Dear Miss Page: I am in love with a married man. I love him so deeply that I feel I cannot live without him. He is a good man and I will never move an eyelash to draw him. But oh, please tell me how to overcome this love! The young man with whom I have been going declares he will commit suicide if I do not marry him. I really believe he means it. Shall I marry him to keep him from it?—Suffering Seventeen."

This day is 2-2-22. Say it with an Laped engine.

THE DAY OF BUNK HAS PASSED.

STUNG! That was the crisp comment of Credulous Casey, who journeyed to Canada to pick primroses in Paradise. Casey was a victim of highly colored fiction, known as promotion literature. As a result he gives Canada a black eye, whenever he swings a verbal uppercut, which is often.

Community publicity is essential and desirable, but to be of value today it must stick within the realm of facts. The punch in old fashioned booster bunk has vanished.

This is a truth which The Mail Tribune has emphasized frequently in recent years. It was gratifying, therefore, to have W. E. D. Dodson, recognized as the best community development man on the coast, substantiate this view at yesterday's forum.

The problem of community development has changed materially in the past ten years. The hot air artist has been absolutely discredited. The problem today is not to get more settlers by fair means or foul, but to get more settlers, by making those settlers already on the ground prosperous and contented.

Nothing succeeds like success. Secure a sound and economically healthful community, and then our Caseys will come not to pick primroses in Paradise, but to make a better living, and enjoy a better climate than would be possible where they are.

ALSO, TWO-TOOTS.

THE steady growth in Medford and Jackson county is clearly demonstrated by the steady increase in the circulation of The Mail Tribune.

The Mail Tribune today has more subscribers than it ever had before. The growth has not been sensational, nor fitful, it has been a steady increase from day to day, from month to month, which is the best growth in the world.

Under a new arrangement with the Associated Press this paper is now getting the largest special leased wire report of any daily between Eugene, Oregon, on the north, and Sacramento, California, on the south. It has as good a cut and special feature service as any newspaper on the coast, not excepting the metropolitan dailies. It covers the local field thoroughly and every week publishes a complete and detailed survey of county news. In its Smudge Pot The Mail Tribune has the best and most original column of humor and human interest, of any newspaper in the west, and among newspaper men this fact is generally recognized.

The Mail Tribune is growing, first because the community is growing, and second because it is giving service,—because it secures and holds readers, not by premiums, not by flamboyant claims, not by hot air, but by delivering the goods.

THE SPEEDING YEAR.

IT'S LABELED Nineteen-Twenty-Two, this blessed year of grace, and it will soon be out of view, so swiftly does it race, to join the sad and phantom crew in Time's dark dumping place. So let us waste no useful days, but cinch them as they pass, and saw our wood and hoe our maize, and cut all kinds of grass, or in our old age we shall raise the failure's cheepalas. Our years of usefulness are few, soon fails the strong man's vim, and lethargy attacks the thew, and feeble grows the limb; so mark the days of Twenty-two, and nail them as they skim. How mournful is the pilgrim hoar, who for lost chances weeps! How futile is the busted bore who in the poorhouse sleeps! The year that's gone comes back no more, it's looped the loop for keeps. So let us labor with our hands, and with our heads and feet, in offices or peanut stands, in fields of shredded wheat; and when old age upon us lands, we'll find life's winter sweet. The brave new year is speeding by, its cylinders all hit, it's climbing all the hills on high and throwing dust and grit; so grab the bright hours as they fly the minutes as they flit.

How the Pope Is Elected

ROME, Feb. 2.—The College of Cardinals which meets in secret conclave at the Vatican today to elect a new Pope numbers when complete 70 members but rarely is attended by more than a part of the college.

There are now living about 60 cardinals including six cardinal-bishops, six cardinal-deacons and the others cardinal-priests.

Cardinal Vincent Vannutelli is dean of the Sacred College. Italians compose about one-half of the membership of the college with Spain next in order with seven members. England and the United States have two each with one in Canada and one in South America. The American bishops are William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston and Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, Archbishop of Philadelphia.

The college is required to meet on the 10th day after the death of a pope. A two-thirds vote is necessary for an election. While there is no law against the election of a layman, it has become tradition to elect the new pope from the membership of the College of Cardinals, and it is tradition also that the pope should be chosen from the Italian cardinals. It is stated that this tradition has not been departed from in nearly 400 years.

The cardinals will meet for the opening of the conclave in the Sistine chapel where mass for the Holy Ghost will be said by the cardinal dean. They will then proceed with their officers and assistants to that part of the Vatican set apart for the election. This will form a secluded precinct where they will be guarded by the marshal of the conclave. Their seclusion will be strict. Communication with the outside world during the sessions of the college is possible only through a small window equipped with something like a revolving door used in office buildings in the United States. The use of this is restricted to the sending out of laundry and receiving of food and medicine.

Each cardinal-bishop will have three rooms and each cardinal-priest and cardinal-deacon two rooms. Telephones have been installed in the apartment of each of the cardinals so they will be able to communicate with each other but this telephone exchange is not connected with the city exchange and there can be no telephone communication with the outside world.

The cardinals will be walled in within the large hall of the Vatican which is divided so as to provide these small compartments. At prescribed hours twice a day the cardinals will come together to vote, the actual balloting taking place in the Sistine chapel. This must continue until a candidate receives more than two-thirds of the vote. The ballots are burned after each indecisive vote is taken. Large crowds gather daily in the Square of St. Peter to watch the smoke of the burning ballots issue from the chimney.

Failure to see the smoke at the usual time serves as a signal to the crowd that a new pontiff has been chosen and the throng rushes inside the basilica to await the appearance of the new head of the church to appear on a balcony and bestow his first apostolic blessing. When the new pope is chosen he is requested to elect the name by which he is to be known thereafter.

Rosa Raisa, the great dramatic soprano, will be one of the many world stars appearing in the performances of the Chicago Grand Opera company in Portland, March 22 to 25. For three years she has been classed as a world star, having jumped to popularity when she sang "The Jewels of the Madonna" in New York.

Raisa is a Russian by birth and was many years in reaching the point where she was recognized as a world star. Her climb was slow but steady and surrounded by many difficulties. She will appear in two of the Portland performances, the first Lohengrin Thursday night, March 22, and the second Saturday night in Aida.

"Too Much Speed" Scores. Wallace Reid's latest paramount picture, "Too Much Speed," has scored heavily at the Rialto theatre where it is on view today and tomorrow. It is one of the most delightful of Reid's automobile race pictures and the leading characters of the production, having been introduced in "What's Your Hurry?" are familiar to screen audiences. Agnes Ayres and Theodore Roberts are the principals in the support.

Another one, the most unique sets in the ship in which Fairbanks as D'Artagnan stages a terrific battle with Barbara La Marr as Milady, for the royal jewels which she has stolen and which are the basis for one of the most interesting complications of the plot. Both the exterior and interior of this ship are shown upon the screen, figuring in one of the most thrilling episodes of the play.

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little 'Freezone' on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly! Your druggist sells a little bottle of 'Freezone' for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the caluses, without soreness or irritation.

Cherro Hard Wheat Flour

Guaranteed At Your Grocers There's Never Been a Peach Borer in Our Nursery

In some sections the peach root borer infests a large percentage of the peach roots in the nurseries.

In some southern localities the dreaded Nematode or eel worm is a serious menace to peach roots.

In the nineteen years we've been growing trees at Toppensh, no one has ever discovered a borer or Nematode in any of our trees.

The planter is entitled to absolute protection from all such risks. He gets it when he buys our trees. We use healthy, vigorous peach pits and bud on the resultant seedling, our peaches, prunes, plums, apricots, etc. You can't find better rooted trees than we produce on our clean, new Yakima Reservation soil.

Then our own growing of apple and pear seedlings are used for our own stock. We grow the entire tree on our own fresh, clean soil from the seedling root to the finished, budded or grafted tree, one or two years old.

That's the way to insure satisfaction. Our customers' appreciation is found in an increased business every year.

We want your business, but we won't book your order if we can't please you. Your money would do us no good. There are some things worth more than money.

Ask us about the Wright Red Rome Beauty which is Rome Beauty in all particulars as to tree, bloom, bearing, ripening, keeping and shipping, but with a brilliant red coat.
