Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry.

Prosperity is returning, but it will be many a day before the devastated watch chains beam with gold pieces aggregating $50, and so ruthlessly yanked from their moorings by the first cruel wind of adversity. One never sees a polished ten-spot on a silk shirt background anymore.

The womenfolks like the candidates who phonographically announce they are going to "save the boys and girls," but they are simply wild about the fellow who brassbandically blares he is going "to purify the homes."

A NICE DISTINCTION
(Roseburg News-Review)

All persons owing the Hamilton Drug Co. are requested to call and pay or result at once, as we have sold our store.

Link Saito can now write his name in Japanese. Lots of people four times as old can not do this. Link can also bowl in two languages.

All good citizens will stand behind the use of the search warrant in the enforcement of the liquor law, and marvel at the frequency with which officers get into the kitchens of the poor and friendless, and never into the cellars of the rich and slick. The fact that the rich would get a lawyer, with inside information on the constitutionally guaranteed "sanctity of a man's castle"—even from the visit of preasagented guardians of humanity—has nothing at all to do with the case.

Fatcoe Arbuckle is not going to take the stand at his second trial, and the public will not hear again the heart-rending description from his own lips of his harrowing experiences as a Red Cross nurse.

GETTING RIGHT DOWN TO THE SEAT OF THINGS
(Oregon City Enterprise)

Can we not turn our pleasures to account for this cause, or deny ourselves a few luxuries, and "he who has two coats, let him give to him who has none." And he who has no coat to spare might find that he has some cast-off garment that would keep a little child warm. A SUBSCRIBER.

The evidences of spring accumulate. Prof. Haight wants to write a song, and a premature robin buckled up his beak on Dock Pickel's yard Wed.

Dave Ream came very near meeting with an accident last week. He came down early in the morning before it was daylight. A car ran up on him. —(Yreka Journal.) Always shift your gears at the hip-pockets.

Building operations with a lead pencil are progressing favorably in all lines of development.

The court ruled in the case of the State of Oregon vs. T. Merriman, that the defendant would not be required to start up his automobile on the grounds aforesaid, starting would prejudice the jury. Owing to long experience from grabbing horses by the hindlegs, the defendant has unnatural influence over the lower forms of automobiles.

Ben Sheldon is up to Portland. He sailed against the 1925 fair by taxation on goleen, and will not be given a ride over the Columbia highway.

Mistuh G. Maddox has lost a checker game. Excellent judgment was used by G. as the winner was from Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ditto, of Springfield visited the week-end with their parents here, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Harpole.

After taking a look at the drinking fountain Wed. a stranger voted to risk a shot of bootleg.

A traveling man is sueing a hotel-keeper at Walla Walla. He alleges he burned himself on a steam radiator.

BON VOYAGE!

JULIUS MEIER is to tour the world. That's nice for Julius. It is also nice for the 1925 fair.

For Julius has made rather a mess of things thus far. His enterprise has been commendable, but his disposition to bull the fair through has been quite the reverse. Judging by reports from Portland his methods of raising enthusiasm have resulted in raising a bumper crop of antagonisms.

Therefore, a four-month's junket in foreign parts will be beneficial all around. For Mr. Meier will have a good time, and be in a position to pay for it.

Being in a position to pay for anything entitles a world traveller to considerable distinction at the present time. For the rest of the world is not. Under the circumstances, the suggestion of a World's Fair in 1925 will probably not be frowned upon, but the nations abroad are thinking rather more about how they are going to eat, than about how they are going to construct buildings in Portland, to be torn down a few months later.

However, there will be pleasant talk all around, banquets here and there, and with an American dollar worth a car load of rubles, our advance agent's pocket book will swell and expand, every time it is opened.

So it is an excellent solution of what has been rather an embarrassing problem. Everyone wishes Mr. Meier a pleasant trip and a profitable one. When he returns after four months absence, there is reason to believe the 1925 exposition will be in better shape than it was on his departure.

With Ford headed for the Shoals, would it be inappropriate to call him Muscle bound?

A criminal's favorite punctuation is the period, which marks the end of a sentence.

Indiana has three hundred poets. The unemployment situation is worse than we thought.

Another ballad for pedestrians: "Ashes to ashes, etc. If the trucks don't get you the flivvers must."

A feminine writer says grief for the departed does not long endure. Huh. She doesn't know what it means to be bald.

An astronomer says the North Pole is moving. Great guns! Will that thing have to be discovered all over again?

A European statesman says the world looks to America for its motive power. Sure thing. It thinks America is a filling station.

SPRING IS COMING.

SOON the winter will be gone from the haunts of freezing men, and the grass upon the lawn will be turning green again; verdure soon will run amuck and we'll hear the quacking duck, and the earnest, thoughtful cluck of the busy setting hen. Oh, the wintry tempest blows, and it howls along the street; there is ice upon my nose and my ears are full of sleet; bleak the sky that o'er us bends, but the worst uprising ends, and we'll soon be telling friends that we're weary of the heat. Oh, the winter isn't nice, when it blusters to and fro, and my shoes are full of ice and my hat is full of snow; but I try to dance and sing and be happy as a king, for I have a hunch that spring pretty soon her goods will show. And she has the finest line that a man could wish to see, singing birds on every vine, and a homing bumble bee; sweetest fragrance in the air, and a rosebud here and there, golden sunshine everywhere, and a flower bestudded lea. Roughhouse Winter stays a while, filling us with discontent, heaping in a crazy pile snow that isn't worth a cent; but he soon is out of sight; then comes Spring, a bride in white, bringing comfort and delight to the breast of every gent.

Seek Friends in Hour of Need

"In the hour of need we quickly seek our best friends," writes Chas. Schridd Ward de Wet, 957 73rd Ave., Oakland, Cal., "our little boy and girl had a severe dry, rasping cough without phlegm, a cough that chokes and flushes the face of the sufferers like unto convulsions. Foley's Honey and Tar was a wonderful emergency remedy." Cases like this give Foley's Honey and Tar its reputation as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Adv.

MOTHER! OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Your little one will love the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" even if constipated, bilious, irritable, feverish, or full of cold. A teaspoonful never fails to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the sour bile, and undigested food out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Dentistry a Life and Death Problem

The condition of your teeth may mean a long life or an early grave.

Modern dentistry holds the highest rank in preventative medicine.

The object of a good dentist must be to prevent trouble and stop mouth disease.

Safer to Prevent Disease

It has been proven that it is better and a great deal cheaper to adopt measures for fire prevention than it is to fight fires and sustain losses on that account.

It is safer and better also to adopt measures for the prevention of mouth diseases.

Dentistry Insurance Against Disease

Disease lurks where bad teeth are found, and cleanliness should be taught in the homes and in the schools, and in all industrial institutions. Every measure should be taken against mouth infection.
