances.

It must be a great strain on Ireland to keep yearning for everything DeValera thinks she should have.

Stinnes says the world will be controlled by trusts. At present, however, it is controlled by distrusts.
