The Elks minstrel show played to a surprisingly small house at Ashland last night. The members of the minstrel company began leaving by auto this noon for Yreka, Calif., where the attraction will be given tonight. Peters theater at Yreka was entirely sold out two days ago for tonight's performance, so that the large number of members of the local Elks lodge who will accompany the minstrel company to Yreka will be sure of not being able to see the show. A big banquet will be served to minstrelers and other Elks after the show.

MAN IN RANKS TO BE BENEFICIARY OF LEGION CENSUS

The buck private, or rather the ex-buck, is going to receive more attention than he did in war when the American Legion veteran census begins here next Monday under the direction of Medford Post and its Auxiliary Unit. It is the needs and desires of the man in the ranks that this census is designed to bring before the nation. Instructions from state headquarters are to carry out this program to the letter, and the local post is arranging that not a residence or office in the community be missed.

"I want every ex-service man to understand that whether he is a member of the American Legion or not makes no difference in this case," said Commander Wilson of the Medford post today. "What we are going after is a census of ex-service men; we have the members of the American Legion already listed at headquarters. Anybody can sign up for the legion any time he wants and welcome, but what we are after now is the name and the needs of every man or woman that served the United States in the world war. It happened to be the legion that is taking the census because it's all in the legion line of work, but the census is conducted for the benefit of all the veterans of America."

If any ex-service men have claims unadjusted or compensation coming that they cannot collect, or are still suffering from any injury sustained in the service, it is the request of Mr. Wilson that they make sure to let their needs be known when the census starts. Information is also wanted about employment and if you are out of a job do not hesitate to let the census takers know about it. And if you are in a position to share your share of the adjusted compensation to the immediate relief of the disabled and their families, the canvassers want your name as surely as if you were in need, say the legion men assigned to the job.

"The London Follies" PAGE THURSDAY NIGHT

Fresh from triumphant engagements in San Francisco and Portland and other coast cities, "The London Follies" are to be at the Page theatre next Thursday night. This famous organization numbers seventy people and is headed by Harry Tate, who is known as the king of England's laughmakers and has appeared at more royal command performances than any other comedian in the world. This is his first tour of this country as he has never before appeared outside of New York and Boston on this side of the water.

The company surrounding Mr. Tate is said to be composed of the best vocal talent that London can produce including Lillian Coles, Connie Browning, Isabelle Dorothy, Marie Dayne, Mollie Molteno, Billy Holland, Deane Tribune, Ken Kennedy, W. Wania, Henri Rogan, Harry Gibson, Harry Beasley, Lon Mance, and Ronald Hutchinson, as well as a chorus of specially selected English beauties.

George C. Warren, dramatic editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, has the following to say of the opening performance in San Francisco: "The English invasion of the western stage began very pleasantly last night at the Columbia theatre where Albert de Courville's 'London Follies' opened. The strangers made a decidedly good impression introducing two or three comedians of worth, a pair of beautiful and talented young ladies, Lillian Coles and Connie Browning, and there is a chorus that knows how to dance."

This Man Was Helped John Grab, 2529 Jackson Ave., New Orleans, La., writes: "My kidneys were weak and had a soreness and dull pain across my back. Foley Kidney Pills help the kidneys rid the system of acids and waste that cause lameness, backache, sore muscles, swollen joints and rheumatic pains. Tonic in effect, quick in action. TEDDY'S COWBOY EQUIPMENT ON DISPLAY IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Mar. 18.—A collection of guns, knives, chaps and cooking utensils,—the original equipment used by Theodore Roosevelt during his days in the Dakotas,—was placed on view here today by the Roosevelt Memorial association. The association received the collection recently from A. W. Erickson of New York, who obtained them from A. W. Merrifield of Somers, Mont., one of Colonel Roosevelt's ranch partners in the early '80's.

A relic of the colonel's first experiences in big game hunting, included in the collection is an old 40-60 caliber rifle, known to old frontiersmen as a "bear gun." Next to the old rifle rested a queer looking weapon which Roosevelt had made to order to take on his first hunt for big game in the Big Horn mountains. It is a three-barreled combination shot gun and rifle and while old timers shook their heads and questioned its usefulness, it proved to be an effective weapon in the colonel's hands.

The first pair of chaps worn by Roosevelt back in the days when he was hardly more than a "tenderfoot," compared with the ruddy adventurers who made up the "wild west" of that day, is also on view. They show hard usage and have a hole burned in one knee, caused, Merrifield explained, by "us sleeping out one night without bedding and he got too close to the camp fire."

The smaller relics include a pocket compass carried by the colonel during all his year in the west, a silver drinking cup made from the top of a whiskey flask and a pair of nose glasses which according to Mr. Merrifield, the colonel always carried with him in case of accident, but left on the ranch when he went to New York.

Golf or a Sermon?

Of course you need recreation, plenty of it—but your soul needs culture, too. It can best be nurtured by regular church attendance. Do not deceive yourself. "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." Neglect the things of religion at your peril.

You would not live in a community without a church. Give it your support—your time, your brain, your thought, as well as your money. Come to church Sunday.

For the wages of sin is death; but the free gift of God is eternal life through Christ Jesus our Lord.
