

ATTORNEY MEARS PLEADS FOR THE 4-POWER TREATY

City Attorney Fred W. Mears gave an address on the "Four-Power Peace Pact," last night at "daddies' night" of the Parent-Teacher's meeting at the Lincoln school. He spoke, in part, as follows: "Our country is at the cross-roads of history. In the interest of world peace and the continued leadership of America in the affairs of the world, we should ratify the Four-Power Pacific treaty. "The Four-Power peace treaty will put an end to the increasing military alliances between Great Britain and Japan. This treaty by its terms, will accomplish two things. First, it absolutely does away with the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which otherwise will continue. Second, the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, those four powers agree to respect one another's rights, and in case of any dispute to confer. America surely ought to be willing to agree to talk matters over in case of dispute. We have always stood for respecting the rights of other nations. "We can not say to the nations of the world that we will have nothing to do with you, that we refuse to confer in the interest of peace, that we will have no part in bringing about world-peace. America can no longer pursue a policy of isolation. We can not stand aloof if we would for the world is too small. The world war proved that we could not remain indifferent to the acts of the other nations of the world. Let us not refuse to lead the world in the policies of peace and righteousness. Rather let us say to the world that America stands for world peace and for all things that will help to bring about the brotherhood of man. "So let us urge upon the United States senate, our representatives, the ratification of the Four-Power Pacific treaty and the other treaties growing out of the Washington conference. The adoption of the Four-Power peace pact is the first and an essential step toward an association of nations in the interest of world peace. "As Lincoln plead with us not to permit this government of the people, by the people and for the people to perish from the earth, so let us maintain that kind of a government by giving to the world those blessings of liberty and justice which alone make for the peace of the world."

P. O. Examination at Jacksonville, April 8

At the request of the postmaster general, the United States Civil Service commission announces an open competitive examination to be held on April 8, 1922, to fill the position of postmaster at Jacksonville, Oregon, at which a vacancy exists. It is expected that appointments will be made as a result of this examination unless it is found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by transfer or promotion. This is not an examination under the Civil Service Act, but is held under an executive order of May 10, 1921, providing for such procedure.
