Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry.

In the discussions of the soldier's bonus bill, one hears much about the "exempted man." He is an unsung hero, who escaped the horrors of war and 2nd loots, only to be forced to stay home, and have a wage of nine times their actual value inflicted upon them.

Snow... The rattle-brained weather-man has fooled the bluejays again.

YO-HO! BRING FORTH THE ROYAL TAPE MEASURE

(AP. Dispatch)

The ladies are going to send a personal appeal to the royal bride. All American ladies whose seating requirements are over the sixteen-inch limit will view the result with heartfelt, perhaps even with prayerful, sympathy.

Purification of politics by an injection of religious prejudices continues throughout the land.

Baby boys asleep in their cribs, and awakened by the hellish toots of Espee engines, will grow up to be hind-end brakemen.

THEY MIX WELL

(Roseburg News Review)

The husbands and sweethearts of the Merry Workers club of Looking Glass were given a most enjoyable time by that society Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Geo. Bacon, its president.

COME EARLY, BE PREPARED TO BE ASTOUNDED AT THE PRICES OFFERED, AS WE HAVE CUT AND SLASHED EVERY ARTICLE ON THE SHELVES

(Ad Copy. Bay Times). Frank, candid, and ruthlessly destructive.

Things have come to a pretty pass, when a struggling young bootlegger can't operate in spitting distance of the police station without being molested.

WHAT HAPPENED?

(Corvallis Gazette-Times)

The Hawley brothers have not gone to raising stunks, but they killed ten on their place the other day.

INDIGESTION, GAS OR BAD STOMACH TAKE "DIAPEPSIN"

Otto Reichman, manager of the Mount Shasta Milling Co., was over Scott Valley last week, consequently has advanced 20 cents a barrel. (Yreka Journal). Cause and effect are plain.

The Curlew law! The curlew law. It saves our son and daughter; And neither one will mind their pa, or mingle with dish water.

THE THIRD PARTY FALLACY.

THE OREGONIAN says there is no chance for a Third Party. The Eugene Guard says there is.

There is nothing unusual in this. The Oregonian and Guard agree about as frequently as Ulster and South Ireland.

But the unusual feature of this dispute is that both papers are wrong. It is fair to assume the Oregonian opposes a third party because it figures such a party would aid the Democratic party, and the Guard favors such a party for the same reason.

But would it? Mark Sullivan, who is rather a shrewd political observer, doesn't think so, and we believe Mark is right.

In the next federal election the Democratic party will be the party of protest and discontent. If there is a clear cut fight between the Republicans and Democrats, the latter will receive the solid vote of the so-called left wing. With so many complex problems awaiting solution this vote will certainly be a formidable one.

A third party, however, would inevitably split this vote. The radicals and 100 per cent Discontenters would rally around the new standard, rather than the democratic opposition. In fact, there have even been rumors in Washington, that certain Republican supporters are not inactive in organizing a Third Party movement.

It was different in 1912. Roosevelt took 90 per cent of his support from the Republican party and only ten per cent from the Democratic. A Third party leader today would reverse the process.

Quill Points

Man: A small particle of intelligence entirely surrounded by habits.

Most of the time-killing is done by seconds. First-class men don't loaf.

Age thinks it has acquired will power when it has merely lost its appetite.

It frequently happens that when a man takes unto himself a mate he gets a checkmate.

Few people can stand prosperity, and when a man gets a flivver, he usually shakes his old friends.

A cartoonist shows a radical sowing discontent and labels it "The Sower." Why not "The Sore?"

When a man loses anything else, he advertises for it. But when he loses his head, he stops advertising.

In the old days, a man was crowned by divine right; now it is more frequently done with a dangerous left.

"What does a blush show?" asks a beauty specialist. We can't answer off-hand, but it seldom shows through.

The Senate still concedes; however, that the people can select a President without its advice and consent.

The nations should trust in God, of course; but they won't get far on the way to peace until they begin to trust one another.

DOING GOOD.

JOYRIDE, JOYRIDE every day, and superficial thinkers say I'm wasting time and cash; but oh, the lasting good I do!

If they would hold that fact in view they'd see their talk is trash. A thousand men have better fare because I choose-choose everywhere, they bless me as I pass; and worthy men like Henry Ford accumulate a humble board because I burn the gas. John D. is able to uphold Research Foundations, amply filled with scientists severe, who find the germ that causes mumps, and make the blamed thing bump the bumps, wink out and disappear. And skilled mechanics in their homes spend happy evenings reading poems and playing dominoes, because my wagon knows no rest, but journeys north and east and west, where'er the long road goes. And towns like Akron shed the blues, and figure daily in the news upon the throbbing wires, because I soak my Sunday hat and fountain pen and Maltese cat, to buy some rubber tires. I burn up all the country roads, and people look from their abodes and say I am a crank; I'm always wasting gas and oil, when I should tackle honest toil, and boost the savings bank. But oh, my friends, the good I do! The world should bless me as I chug and chug along my way; a hundred industries succeed because you see my auto speed the merry living day!

publican, New York, suggested a "selective bonus" for sick and the needy.

"There are many ex-soldiers," Mr. George said, "who do not need the bonus and don't want it, and in the present condition of our finance we should not force it upon them. Some method should be provided to divert that portion of the bonus to hospitalization and rehabilitation for the sick and wounded, thereby decreasing appropriations for that purpose."

SOLDIERS' BONUS SIMMERS ALONG SALES TAX IDEA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—The soldiers bonus question was allowed to simmer today, the special committee dealing with the question of ways of raising funds deferring further sessions until tomorrow. There was no indication when a decision would be reached but some committee members said the bill would probably not be reported out of the committee this week or next.

It was said there was a growing sentiment among house members to postpone action until after the debt refunding negotiations between the United States and the principal allied nations are put under way.

At this time sentiment in the special committee seems to be for reporting out a bill levying a manufacturers' and wholesalers' tax similar to that in force in Canada but with lower rates.

In an open letter today to Chairman Fordney, Representative Andrade, re-

The Stage

The Bat Seat Sale

The sale of seats for the coming presentation of "The Bat" at the Page theatre next Monday night opens tomorrow at 12 o'clock. Manager Hunt of the Page theatre declared yesterday that there is greater interest being manifested in the forthcoming visit of "The Bat" than he has ever seen before in advance of a theatrical event. This is the play that broke all theatrical records for the amount of business transacted during the first year of its run in New York—it is still being presented there—as well as establishing new marks, both for the amount of business done and for the length of its run in Chicago where it played one solid year.

"The Bat" comes here, staged exactly as it was presented in New York and Chicago and played by an exceptionally fine company.
