SKI ADVENTURERS FORCED TO RETURN FROM UNION CREEK

A bun pair of Portland skis forced Walter Bowne and Otto Jeldness of the Husky Canner Motor company to abandon their mid-winter excursion to Crater Lake, the two hardy adventurers returning last night after mulling as far as Union Creek where they spent the night Wednesday.

Otto Jeldness, who made his own skis had no serious difficulty, but the Portland skis purchased by Mr. Bowne not only rapped amidships but collected a ton or so of snow every few rods, making transportation decidedly difficult.

The two men left Prospect Wednesday morning and were driven a mile toward Union Creek by Jim Grievie. Then the hike started. It took about seven hours to negotiate the 11 miles to Union Creek. Here a cabin was available and fire wood, but no blankets. The night was spent in fitful sleep and intermittent tea brewing, and when morning dawned and a wet snow again started to fall it was decided to return to a lower altitude.

Mr. Bowne today was suffering from low visibility and a high temperature, but no serious results are expected. Otto Jeldness aside from being snow blind, and showing a heavy list to starboard, was feeling pretty well and appeared for work as usual.

It has not been decided as yet whether or not another attempt will be made to secure photographs and literary atmosphere at the lake during the winter season, but Jim Grievie, who telephoned today to find out how the expedition arrived in Medford said he would be glad to accompany such an expedition in three or four months.

FLY AROUND WORLD IN SEVENTEEN DAYS

PARIS.—A trip around the world in 17 days by international mailplanes is regarded as one of the possibilities of the future by airplane experts. They say 17-day schedules with stops for deliveries at the chief cities enroute may be realized when transatlantic flying becomes a reality.

A suggestion for even reducing the time to 200 hours was made by one expert who said this would be possible if "airmen's islands" or floating fuel bases were stationed at points in the Atlantic where the mail planes could replenish their fuel. Such a scheme would make possible a speed of 100 miles an hour, he estimated.

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK AND BEAUTIFUL

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

10 TREES FOR WAR HEROES, TOTAL IS UP TO 100 MARK

The people of Jackson county are now taking a keen interest in the "Buy a Tree" campaign, which trees will be planted on the county fair grounds. Considering that no personal soliciting is being done to "buy a tree" and that all requests and checks come voluntarily, more than the ordinary interest is being shown to beautify these grounds.

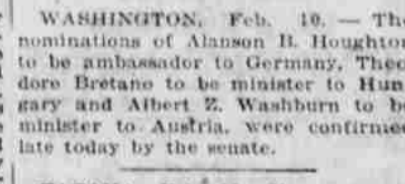

Many requests came in since the trees purchased were last reported, among them was one from Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McCaskay of Central Point who ask that one tree be planted in the memory of Capt. H. H. Chapman, 129th Infantry, U. S., who was killed September 29, 1918, when the 30th Division broke the Hindenburg line, and nine other trees in memory of nine Jackson county boys who lost their lives in the World war.

As a veteran of the Civil war, M. C. Sullivan requests five trees to be planted in the name of Chester A. Arthur Post, G. A. R. No. 47 of Medford, Oregon. The Medford Homestead, 2121, Brotherhood of American Yeomen wish to have five trees planted in the name of their fraternal organization. Carl Fichtner has three boys, Clyde C. Warren E. and Earl E. for whom he wishes one tree each.

Mrs. George H. Parsons of the Hillcrest Road wishes to have two trees planted in the names of George Howland Parsons and Mary Howne Parsons. W. P. Isaacs wants a Toggery tree and one for his son Dick Isaacs. The following requests are for one tree each: C. T. Carpenter for the Rogue River Poultry Farm, W. J. Messenger for the W. J. Messenger family, Carl J. Brommer for Mrs. C. J. Brommer and Mrs. Mollie Mitchell for Bronson Witeher.

Trees reported yesterday as having been purchased, 69. Trees in the list reported today, 31. Total to date, 100. The citizens of the county who desire to "buy a tree" should send in their checks of one dollar per tree to the office of the Medford Chamber of Commerce.

Houghton Confirmed Ambassador Germany

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—The nominations of Alanson B. Houghton to be ambassador to Germany, Theodore Britton to be minister to Hungary and Albert Z. Washburn to be minister to Austria, were confirmed late today by the senate.

TACOMA, Feb. 10.—Four persons were injured last night in a fire in a motion picture theater in Kelso. Mrs. George Hoover was severely injured when the panic-stricken crowd trampled and Haven Boomer, operator, J. Meisendahl and Byron Oyster, a fireman were burned or cut. The fire was put out before it spread from the operating room.

AMERICAN LEGION TEAM BEATS LOCAL N. GUARD QUINTET

The American Legion team, which is to play the Ashland Elks' team as a preliminary to the Medford-U. of O. game next Friday night at the Nat. played the local National Guard team last night. The National Guard team gave the American Legion five a good work out even though it was badly defeated.

The Legion boys are again in condition and promise to put up a real game with the Ashland quintet. Both the Ashland and Medford squads are composed of old high school stars, many of the Medford men having played with the famous team of 1916-17, and a contest between the two will resemble old Medford-Ashland games. The coming contest is even expected to surpass the old games in spirit and interest.

The local squad is practicing diligently and the members are determined to do their best in Friday's game. The defeat suffered by the local men in the last Ashland-Medford game, which was held at Ashland, is a thorn in their sides and Friday night's contest promises to be a contest full of spirit and rivalry well worth witnessing.

"For preserved traditions, for maintained independence, was never forgotten by the American delegates. "If I did not believe those treaties brought us not only new guarantees but greater assurances of freedom from conflict, I would not submit them to your consideration." Urges Favorable Action "Much depends on your decision," he continued. "We have joined in giving to the world the spectacle of nations gathered about the conference table amid the convictions of peace, free from all passion to face each other in the contracts of reason, to solve the menacing problems and end disputes, and clear up misunderstandings.

"If to these understandings for peace, if to these advanced expressions of the conscience of leading power, if to these concerns to guard against conflict and lift the burden of armament, if to all of these, the senate will not advise and consent then it will be futile to try again. "I alluded a moment ago to my knowledge of the viewpoint of the senate from personal experience," he declared, "since that experience I have come to know the viewpoint and inescapable responsibility of the executive. To the executives come the closer view of world relationship, and more impressive realization of the menaces, of the anxieties and of the apprehensions to be met."

Conference of Friends Along with the treaties the president submitted to the senate the complete minutes of plenary sessions and committee meetings of the conference, together with a copy of the official report made to him by the American delegation. These documents, the president said, were fitting testimonials to that open and simpler diplomacy for which the world has asked, in that sense he added, the whole conference was "quite out of the ordinary."

"Indeed," said Mr. Harding, "it was a conference of friends, proceeding in deliberation and sympathy, appraising their friendly and peaceful relations and resolved to maintain them and to give the world new assurances of peace and actual relief from the burdens of excessive and competitive armament." "The world has been hungering for a better relationship for centuries since it has attained its lesser consciousness," said Mr. Harding. "The conception of the League of Nations was a response to a manifold world hunger. Whatever its fate, whether it achieves the great thing hoped for, or comes to supercedure or failure, the American unwillingness to be a part of it has been expressed. That unwillingness has been kept in mind, and the treaties submitted today have no semblance or relationship, save as to the wish to promote peace has been the common inspiration.

No Rewards Bestowed "It is not necessary to remind you that the conference work was not directed against power or group of powers. There was no punishment to inflict, no rewards to bestow. The offerings are free will; the conscience is that of world opinion; the observance is a matter of national honor." Asserting that no provision in any of the treaties required the United States to surrender a single worthwhile tradition, the president declared it did not follow that the commitments entered into were meaningless or valueless. The actuating desire, he said had been to establish among nations an agreement of orderly neighborliness. The president concluded his address at 4:06 o'clock and the treaties which he presented were on motion of Senator Lodge, republican leader, referred to the foreign relations committee and ordered printed.

MEDFORD FIVE TO PLAY BASKETBALL ROSEBURG TONIGHT

The Medford high school basketball squad left this morning on a week's tour of the northern part of the state. The student body are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the first game which will be played with Roseburg tonight. The score will be telephoned to Crowson's as soon as the game is finished.

The defeat at the hands of the Talent five which came as a surprise last week is not considered in a serious light by the majority of the student body. It is understood that the local team was crippled by illness of members. One man was confined to his bed with the flu and several members who played the game were feeling indisposed and were ill the next day.

Saturday night the local five will clash with the Hill Military academy team of Portland and a lively contest is expected. The student body seems hopeful and enthusiastic over this game. Monday night is Eugene the home boys meet the University "Frosh" who have shown up well this season, defeating Oregon Aggie rooks and having a generally successful season. The return engagement with Eugene high school will be staged at Eugene, Tuesday night and the "H Times," official organ of the local high school student assembly, expresses the opinion that "if the boys just use the same old fight they did when Eugene was here we can be confident of victory."

Wednesday night completes the trip schedule. The Red and Black quintet

WOMAN'S ILLS MAKE UNHAPPY HOME

There is no question but what the ills of women conspire against domestic harmony. The husband cannot understand these troubles and the physician finds it hard to cure them; therefore the overworked wife and mother continues to drag around day in and day out with headaches and backache, fretful and nervous.

Such women should be guided by the experience of women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. Many of them declare that they have been restored to health, strength and consequent happiness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after doctors and all other medicines had failed to help them. It will surely pay women who suffer from such ailments to try it.

will engage the Cottage Grove five in a hooping contest. After their return the boys will play the U. of O. "Frosh" on the home floor. This contest is scheduled for next Friday night. A few members of the student body have not lost their spirit and are accompanying the team to Roseburg where they will be present to lend support to the quintet. Several were unable to make the trip and are suffering keen disappointment.

ROME, Feb. 9.—(By Associated Press.) The tiara with which Pope Pius XI. will be crowned next Sunday is a magnificent example of the goldsmith's and jeweler's art. It consists of a cylindrical headpiece, pointed at the top and surrounded with three crowns set with jewels. The tiara is held to be symbolical of the pope's sovereignty and is customarily placed on his head at the coronation by the second cardinal deacon, with the words: "Receive the tiara adorned with three crowns and know that thou art father of princes and kings, ruler of the world, vicar of our saviour, Jesus Christ."

The base of the tiara is of fine gilt covered with silver work, and the three superimposed crowns each consists of an extremely light gold band set with jewels and studded with two rows of pearls, of which there are ninety in each row making a total of 540.
