Ye Smudge Pot By Arthur Perry.

Prohibition enforcement officers have captured a still in the Cascades 80 miles from the nearest house, and it was a washbottle affair, flooding the land with liquor, at the rate of a gallon a day. The same amount of energy expended in trying to catch geese who are hauling booty from Canada and Mexico by the truck load, might have resulted in something worth while, which would be awful.

A coat of snow fell in the foothills Thursday pm, and a vest of rain descended on the floor of the valley.

AH, THERE! SAM PLYMALE! (Siakiyou News) Ben Richardson came in from Junction City, Oregon, Thursday and is visiting old friends.

A convention of Umatilla wheat farmers assembled Wednesday at Pendleton and argued that 75-cent wheat would be up to war time prices, if the appropriations for higher education in Oregon were reduced. If there is anything a farmer, as a whole, hates worse than Wall St. it is a college.

Isiah Moore, who has 12 wives that the police know of, announces when he gets out of jail, if he ever does, he will become an evangelist. He will be quite an adjunct to the acrobatic, clasp-trap division of spreading the gospel, and as all his matrimonial ventures netted him a profit, he ought to be able to throw a mean collection plate.

One of the leading financiers of this vicinity, is feeling poorly, every place but in the pocketbook.

HOUSEWORK (Etna Mills News) Mrs. Dan Evans has been quite sick with the flu, but is some better. Dan is in the toils now.

ANNOUNCEMENT Having raked together enough money for the damnable and iniquitous filing fee required of all candidates by our taxridden state, I have decided to stand for office at the primary. This is my 17th entrance into a race for an office for which I have not a single qualification, but "truth crushed to earth will rise again." If I am defeated, it will be through skulduggery on the part of a mythical gang who conspired against me, because they know I will free the masses from their bondage. If elected I will see to it that the home is protected, and will work to save the boys and girls, holding the police responsible for what the parents do not do.

Economical control of the air, except for oratorical purposes, and cussing something that don't amount to anything.

Employment of transient labor in hoeing the gardens, so the natives may keep up with their piscatorial pursuits. I will also raise municipal hell, and put a 2 by 4 under it.

To those who want a drink, I say your personal liberty is trampled, and to the churches, I advocate hanging for all who look like they wanted one.

Abolishment of all taxes, a la Russia. Prison terms for grocery props, who tyrant-like want pay for their goods.

I favor cutting out the street lamps on moonlight nights. This sort of reckless extravagance has been going on too long, and is a duplication of light service.

I will use horses instead of autos in the fire department. Hay costs less than gasoline.

Vote for me and Utopia on wheels. I also favor pressing the pants of my supporters free, from a fund collected from John D. Rockefeller.

Be not deceived by promises. Your auto tires will last for 20 years if I am elected.

Vote and pray for me. Your obedient servant, John Forever Running.

NEW YORK—Charley White, Chicago and Johnny Dundee of New York, veteran lightweight, will meet in Madison Square Garden tonight.

WHO WROTE THE TREATY?

SENATOR ROBINSON says Hon. A. C. Balfour wrote it. Senator Reed says Prince Tokugawa wrote it. Senator Watson says the Devil himself wrote it, while Borah says he doesn't know who wrote it, but is certain Secretary Hughes didn't.

This reminds one of the dramatic critic in Fanny's first play. If a new play is by a well known author, it is a good play, if it is by an unknown author it is a poor play. To go by the merits of the play is too much trouble.

Could anything show more clearly the utter fatality of the fight on the Four-Power pact than this absurd emphasis upon the identity of the person who put the pact in its final form?

What earthly difference does it make who wrote the treaty, as long as everyone knows what the treaty is, and every nation represented, after studying it six weeks, signed it?

After all nature has endowed us with reasonable faculties of our own. A business man doesn't accept or reject a contract, because he dislikes or likes the attorney who wrote it. He judges the contract on its merits, and nothing else.

Would Senator Robinson refuse to sign a lease for his apartment because he was doubtful of the identity of the stenographer who typed it? Would he change his opinion of Hamlet if he found that Bacon wrote it, instead of Shakespeare? Who made the senator's wrong-tail coat? Was his name Finklestein or Gadapopoulos or plain O'Reilly?

If it's a good coat Senator Robinson accepts it and pays his bill, if it isn't he rejects it and keeps his hand in his pocket book.

Why can't he show as much sense regarding the Four-Power treaty? There is no more reason for the acceptance of the treaty because Hughes wrote it than for the rejection of the treaty because Mr. Balfour wrote it. Who wrote it has nothing at all to do with the case, except as an excuse for talking a little longer and inflating the Congressional Record a little more with hot air.

And when one comes to think of it, perhaps that is the reason.

Quill Points

Ruth, crushed to earth, will rise again.

Lots of people think of liberty as the spirits of 1776.

The bride gets the showers; the groom only catches thunder.

Executive: One who entertains callers, while lieutenants do the work.

"Twenty Freshmen Have Never Kissed." That's odd. As a rule, the fresh men lead the field.

One half of the world doesn't know how the other half manages to buy gasoline.

Every evil contains the germ of its own destruction. Note the "axe" in taxes.

And it occurs to us that there were fewer eternal triangles in the old days of the square dance.

Lots of times men think they hear the call of duty when they only hear money talking.

Environment is a wonderful thing. Think of how many parents have been broadened by associating with their children.

Unfortunately, however, American business can't build a tariff wall around foreign markets in order to keep out cheap foreign goods.

There are two kinds of men: Very busy men who will serve you now, and men who have little to do and will attend to your case next week.

AGE OF AUTOS.

WE BUILT our towns in olden days when horses hauled our surreys; we calmly joggled along our ways, and had few traffic worries. Oh, now and then a sporty gent would speed his sorrel trotter, and he was to the hoosgow sent, and fed on bread and water. But there was room for gig and cart, the wide streets safely held 'em; pedestrians were torn apart by wagons very seldom. We built our towns and had no thought of surging horseless wagons, of monster vans, of metal wrought, that go like flaming dragons. We built our towns, and thought our steeds would evermore go cruising, we boasted of their trotting speeds, which now seem most amusing. And now our cities we survey, all choked with honking motors; there is no path, no right of way, for inoffensive voters. The crowding motors knock us flat when in the streets we sally, it takes a circus acrobat to cross a street or alley. And every day the crush grows worse new cars come, sleek and chuggy; each hour some fellow strips his purse to buy a buzzing buggy. Oh, when we built our busy roads we had no dream prophetic; we thought the customs of our dads would last—a view pathetic! And now we wonder what we'll do; the outlook causes sorrow; for where today one car's in view, there will be two tomorrow.
