

CARL NEWBERRY
AND E. MARSHALL
NAMED BY U. OF O.

REGISTRATION CO.
SCHOOLS INCREASE
1080 LAST YEAR

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene—(Special to the Mail Tribune).—Carl Newberry and Edison Marshall of Medford compose the Medford unit of the Greater Oregon committee of the University of Oregon.

The Greater Oregon committee is a university organization of state-wide scope for the purpose of interesting high school students in the university, of disseminating information concerning the courses and activities of the institution. It was organized several years ago and many Medford students have served upon it as a result of its activities in Jackson county.

Many high school students do not know what the university school of business administration teaches, that "Bill" Hayward, Oregon's veteran track coach, was one of the trainers at the last Olympic games, or how comprehensive is the work of the university school of journalism. The committee endeavors to give facts about the university to high school students so that they may benefit both themselves and the state by some day attending an institution of higher learning.

With representatives in nearly every city in Oregon the work reaches thousands of high school students. It is but one of the movements in progress today to enlist the young people of Oregon in the cause of higher education.

Mr. Newberry and Mr. Marshall will be assisted in their work by the following university students from Medford: Frances Dubois, Thelma Gammie, Wilbur Godlove, Edward Kelly, Elsie Lawrence, May Lindley, Esther Miller, Jay Miller, Maud Miller, Marie Myers, Vera Read, Winifred Read, Audrey Roberts, Isabel Stuart, and Justin Smith.

Soviet Judge Proves To Have Three Wives

MOSCOW.—Tangled domestic affairs of a soviet judge have just been brought to light by his arrest by the cheka. After he had been taken away from his apartment where he was supposed to be living alone, three young and pretty women called there and each claimed to be his wife and wanted to know his prison address so as to send him food.

The three wives held a conference and agreed to pool their food contributions and leave the question as to which one was his wife to be determined after his release.

OVER 50 UNITE WITH CHURCH AT COALE REVIVAL

The great revival meeting at the Main Street M. E. church, South, is on in full force, more than 50 having united with the church, and others have been reclaimed, and blessed, and built up in the faith.

The house was crowded last night, to hear the evangelist on the subject of "Hell." Dr. Coale has no apology to make for the plain teaching of the Bible, and gives his hearers "thus saith the Lord."

Rev. Albert Cunningham is a sweet singer of gospel songs, and brings the gospel in song, in a very tender, touching way. The "Inner Win One club," has done some very excellent work. Every day at 10 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. this week except Saturday, Dr. Coale will bring to the people a message from God's word. The young people, organized into the "Win One club" will meet at 7 p. m., and the children will meet at 4 p. m.

The Screen

"Passing Thru" a Hit

"Passing Thru," Douglas MacLean's latest Paramount comedy, has made a big hit at the Page theatre where it has been running the past three days. It will be shown for the last time to-night. Madge Bellamy is his leading woman.

"The U. P. Trail," a super-production that opens a four days engagement tomorrow at the Page theatre, is pictured from the popular novel of the same name by Zane Grey, and tells one of the most vitally interesting stories ever written. All the romance and glamour of life as it was lived beyond the Rockies in the frontier days, with all its rugged splendor, is presented on the screen in a colorful, fast-moving panorama. An unusually large cast is headed by such well-known and popular players as Roy Stewart, Marguerite de La Motte, Kathryn Williams, Robert McKim, and Joseph J. Dowling.

"Behind Masks" Scores

BUILDING BOOM
AT LAKE OF WOODS
STARTS IN SPRING

ASHLAND, Feb. 6.—The Lake of the Woods Recreational Association, as a title, is top-heavy and too lengthy even if the same was adopted in line with the suggestion of forest authorities. The designation ought to be simplified and in keeping with the charming resort's ideal environment.

Undoubtedly the field could be kept open, to the end that a more appropriate and expressive term might be applied to this fine pleasure resort, where already nearly fifty Ashland families "pitch their tents" in the summer vacation season. Moreover, the tents are in reality cottages, some of them quite pretentious as to design, construction and modern improvements as applying to conveniences internally as well as to exterior appearance. The building boom has struck the lake region in earnest, and bids fair to continue for seasons to come. A prerequisite to fuller development hinges upon highway improvements, and these are on the way—in fact, a good beginning has already been made in this direction.

Primarily a visit to this region spells "rest," but too much rest leads to ennui; consequently exercise is the alternative through the channels of hunting, fishing and hiking. The lure of the forest, they say, also leads to wood-chopping, and reports indicate that Prof. Vining, who preaches the gospel of the great out-of-doors as a physical rejuvenant, can wield the ax ambidextrously, letting the chips fall where they may. The lake is just far enough removed from civilization to afford a typical retreat. Neither does one have to revert to caveman life to gain access to its industrial and social circle. Many of the conveniences of home in town have been transferred to rustic cottages on the lake shore, and tradition has it that even a game of bridge is available for those constituents which absolutely require stimulation in the way of shuffling the real genuine pasteboards. The lake is more than a water resort as from its shores winding trails afford devious pathways leading to notable attractions in that locality, not the least among which is the humble buckeye, flourishing abundantly in patches which neither have to be sprayed nor pruned. The scenic beauties are not all confined to the lake region, as the territory traversed in reaching the pleasure resort is also teeming with them. Forest and stream, hill and dale, mountain and canyon, are viewed in succession while journeying either hither or yon. The trip from Ashland is made by auto over a highway which is annually being improved on the installment plan. The lake in time will prove to be more than merely a local resort. Indirectly it is receiving federal aid through forestry and highway channels, all of which gives an impetus to installing improvements there on a substantial basis, adding prestige in an artificial measure to the wealth of natural beauties with which the beautiful body of water and its surroundings abound in profusion. The cottage colony on the "lakefront" have leasesholds from the government, the contracts being virtually permanent ones secured on very generous terms, and in due time park surroundings, golf courses, tennis courts, and even a dance pavilion—all harbingers of an advancing civilization—will invade precincts heretofore reserved as a portion of nature's domain.

The Oldest Man in the World

Just part of a skull, two molar teeth and a thigh bone! Pieced together they made—what? One of the most perplexing mysteries in the study of human history. Were these the remains of an ape-like man who lived 300,000 years ago?

Scientists believe that they were; they call him the "Dawn Man" and out of the record embedded in the rocks they have reconstructed the conditions of his life: How he killed his food and tore the raw flesh from the bones; how he married and fought and died! How little by little he clawed and climbed his way up to mastery over the beasts. It is a fascinating, gripping story, but it is only one of a thousand stories that stir your blood in this greatest book of modern times.
