THE REAL OPPONENTS OF PEACE.

THERE will be considerable talk about Guam the next few weeks. Guam is an island owned by the United States about three thousand miles west of Hawaii.

The United States has agreed not to fortify this island, and the Pacific treaty opponents will sound many wild "alarms" over this fact, which they will claim renders successful war against Japan impossible.

This contention is probably correct. Guam as a base is probably essential to an offensive war against Japan. But what the treaty opponents fail to see, or refuse to see, is that the treaties produced at the Washington conference are not treaties of war, but treaties of peace.

The United States agrees not to fortify Guam, the Aleutian Islands, the Philippines and Samoa, and Japan on her part, agrees not to fortify Formosa, the Bonin, Pescadores and Kurile islands, and both agree to reduce naval armaments to a 5-5-3 ratio and declare a naval holiday for 10 years.

All these elements are bound together in one program for advancing peace and reducing the chances of war. If one link in the chain is broken, then the entire proposition collapses. If the United States insists on fortifying her islands, then of course, Japan will insist on equal fortification, and the merry race of armaments will be on again.

The United States has undoubtedly conceded more for the cause of peace in the Pacific than any other nation. But as the most powerful nation in the world, and as the only nation capable of world leadership at the present time, this self-sacrifice, is not only greatly to her credit, but supplies the best hope that a new era in international relations, can actually be achieved.

Selfishness, distrust and suspicion are the chief causes of war. The United States is the first world power in history, with the vision and the courage, to initiate a program, based upon unselfishness, good faith, and confidence in others.

The treaty opponents will have a great deal to say about their devotion to the United States. But in opposing the treaty they will really be fighting not for the United States, but for those principles which for two thousand years, have been responsible for war.

Railroads Let Out Work By Contract

BALTIMORE, Mar. 8.—The Western Maryland railway yesterday announced to its 3000 maintenance of way employees that at midnight the Dickson Construction and Repair company of Youngstown, Ohio, would assume control of maintenance of way work on the entire system.

The Youngstown firm, which will undertake the work on a contract basis plans to retain the company's present force of laborers, it is said, with wages reduced from 39 1/2 to 25c per hour.

THE UNIVERSAL DRINK.

WATER is the noblest fluid for the thirsty human crew; it was drunk by ancient Druid, and in modern Arkansas; why lament for beakers beery when we've lakes as large as Erie why make all the people weary with your kicks against the law? There are cool, refreshing rivers, drifting slowly to the sea; they are good for torpid livers, they are good for housemaid's knee; come with me, oh, thirsty critters, where the lovesick bullfrog twitters; water's better far than bitters, it is nature's choicest tea. There's a hydrant in the alley, there's a keg that catches rain, there's a streamlet in the valley, there's a cistern in the lane; everywhere there's water handy, nature's liquor, fine and dandy, and the man who yips for brandy surely isn't safe and sane. Oh, some booze might make him mellow when he goes to hit the hay, but the taste is green and yellow when arrives the break of day; there is sickness in his tummy, and his breath is rank and rummy, and the antlered snakes are chummy as he toils along his way. He is shamed and sick and sorry, when he meets with other men, and they seem to say "B'gorry, you've been pickled, once again;" ah, he might his soul deliver from the shame that makes it quiver, if he'd drink the wholesome river that is flowing through the glen!

CODDING THROWS HAT IN RING AT LEGION MEETING

Formal announcement was made last evening at the American Legion meeting of the candidacy of George Coddling, local post member, for state commander of the legion. Mr. Coddling, who is a past commander of the local post and is at present a member of the state executive committee, has been very active in legion affairs and is expected to make a strong race for the highest honors in the state legion organization. Members of Mr. Coddling's home post will support him to the limit as it is felt that his election would not alone be a good thing for the legion, but also would reflect glory upon Medford.

CHICAGO BROKER IS NABBED AT DENVER FOR $16,000 THEFT

DENVER, March 8.—Willis B. Troy, Jr., Chicago broker, and his wife Peggy, were arrested in a drawing room of a passenger train when it pulled into the Denver union station here early this morning. Troy is wanted in Chicago for the alleged embezzlement of $16,000 from G. F. Redmond and company, brokers, according to the police. At police headquarters it was said that $13,000 in currency was found in Troy's suitcase and $2,212 on his person. Troy, who was assistant manager of the Chicago office of the brokerage firm, failed to appear at the office Tuesday. The company notified banks not to honor Troy's signature on the company's checks, but were notified that Troy already had cashed a draft for $16,000, according to the police. The company then swore out a warrant for Troy's arrest. Troy stoutly maintained his innocence, the police said, and declared he would return to Chicago to face the charges without extradition.

SCREEN

At the Rialto. Tom Moore is here at the Rialto theatre in a brand new one, America's most typical screen hero, proven once and for all that "Honesty is the Best Policy," in his newest picture, "Beating the Game." And his wit, dash and winning smile are more evident than ever.

He is a magnetic personality, and at the same time, an artist, deft in his characterizations. His long arduous period of practical training has enabled him to get his effects on the screen clearly and simply. He combines matliness with skill. This is proven by the versatility of his portrayals of the policeman in "Officer 666"—the street cleaner to big politician in "Hold Your Horses," and now in "Beating the Game" he first appears as "Fancy Charlie," the expert safe crackerman, and one year later as "Honest Tom Smith," newly elected mayor of a small hick town.
