CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AGAIN 8 YEARS HENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—By Associated Press.) All-out the Washington conference had itself gone out of existence today with several of the delegations, including the British, already on their homeward journeys.

In addition, the conference, so far as its naval decisions are concerned, provide virtually for its re-birth eight years hence when representatives of the five powers which join in the naval agreement will meet again to discuss naval armament, and it also authorized specifically a five-power commission to revise the rules of warfare.

The only directly continuing function of the conference remaining after its windup was the secretariat-general's office. This has been charged merely with the final duty of compiling and printing corrected minutes of the plenary and commissions and also will act as a clearing house through which the various governments will inform each other fully as to their existing commitments affecting China. It is expected to conclude both of these in the very near future and then close its doors.

Condensed Summary of What Arms Parley Accomplished

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—(By Associated Press.) Six completed treaties, two others agreed to in substance, fourteen resolutions and ten separate or joint declarations of national policy, comprise the formal and tangible contribution to the arms conference negotiations to history.

Agreement for withdrawal of foreign postoffices from China on January 1, 1923, provided China maintains an efficient postal service and continues the present director general.

Establishment of an international commission to investigate the judicial system with a view to abolition of extra-territorial rights.

Authorization for a consultation between foreign diplomats and Chinese officials at Peking with a view to withdrawal of foreign troops from China.

Relinquishment to China of unauthorised foreign radio stations on Chinese soil with the stipulation that all plants are to be used for official messages only except in emergency.

Agreement to exchange full information among the nations, regarding all international commitments, that affect China.

Creation of a board of reference to consider cases arising under the open door and railway provisions of the general Far Eastern treaty. Convening of a special commission of the five powers to meet in the near future and consider rules to govern the use of new agencies of warfare.

By a second resolution on the same subject, it is declared that the commission "shall not review or report upon" the submarine and poison gas rules laid down in the treaty on that subject.

Recommendation that "better protection" be given the Chinese Eastern railway. Another resolution attached, but not subscribed to by China, declares that the Chinese government must be held responsible for its obligation regarding the road.

Expression of hope that the Chinese railways may be developed toward a unified system under Chinese control.

Request on the part of the other powers that China reduce her military forces.

Supplementary agreement to the naval limitation treaty, declaring the nations "in honor bound" not to dispose of ships which are listed for scrapping before the treaty is ratified.

Supplementary agreement to the four power Pacific treaty excluding the islands of Japanese homeland from the treaty provisions.

Of the "declarations made by the various delegations and formally spread on the records of the conference, chief international interest is attached to those relating to Siberia and the "twenty-one demands." Regarding Siberia, Japan disavowed any territorial designs on Russia and pledged herself to withdraw her troops from Siberia as soon as stable conditions warrant while the United States reasserted its hope that the withdrawal would not be long delayed.

Japs Abandon No. 5 The famous "group five" of the twenty-one demands was abandoned by Japan, along with other concessions relating to economic and political conditions in Manchuria and Mongolia. China filed a protest against the remaining portions of the "demands" and the United States reiterated its intention not to recognize any of them which might abridge American rights.

The British declaration of readiness to withdraw from the leased territory of Wei-Hai-Wei was not elaborated but will be taken up in diplomatic exchanges between London and Peking.

As a supplement to the Far Eastern treaty, China declared her intention not to alienate any additional portions of her territory, and as a supplement to the tariff treaty she agreed to retain the present maritime customs system.

As to supplements to the radio resolutions, China declared she recognized no right to install foreign radio plants without her express consent, and the powers other than China declared that in future wireless disputes, the open door policy must be applied.

NEW CALENDAR PROPOSED WOULD HAVE 13 MONTHS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—A national convention of business, professional and scientific men to discuss the creation of calendar reform with a view to endorsement of a bill now pending in congress to establish a new calendar dividing the year into thirteen months of 28 days each, convened here today at the national museum auditorium under the auspices of the Liberty Calendar Association of America.

"The Liberty calendar bill" which has been introduced in the house by Representative Schell, of Minnesota, which meets the endorsement of the association would put the new time schedule into effect in 1928, to give the other nations an opportunity to follow.

The bill is advocated by the association as affording a standard time schedule for every year which would definitely fix for all time the dates of every day of the week by the uniform 28 day month division and thus dispense with the need of yearly calendars and end the inconvenience of having to refer to these to establish the coincidence of "days and dates."

In 126 days of the old day remaining would be disposed of as "new year's day" and retained as a legal holiday.

In "leap year" the additional one-day lap would be disposed of by creating a leap year day between the months of June and July as a legal holiday.

The extra month of the calendar would be called "Vern," to include the vernal equinox and begin spring.

The proposed calendar would begin the week with Monday instead of Sunday.

The Oldest Man in the World Just part of a skull, two molar teeth and a thigh bone! Pieced together they made—what? One of the most perplexing mysteries in the study of human history. Were these the remains of an ape-like man who lived 500,000 years ago? Scientists believe that they were; they call him the "Dawn Man," and out of the record embedded in the rocks they have reconstructed the conditions of his life. How he killed his food and tore the raw flesh from the bones; how he married and fought and died! How little by little he clawed and clubbed his way up to mastery over the beasts. It is a fascinating, gripping story, but it is only one of a thousand stories that stir your blood in this greatest book of modern times.
