

G. GRIGSBY HELD TO GRAND JURY UNDER $500 BAIL

George Grigsby, was bound over to the grand jury yesterday afternoon on a charge of bootlegging on $500 bail. The case has been pending for some time because of the absence of Lee Nelson, principal prosecuting witness.

Nelson appeared yesterday and testified before acting Justice Farrell that he had purchased a bottle of moonshine from Grigsby on the night of January 14th, and had paid the defendant $8 for same.

Night Patrolman Cave, who inspected the room where Nelson, Grigsby and Nichols had been staging a party that night testified that he had found a bottle answering Nelson's description and that it had been empty. The bottle was produced and seemingly contained a few drops of moonshine, the odor of which was whiffed by the prosecuting attorney.

The bottle was found by Cave after he had been called to arrest participants in a brawl in which Grigsby was stabbed by a Hawaiian musician name Luis Garcia.

Attorney George Roberts represented the defense and District Attorney Rawley Moore the state. Roberts conducted a short cross examination of the first witness, Nelson, and after the second state witness, Cave, had testified, announced that the defense would waive further argument in the preliminary hearing.

Although Justice of the Peace Taylor has returned, Acting Justice Farrell heard the case because Grigsby was arraigned before him during Justice Taylor's absence.

Woman's Faith Helps Husband

"I owe my good health to my wife who had faith in a newspaper ad she saw of May's Wonderful Remedy. I was down so badly with stomach and liver trouble after 15 years of suffering and trying every known remedy that I had no faith in anything. This medicine has certainly been a 'God-send' to me." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ### SHOT AND HUNG OLYMPIA WORKER SAVED BY BOYS

OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 31.—Declaring that he had been attacked in the dark by two men and struck over the head, Albert Hicks, a laborer, about 23 years old, working at the old Robinson mill two miles south of Nisqually, was found hanging by the neck from a beam in his cabin Sunday morning and today is in a local hospital rapidly recovering from the effects. Hicks told authorities he had been hanging there all Saturday night.

Two small boys are said to have discovered the strangling man when they peered through the window of his cabin. They rushed for help and a near neighbor came to the rescue, who quickly unbuckled the harness strap about Hicks' neck. The man was gagged and his hands and feet were bound with baling wire, his toes barely touching the floor, according to the story told to Sheriff R. C. Hooge, who was called from Olympia. As the tension was relieved, Hicks collapsed, unable to speak for some time.

Upon the arrival of Sheriff Hooge and County Coroner Kenneth L. Partow, he had been revived. Hicks said, according to the sheriff, that he was alone in his cabin Saturday night when two men entered with flashlights. They kicked and cursed him, struck him over the head and hung him to the beam, making their escape without his discovering their identity.

Evidence of a new scalp wound were found on Hicks and also a bullet hole in his left forearm, which he said he received the Sunday night before from unknown sources. Local authorities are working on the case.

Now Showing at the Page Theater

Scenes from DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS' "THE THREE MUSKETEERS"

Sixteen duels, a man holding up a broken bridge while three riders cross it, the stealing of a queen's jewels, a desperate fight with a conscienceless woman for their recovery, the smashing of one of the greatest intrigues of history—these are but a few of the dramatic incidents in Douglas Fairbanks' picture, "The Three Musketeers," scheduled for a four days run at the Page beginning today.

No more vivid and picturesque tale has ever been presented on the screen than this, according to critics. From a photographic standpoint it is a work of art, and costumes and sets are marvelous.

Fairbanks' interpretation of the dashing and im pulsive D'Artagnan will present him to his admirers in a new light, and the work of the all-star cast that supports him will insure satisfaction to all photoplay goers.

The fire plug at the corner of Grape and Main streets which was damaged several days ago is being replaced with a new one. The plug was broken as a result of a car colliding with it. Charles Davis, city water commissioner ordered a new plug the day it was broken although it might have been possible to weld the old one. City officials felt, however, that in view of the fact that the plug was in the heart of the business district where dependability is essential in case of a fire, that a new plug and not a repaired one should be installed. Four workmen are now at work on the job.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Get less meat if you feel Backache or have Bladder trouble—Salts are for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eating of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, distended your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

WALKER D. HINES OPPOSED TO R. R. RATE REDUCTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Walker D. Hines, former director general of the railway administration called today as a representative of the public by the interstate commerce commission in its rate investigation testified that in his opinion railroad earnings were too low to allow general reduction of freight charges and that business activity would not be stimulated by such a step if taken.

Mr. Hines estimated that "in the public interest, it probably is necessary for the railroads to spend on betterments and facilities, at least a billion dollars a year for some time to come."

"Looking over the statistics of railroad earnings during 1921," Hines said, "we can take it for granted that general rate reductions are not called for on the ground that earnings are too high."

"Considering the effects of the possible general reduction, we must conclude first that it would further deplete the financial reserves of railroad companies, which are already weakened, unless it stimulated business sufficiently to produce traffic which would make up the loss."
