

MEDFORD-ASHLAND BASKETBALL TEAMS MEET ON FRIDAY

The first two games of the four game basketball series between the Medford and Ashland high schools will take place Friday and Saturday nights this week. The first game will be played at Ashland and the second at the Nat in this city. Some controversy has arisen recently between the two schools regarding the Ashland high school gym floor and Coach Hol's Huntington and Principal Campbell of the local school made a trip to Ashland yesterday where they conferred with the Ashland coach and other school officials.

The Armory floor at Ashland has been sprinkled with resin to give the players a secure footing, but it is said that the resin rises in a dust and irritates the throats of the players. Medford wishes to play on the Armory floor and Ashland seems willing to play there excepting for the irritating dust. The question has been left in the hands of State Athletic Association Secretary Michler of Grants Pass who is in Ashland today inspecting the two floors and it is expected, that the question of which floor will be used, for the contests in Ashland, will be decided within the next day or two. The last two games of the series will be played next week end in the same order: at Ashland on Friday night and in this city on Saturday night.

TAKE MOVIES OF 'CENTURY' FORUM

All previous records of attendance at the forums of the Medford chamber of commerce will be broken tomorrow as the indications are that there will be a full house at the Medford hotel, the main dining room of which is being arranged to seat 250.

The speaker, representing the Portland chamber of commerce, will present a plan of friendly cooperation between Oregon's largest municipality and Medford.

Physical phenomena of recent outbreaks in South America as recorded by seismologists will be duplicated by the Craters as their real volcanic eruption is scheduled to take place during the dinner hour.

Miss Louise Lovely, a motion picture star, will have a part in the program and her cameramen will take a few feet of film of those participating at the forum.

An advance sale of dinner tickets at 60c each is now in progress and these may be secured at the office of the Medford chamber of commerce. Dinner tickets will also be sold at the Medford hotel on Wednesday morning but the number will be limited to the capacity of the dining room.

LARGE AUDIENCE THRILLED BY BAT

"The Bat," lived up to advance notices as a thrilling mystery play and delighted and bewildered a large audience at the Page last night to the moment the final curtain fell. There was a good company and effective stage settings.

The play is not only mysterious but uncannily weird, full of ghostly happenings, rapid action and changes, piling mystery on mystery and thrill on thrill, interspersed with some delicious humor, which kept the audience at high nervous attention and in trembling anticipation until the final explanation, which few had guessed.

Any playgoer who did not get a good kick out of "The Bat" last night, and then, still laboring under its spell, went home and examined every closet closely for spooks, and saw that all windows and doors were securely locked, must be blasé beyond recall.

All arrangements for the big sportsmen's banquet at the Hotel Medford tomorrow night have been completed and a fine program with many surprises is promised.

LOUISE LOVELY SIMPLY LOVES THE SUNSHINE

"Do you always have such sunshine? I adore it. It's such a relief after fog and flu in California," said Miss Louise Lovely, the movie actress (herself) who appears in Medford today and tomorrow, "registered" a real smile for the representative of the Mail Tribune, at the Hotel Medford this noon.

"Yes," continued the actress, toying with a string of pearls around her neck "sunshine like this is what we live on. It not only makes pictures, it makes us. It's a regular thing in February you should talk more about it. It's health and life."

"No, I have nothing to say about the Taylor murder. I didn't know Mr. Taylor or Miss Minter, and only met Mabel Normand once. The movies are like any other profession or business. There are good people and bad people in them, those who take their profession seriously and those who don't. But unfortunately the wild ones get the publicity. It's too bad. The majority of people in Hollywood are home loving, hard working men and women, and these scandals do them and the place a great injustice, for they do not represent the truth."

"I have heard of your wonderful Crater Lake and would like to go there one of these days and take some pictures. I travel with my own camera man and can take a reel anywhere I wish. I hope to make several here in your delightful city. But if you really want to know how it is done come and see me at the Page. We are rather proud of our little show and think you will like it." Miss Lovely smiled again—she has a very wholesome, hearty one—gave the M. T. scribe a vigorous handshake and left for lunch.

Man Must Be Brave To Face Marriage

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 28.—The Rev. Edgar Merrill Brown, pastor of the Dietz Memorial Methodist church, who is being sued for divorce by his wife, told the congregation in his sermon Sunday that "it takes a man of nerve and a woman who is brave to face the marriage ceremony today."

"Each time I unite a couple in the holy bonds of matrimony," he said, "I say to myself: 'Sir you are a sportsman, tried and true.'"

BRITISH GATHER AT WEDDING

The dean of Westminster received them and to the strains of Sir Hubert Parry's bridal march, faintly heard from the interior of the abbey they were conducted by gentlemen ushers down the aisle and around the unknown warrior's grave, between rows of guests standing in phalanxes on either side to their places in the sacrum.

Royal Nabobs There

Officials of the royal house headed the procession, followed by the Marquis and Marchioness of Cambridge, Lord Leopold of Mount Batton with them Marquis and Marchioness Carisbrooke, the Princess Royal Marie Louise, Princess Helen Victoria, Lady Patricia Ramsay, the Earl and Countess of Athlone, the Duchess of Albany, Princess Beatrice, Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, Princess Christina and the Princess Royal Victoria, the lord steward and lord chamberlain; then came Prince Henry, Queen Mother Alexandra, King George, Queen Mary and the Duke of York, followed by eleven household officials, the attendants bringing up the rear.

The Viscount Arrives

Viscount Lascelles accompanied by his groomsmen and Major Sir Victor Audley MacKenzie, D.S.O., arrived at the poet's corner door of the abbey and was conducted to the seat reserved for him at the south side of the steps leading to the sacrum by one of their majesty's gentlemen ushers. He, with the rest of the assemblage, stood until the royal party reached the places assigned them.

The Bride Arrives

Meanwhile a storm of cheering outside proclaimed the arrival of the bride and king. Mary stepped from her coach—truly a princess in her fairy-like gown, combining the sheen of silver, the filmy down of tulle, the sparkle of beads, the dull lustre of pearls and the exquisite colorings of satin and old lace, against which contrasted the wonderful furl and a half yard train with its silk embroidery and crystal work.

The veil, thrown back from her face over a triple diadem of twisted silver and orange blossoms, revealed the demure features of the princess. On her drive from the palace the bridal gown had been cloaked in a rich ermine wrap.

The dean received the party. "Lead Us, Heavenly Father," was played as the bridal procession moved up the nave, headed by household officials, the state chamberlain, the dean, canons and choir, the latter comprising 44 boys and 22 men. Then came the bride on the king's arm followed by the bridesmaids, the ladies in waiting and king's suite.

It was about 11:30 o'clock when the solemn service, performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Archbishop of York and the Dean and proctor of the abbey began.

67th Psalm Chanted

The 67th psalm was chanted and the anthem, "Beloved, Let Us Love One Another," was sung during the service. During the ceremony the bride carried an exquisitely bound pink service book a gift from the queen. The royal bridesmaids were Princess Maude, Lady Rachel Cavendish, Lady Mary Thynne, Lady Victoria Mary Cambridge, Lady Doria Gordon-Lennox, Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, Lady Diana Bridgeman and Lady May Cambridge.

Archbishop Gives Address

The ceremony ended, the archbishop of Canterbury addressed the couple, saying in part:

"It seems probable that no daughter of a reigning king was ever until today married in the abbey. Certainly no marriage ever occurred here under conditions quite like yours. The war time partly created them. When the fibre of British manhood was being tested day by day in the shell-wound trenches and on bare hillside, you, my brother, did much more than stand the test."

"Such testing, such equipment can make good its outcome in the after-years. No call of that kind, no necessity on that scale, please God, will come again in your life time. To those who are worthy of it, peace too brings its privileges in central places. Our central homes can bestow on English life an inestimable boon. The fierce light which beats upon such a home reveals there what is honorable and pure, the gain is far reaching. It spreads. There lies the opportunity for both; you are going to use it."

"To you my child, the war days of your girlhood brought occasion for glad service. Experience, however simple, in a hospital ward, can give an abiding stimulus to one who cares. In that effort, as also in the leadership of disciplined English girlhood, you have gained thought and knowledge which you will now contribute to securing the strength, orderliness and sunshine of a great English home."

Happiness in Home

"Together you will set yourselves to this. Happiness in home life even when it is blessed like yours with high traditions, is not a matter of course. It has its root in mutual love which is tender and thoughtful in resource, unselfish in devotion, but brave and unreserved in its honesty of mutual counsel—so you may together go from strength to strength."

"The power so to do must come from on high. We are here this morning as Christians; our fealty and your fealty are pledged to the Lord. The center, inspiration, the master in the home is Jesus Christ, our Lord. It is in his name that, with gladness of heart and buoyancy of hope we today, on behalf of the whole empire and people, bid you God-speed."

The bride and bridegroom then passed toward the confessor chapel, where two registers were signed, one known as the royal register, in which the entry of the ceremony occupied six pages and the other the abbey register which is signed alike by royalty and subjects. Mary used a gold quill pen, one of her wedding gifts. The signing completed, the bridal march from "Romeo and Juliet" and Mendelssohn's wedding march were played. The bride and bridegroom stepped down the abbey to the west door, preceded by the choir and clergy and followed by the bridesmaids. The clergy moved off to the Jerusalem chamber and the crowd, awakened by the appearance of the bridal couple in the doorway cheered.

Crowds Go Wild

King and queen and other members of the royal family moved toward the door and the viscountess and her husband began their triumphal return through tumultuous street throngs, using this time the carriage in which Queen Mary went to the abbey. The route was chosen to give other crowds a view of the couple.

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."

EVA ALDRICH, 218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first used our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is prepared carefully from the best quality of medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

Marlborough gate and went past it, through St. James Palace into St. James street then passing through Piccadilly and Hyde Park to the corner of Constitution hill, and thus to Buckingham palace.

The king and queen in the state coach and other royal personages quickly followed, and the wedding breakfast was served there to a company of about 170 persons, including the royal family and relatives and closest friends. A feature of this was the cutting of a gigantic 500 pound wedding cake made in five tiers, standing nearly seven feet in height, the ingredients of which were sent especially from the various parts of the British empire.

Honeymoon at Park

LONDON, Feb. 28.—It is understood that Viscount Lascelles and Princess Mary will pass the first part of their honeymoon at Weston Park, the Shropshire home of the Earl and Countess of Bradford, who are distantly related to Lord Lascelles.

Weston Park is a charming residence, set amid beautiful surroundings and is in a portion of the country as yet quite unknown to the princess who is expected to pass about three weeks there. It is one of the most comfortable residences along the whole of the Welsh border. Princess Mary's uncle, the Marquis of Cambridge, has his home at Shotton, a few miles away.

There is some talk of a state ball being held at Buckingham Palace in the early summer in honor of their marriage. These functions went out of fashion, but they formed a great feature of the court season in the days of Queen Victoria, when Alexandra, then princess, now dowager queen, usually acted as the queen's representative.

In those days, these entertainments were most deadly dull and King Edward used to be quite frank in expressing his gratification when they came to an end. The ball that is now suggested would, however, be on quite different lines and the formal state quadrilles with which these balls used to be opened would be eliminated.
