

WETS AND DRIES WAGE FIGHT FOR CONTROL POLAND

WARSAW, March 2.—The "wets" and "drys" are having a hot conflict over proposals to restrict the use of intoxicants in Poland. The movement for more rigid control over the use of liquor is becoming more active. Newspapers are full of discussions of the question and there are numerous lectures on alcoholism while moving pictures are shown to promote the reform movement.

The example of America is continuously cited with heated arguments as to whether prohibition is effective in that country. The "drys" advocate a regulation cutting down the number of places where liquor is sold by restricting them to one for every 2,500 of population. Another proposal would abolish all places where liquor alone is sold but grant permits to cafes and restaurants.

A steady dry movement has been going on for some time in the national parliament and the debates there have lately been made more heated by enforcement of an ordinance establishing a dry Sunday in Warsaw. It forbids the sale of liquors from Saturday noon to Monday noon and is being enforced by the Warsaw police with an iron hand, despite the protests of cafe and restaurant proprietors.

One of the active figures in the campaign is General Joseph Haller, president of the Polish Red Cross and Polish Boy Scouts, who organized and commanded the famous Haller army in which thousands of American volunteers of Polish blood fought in 1917 and 1918.

General Haller is now leading a fight against raising the percentage of alcohol in beer. This is now fixed at two and one-half per cent. The brewers have consented to this restriction. Poland has just put a tax of 20 per cent on all retail liquor stocks. Polish law makes a liquor dealer assume the responsibility for drunkenness by providing that when an intoxicated person is arrested, the proprietor of the place in which he purchases his intoxicants must go along with him to jail.

U. S. Debt Increased $90,000,000 in Feb. By Treasury Notes

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—An increase of more than $90,000,000 in the public debt during February was announced today by the treasury.

On February 24 the total debt stood at $23,475,667,759, as compared with $23,385,544,256 on January 31. The increase in the debt was largely accounted for by the sale of treasury notes during the month, while government securities retired during February approximated $1,100,000,000. However, officials believed that the continued quarterly reduction in the public debt would go on during March, when installment of income and profits taxes are due. Ordinary expenses of the government aggregated $182,000,000 as compared with $251,000,000 during the same month last year, while ordinary receipts for the month approximated $178,000,000 as against $243,000,000 in February, 1921.

WHEAT OF 10,000 YEARS AGO WILL BE EXHIBITED

CHICAGO, March 2.—Wheats which are known to have been used by primitive man 10,000 to 15,000 years ago and which are still cultivated in certain parts of the world, form part of the new exhibit of cultivated wheats which has recently been added to the economic collections of Field Museum of Natural History here.

Modern cultivated wheats from various parts of the world complete the exhibit. Most of the wheats have been acquired through the co-operation of the office of Cereal Investigation of the Department of Agriculture. This department is constantly engaged in growing new and old varieties of wheat in order to determine their suitability under various conditions in the United States.

Wheat was first introduced into this country in 1520 by the Spaniards and later into New England and Virginia by the early settlers, according to Director D. C. Davis, of the museum.

"In Europe and Asia it has been grown since prehistoric times," Mr. Davis states. The beginning of its cultivation belongs to an early period in the history of the human race. "Mankind has probably always used the seeds of the wild grasses for food. Some of these furnish very fair-sized grains and from such our cultivated cereals are unquestionably derived, though botanists cannot now always trace them to their wild prototypes. An example of such is the wild Emmer of Palestine, a large grained wild grass which has been claimed by some to be the ancestor of our cultivated wheats of today.

"Certain primitive wheats are still grown in places in southern Europe. Such are the Emmer, Emmer and Spelt, each of which probably represents a group of wheats of separate origin. The Emmer still grows wild in Siberia and elsewhere in the south of Europe. Spelt is the oldest of the cultivated wheats. It was probably the wheat of ancient Greece, Rome and Egypt.

SHIPPING BOARD CANCELS 'JAP' SHIP CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—The shipping board has issued an order requiring complete cancellation by July next of all contracts between Japanese steamship lines and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and Great Northern railroads concerning preferential rates.

Unless the preferential contracts be cancelled by that date the order holds, "the board will take such steps as it deems necessary to enforce its views." Abolishment of the board's action followed a conference between all the commissioners of the shipping board, President Bryan of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, Vice President Kenney and Gimman of the Great Northern railroad and Vice President Blain of the Seattle chamber of commerce.

"At the conclusion of the conference the board issued the following order: 'The board requires complete cancellation of all contracts. Failure to realize these cancellations by July 1 next, the board will take such steps as it deems necessary to enforce its views.' None of the members of the board would elaborate on this statement and other officials of the board declined to say whether the action was the result of a refusal of the representatives of the two concerned railroads to accede to the board's wishes. An informal meeting was held February 2 by the board with the representatives of the two railroads and the Seattle chamber of commerce to discuss, according to announcement of the board at the time, 'the contract existing between the two railroads mentioned and the Japanese steamship lines by which preferential arrangements exist between the railroads and the steamship lines.' At that time the board re-affirmed its position that all preferential contracts between railroads and foreign steamship companies must be abrogated in the national interest.

WOMEN ESCAPE FROM PEN, ARE CAUGHT, OREGON

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—Two women who escaped from the Walla Walla penitentiary Sunday night were caught at LaGrande, Ore. at noon Monday. The women were Dorothy Duke, 22, a waitress, serving a second term following the alleged breaking of her parole and Thelma Penner, 24, serving a term for grand larceny. Both were sentenced from Spokane county.

The women made their escape between nine and ten o'clock last night and were not missed until morning when they failed to emerge from their rooms. Investigation showed that they had sawed a bar in one of the windows of the sun parlor and escaped over the wall.

After arriving in the business section of the city they hired a taxicab and were driven to Pendleton. They had no money but the driver let them go and they boarded the early morning train eastbound and were taken off the train at LaGrande.

Scott Rainier Apple

We are constantly on the lookout for new meritorious fruits, always of course with an eye to finding merits not already possessed by varieties already being propagated, for there are too many varieties now. We heard of Scott's RAINIER many times and investigated it fully before contracting with Mr. W. W. Scott of Naches for the exclusive propagating rights which we now hold. In our sincere judgment this is the finest dessert apple thus far developed. It has all the mild qualities of the Delicious which commend it to the taste of those who cannot eat the more acid apples. But in addition it has a more splay flavor and will keep firm in ordinary storage for weeks without becoming watery, and in cold storage the RAINIER keeps perfectly for a year. Here's what leading authorities say: "The keeping qualities of the RAINIER APPLE are unsurpassed by those of any other variety of the Pacific Northwest that has yet come to the attention of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Its ability to retain its firmness, brightness and quality with almost no decay or skin blemish, places it above even the Arkansas Black, Wineap, and Yellow Newtown. In 22 degrees Fahr. cold storage it keeps in prime condition into May or later, and instances are known where large numbers of boxes have been held in excellent condition into September of the following year."—Bulletin No. 587 of the United States Department of Agriculture. "The fruit is oblong and slightly inclined to conical. Flesh yellowish with practically no grain. Probably better described as 'buttery.' Quality much resembling the Delicious but a much better storage apple. Fruit picked during October, 1912, was placed on the table at the banquet of the International Refrigerator Congress, Chicago, in September, 1913, in perfect condition. Scale is unknown; decay practically so. Eating quality seems to improve rather than deteriorate. The tree is a vigorous grower and is inclined to be spreading, therefore capable of bearing heavy crop."—Lowther's "Encyclopedia of Practical Horticulture," Vol. 1, p. 231.

We offer first-class RAINIER trees for spring planting. Also other standard apples, peaches, pears, plums, prunes, apricots, etc., small fruits, shade trees, shrubbery and roses.

Which is Larger the Sun or a Cent

ONE CENT

"Why—the sun of course" you will say. But remember—you can hold the cent so close to your eye that you lose sight of the sun. Some baking powders can be bought for a few pennies less than Calumet—but don't hold these cents too close to your eyes—you will not be able to see the quality—the purity—the dependability of

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

In other words, don't be deceived by a few pennies—the cheapest baking powder in price is often the most expensive. When you buy Calumet you know that it will produce pure, sweet, and wholesome bakings. You know that you use less because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength. Buy it—try it—be convinced. A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a when you want it.
