

NEW FRATERNAL ORDER, MEDFORD TO BE FORMED

In about two weeks a new fraternal organization will have been born in Medford. It goes to show the progressive spirit of this community of which we are justly so proud. There is only one other order of the kind in Oregon and that was instituted in Portland about ten days ago. This will be the fourth one on the Pacific coast. It is the Order of De Molay for Boys, sponsored by the Chapter of Royal Arch Masons. This order is for boys only between the ages of seven and twenty-one. They must be sons of Master Masons in good standing or the sons of Master Masons' sons. It takes the boys from the time they leave the Boy Scout movement, till they reach manhood, giving the advantages of organization and fraternal relationship. This is the formative period in a young man's life, and the time when his character for good or bad is being weighed in the balance. It is the time when good morals, good citizenship, respect of parents, and the opposite sex, should be most firmly impressed on a young man's mind.

The organization originated in Kansas City, Mo., in the month of March, 1919. It is not yet three years old, still it numbers over 150,000 young men in its ranks. Its purpose is to make better boys, better men, and better citizens. It teaches reverence, patriotism, filial love, and good citizenship.

The order derives its name from Jacques De Molay, the last of the active grand commanders of the Crusades. For a period of nearly two hundred years the knightly and chivalrous of Europe's civilization shed its rich blood on the arid plains and mountains of the Holy Land in an endeavor to rescue and hold the place where the Saviour was born, from the ravages of the infidel hordes. It was necessary in these warlike times that men should bind themselves together with most sacred ties to gain the purpose for which they fought. The largest and strongest of these orders, was the Knights Templar. No records in history reveal to us such valor, such bravery, such charity, such manhood as we find in the records of this order. De Molay shed his blood with other countless thousands, while fighting for this noble cause. When an old man at seventy he was faithfully thrown in the toasting at Paris by order of the king, and there for over five long years he lived in chains. From time to time he was tortured on the rack, in an endeavor to gain his fraternal secrets.

LIMBERS UP YOUR SORE STIFF JOINTS

WEATHER exposure and hard work bring pain and aches in muscles and joints. Have a bottle of Sloan's Liniment handy and apply freely. Penetrates without rubbing. You will find at once a comforting sense of warmth which will be followed by a relief from the soreness and stiffness of aching joints.

Also relieves rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, sprains and strains. For forty years pain's enemy. Ask your neighbor.

and the location of the Templars' wealth. He resisted all efforts of the inquisition, and as they could not break down his sturdy manhood, they burned him with slow fire at the stake, on a little island in the Seine river. It is around the fortitude, courage, and manhood of this great man the order is founded.

The De Molay for Boys has two degrees, an emblematical pin worn by its members, colors appropriate to the order, a ritual for conducting its work, cards for the members to show they are in good standing, just as all other fraternal organizations have. They have a beautiful and touching memorial service, to be used on Decoration day, or when laying one of their members beneath the stars of the valley. In the educational centers where our schools or higher learning are established, you will find this order, and a boy meets with friends as soon as he arrives.

The initiation fee is three dollars and the dues are what the lodge wishes to make them. It is non-sectarian and matters of religion are not to be considered. It does not teach religion but it teaches a great lesson in morality. It is sponsored by the great Masonic body, and some member of that body in good standing must be present at each meeting. They give the Masonic place of meeting, and have the privilege of using any paraphernalia that moves their needs. When not putting on the work they can indulge in any form of amusement they wish, just so long as it is clean and orderly.

It is impossible in an announcement of this nature to give all the information the public may need. Below you will find the names of the committee that has been chosen to sponsor this movement, and any member will be glad to give all the information available if you will ask him. We wish to start a class of seventy-five or more in about two weeks, and as a consequence we ask all those who read this and are interested in having their boys join with the others in this organization, to see some member of the committee or write a letter stating your wishes, and the proper application blanks will be sent to you at once. The parents are cordially invited to have their sons join in this great movement for better boys, for better men and for better citizens. The boy, your boy, will soon be the one who will judge your past acts, who will take your place when you are gone, who will carry out the contracts you are now making, who will sit at your desk and direct affairs, you hope, much as you have done. He will judge of your acts either kindly or otherwise, he will alter your rules, mend your mistakes, and carry on the work of civilization when you are gone, and this it is well that you should pay to him some attention.

At the Rialto
 The Rialto theatre announces for its feature film for the engagement beginning tomorrow, "The Oath," adapted from the famous novel by William J. Locke, "Idols" and one of First National's "Big Five" series, along with "The Kid," "Man—Woman—Marriage" etc.

"The Oath" is a combination of a problem play and a mystery story. The problem is built on an instance of a Gentle marrying a Jewess and the mystery part of the picture is in connection with as to who murdered the wife's father, of which the husband is unjustly accused.

The picture has many well constructed dramatic climaxes and will hold the attention of the most hard-boiled audience.
