

TREE PLANTING CAMPAIGN NOW A HUGE SUCCESS

The Tree Planting campaign has been a huge success. To date the Fair association has enough money on hand to plant 295 trees, and they urge that others desiring to purchase trees send in their money without delay.

The following have purchased trees since Saturday: W. T. Miles, Medford, three trees to be planted in the name of Ruth W. Miles, Ellen H. Wagner and Jessie W. Miles. Mrs. Clifford Bond, Talent, requested that one tree be planted in the name of the Bond family. Bert M. Sullivan, Medford, purchased one for the Gusher Cafe. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hittson, Medford, purchased three trees for Carmel Hittson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hittson and in memory of Jape Stausberry. Mrs. Stella B. Gatto, Medford, bought two trees for Raleigh M. Gatto and Stella B. Gatto. Dr. J. D. Rickert, Medford, two trees for Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Rickert and Helen Irene Schoenl. Phoenix high school desired one planted in the name of their school. Mrs. Lily Blackwood, Phoenix, desired one planted for Dr. Mathew Caldwell. M. A. Maarn, Phoenix, ordered two trees for Miss I. Henry and Berthold J. Henry, Jr. and Mrs. Phoebe Fish ordered one tree, but did not request that the same be planted for anyone. The Western Commercial School association ordered one tree to be planted for their organization.

May Robson at Page Tuesday Night

Lovers of Miss Robson should not fail to see her in the new sparkling comedy, "It Pays to Smile" at the Page tomorrow, Tuesday night. This is a clean comedy and the cast is first-class. Miss Robson is a favorite with Medford people and the house should be crowded. The character which Miss Robson impersonates is that of a quaint New England spinster, and her characterization of it is one of the best she has ever done.

TO CUT OVERHEAD EXPENSE, ASHLAND FRUIT GROWERS

ASHLAND, Feb. 20.—Eliminating some of the overhead expense, and at the same time lowering the cost of supplies to its patrons, are measures which have lately been instituted by the Ashland Fruit & Produce association. A discount of five per cent, until further notice, will be allowed members on all box and spray material, quite a concession when it is taken into consideration the amount of business involved. The commission on handling charges, as applying to fruit and vegetables, has also been reduced from eight and one-third to six per cent, a retrenchment which works both ways, for while it directly favors the producer it also lessens the revenues of the association as a corporation. Bank directors are not the only element receiving compensation for attending official meetings, as hereafter the directors of the Fruit Association will receive perquisites accordingly, the sum having been fixed at three dollars per meeting. This new departure is supposed to act as an incentive in the way of expediting business. The committee of management the capital stock is still pending. The original capitalization is only $1000 on a plant with re-equipped revenues of $25,000, and a surplus is being brought in to pay in full of a reorganization for covering a portion of the surplus which has been accumulating for the past few years. The contention is made that $2000 in stock does not fairly represent the scope of the association in a financial way, and in justice to its increased number of patrons opportunities should be afforded to allow a greater percentage of them to become stockholders outright. In this connection a stockholder calls attention to Article 11 of the by-laws of the association, which reads as follows: "If at the end of any season there shall remain a surplus over and above the expenses and losses, such surplus or so much thereof as the board of directors may deem expedient, shall be distributed among the stockholders as follows:—first, not to exceed a ten per cent dividend on the capital stock of the association, and the residue, if any, proportioned among the shippers of that season, in proportion to the net amount of the receipts of the respective stockholders for such season." This critic admits that the ten per cent dividend has been paid, but that it absorbed only one twenty-fifth part of the large surplus on hand at the close of 1921, and forcibly argues that some disposition should be made of the balance, inasmuch as it all represents the fruitgrowers' earnings. Moreover, this stockholder also contends that the founders of the association intended it to be a strictly co-operative concern, regulating the percentage of profits, and stipulating for a sharing of the same among shippers, instead of carrying so much excess profits to surplus account. The present directors of the association are S. A. Peters, Sr., S. J. Evans, Joseph Sander, F. L. Nutter, and Thornton Wiley. Peters is president; Wiley, vice president; Nutter, secretary.

SIGN BOARD MAN TO ADDRESS FORUM

The assistant general manager of the Foster and Kleiser company, W. P. Thompson, will address the members of the Medford Chamber of Commerce at their forum next Wednesday.

The Foster and Kleiser company realizes that the time has come that the general public is up in arms against bulletin boards being placed on highways at points where scenery is marred by them and this company is the first one that is taking steps in advance of any possible legislation, their out of existence. The subject of the address which is to be made is not known, but the Medford residents who have had the opportunity to know the speaker, realize that his talk will be along constructive lines.

Mrs. Sangster Can Go To Japan if Silent

TOKIO, Feb. 20.—The instructions of the Japanese officials of the Japanese consulate in San Francisco that it refuse to issue the passport of Mrs. Margaret Sangster, head of the birth control league, were on the ground that propaganda along the lines it was understood she proposed was illegal in Japan and an improper subject for public discussion.

The action, however, it was stated by an official today, did not mean that Mrs. Sangster would be denied admission to Japan.

Statements that she would be permitted to land in Japan were incorrect, he declared. On the contrary, she would undoubtedly receive permission to enter the country upon the condition that she would not attempt propaganda.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

Mr. Jack Kerby, who came in from where he had been looking after the horses of Mr. Charley Bellin, on his contract for grading a logging road near Brookings, Oregon near Crescent City, California, came in and engaged a month's board at the Sunnyside December 31, left us last Wednesday, going to Spokane, Wash., to meet Mr. Walt Hurst, who will be remembered as one of our Eagle Point raised boys by many of our old settlers, who has a contract to put up a large power line for an electric power company in British Columbia and Mr. Kerby, having had five years' experience in that line of work, will assist in the work. Mr. Kerby leaves a number of warm friends in this section of the country. Henry Morgan, a man who lives alone on his homestead on the head waters of Elk Creek, was taken out to the Sacred Heart Hospital some time ago by his neighbors, came in on the Medford-Eagle Point stage and spent the night on his way home. He is greatly improved in health, but is far from being in a condition to live alone in the wilds of the Elk creek hills. Mrs. J. Monia and son of Brownboro, came in Wednesday, and Mrs. Monia went on up to Butte Falls on the regular stage and her son returned home in his car. Mr. Stuart McKeasie, the civil engineer who has been employed on the survey and location of the irrigation project to bring water from above Butte Falls through the Derby district to Eagle Point and vicinity, passed through here Wednesday on his way to Derby to try to secure a few hundred acres of land, so as to have an abundance to be sure to satisfy the bond buyers. He seemed to think that he could secure four or five hundred acres with very little trouble, but I have not heard the result of his undertaking as yet. Frank Lewis, our confessionalary and billiard and pool man, appears to be doing a lively business, as he has just installed another billiard table, making two billiard and two pool tables in the upper part of his confessionalary store. Charley Brown, salesman for C. E. Gates, Ford cars and Fordson farming implements, was here for dinner Wednesday and so was Dale Shelly. We have had a wonderful transformation in our postoffice here, last Wednesday our popular and accommodating post office clerk, Miss Nellie Coy, tendered her resignation to our postmaster, W. C. Clements, although she had given him notice some time before of her intention to resign, and she retired from the service and our townsmen, S. B. (Gov.) Holmes was employed to fill the vacancy. Mr. Himes has had considerable experience in that line, and is considered fully competent as he is a thorough accountant and no doubt will fill the place and serve the patrons of the office satisfactorily. O. Adams, formerly of Medford, but now of Butte Falls, where he has lived for several years, went up to Butte Falls on the stage and I heard today, Saturday, that he had secured a business position there. W. L. Coldreto's blacksmith shop has been closed most of the time the past week, owing to the prevalence of the flu, but I am glad to be able to say that, so far as I can learn, in most of the cases, they are improving and many of the patients are able to be out in town, although there is scarcely any one from the country comes in, owing to the sickness in the country, and fear of taking the disease while here in town. Wm. Nicoll of Lake Creek, was a passenger on the Lake Creek stage coming here on business. Mr. and Mrs. Wyant came in Thursday night from Eugene, Ore., and spent the night and the next morning was met here by his brother-in-law, Eugene Bellows, Mr. Wyant being a brother to Mrs. Bellows, and was taken to the Bellows home. Mr. Wyant expects to go to work on the J. M. Wilfley orchard, but I did not learn if he was to act as foreman or not. D. R. Patrick, who has been working for months, if not years for the P. L. C. company, came in for dinner Thursday and so did a stranger from Butte Falls. Mr. Patrick found a job here at the Sunnyside in his line carpentering, and was kept busy until noon the next day, and Mr. Sam Courtney is still busy paper hanging and painting on the interior of the hotel, up to this hour, 4 o'clock p. m., Saturday. Mrs. Nettie Grover of Medford, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Knighton and helping to care for Mrs. Knighton, who has been on the sick list for years. Sam H. Ooser, who has been working on the P. & E. railroad, came in Thursday evening with his eye bandaged up and on inquiry learned that when he was cranking his car, the crank flew back and struck him just below the eye on the nose, inflicting a painful wound. He had just received a telegram from Berkeley, Cal., announcing the serious illness of his sister and was on his way to be with her, but later in the evening, received another telegram telling of her death, notice already in the Daily Mail Tribune of the 17th. Mr. Ewen, now of Butte Falls, came in on the stage Friday evening, and spent the night. He has a number of horses at work on the P. & E. railroad in Butte Falls.
