COUNCIL STEAMS
UP PARKING ACT,
NAME COMMITTEE

The city council, working under high pressure last night at a lengthy session, transacted much business of major and minor importance and disposed of a quantity of routine business besides. Every member, Messrs. Lundsten, Antle, Gaddis, Miles, Dressler and Keene, and Mayor Gates were present.

The most important action was the decision to inaugurate steps at once for the building of a second reservoir for the city water system, and the discussion generally about conserving water for the summer season, and the action to turn over to the chamber of commerce the operation of the city auto camp and inauguration of improvements there by that body. Details of these actions appear elsewhere in this paper.

Other important matters considered were the question of introducing a much needed new parking ordinance in the business district at the request of the merchants. W. A. Gates, representing the merchants, brought the subject to the attention of the council. Mayor Gates appointed Councilmen Miles, Lundsten and Dressler as a special committee to draw up this ordinance and have it ready for consideration at the next council meeting.

Last night's meeting was full of speed and discussion. A number of other ordinances of minor importance some relating to delinquent property matters, were acted on, and a number of communications and requests from citizens were received. Towards the last the tired and sleepy councilmen worked very fast, with Mayor Gates turning on the steam and urging more pep to clean up all pending business possible, and voted fast and unanimously with little argument.

At 11 o'clock when a drowsy reporter put on his hat ready to run, thinking that the council was about to adjourn whereas a half dozen more ordinances were to come up yet, Councilman Keene grabbed the headpiece, stamped it to the floor and admonished the newspaperman to show proper consideration for the council's dignity. "Don't always did expect impossibilities, and his reckless handling of other people's hats will be referred to the Ku Klux Klan for proper action.

MADRICAL CLUB OF
O. A. C. TO SING FOR
ASHLAND LEGION

ASHLAND, March 22.—Heralding the appearance locally at the Vining, on Friday evening, March 24, of the Madrigal club of O. A. C., has a greater significance than the mere entertainment of a first-class musical entertainment would imply. When we consider the auspices under which the sweet singers appear, and the motives which prompted their presence here, there can be but one conclusion arrived at, and that is, in behalf of the American Legion post and its auxiliary, there ought to be a crowded house. Directly, the entertainment will be a fine musical treat, and indirectly a generous patronage extended will act as a token of appreciation in behalf of the meritorious labor of love in which the legion and its auxiliary are engaged, that of raising funds for the care of its sick members, also to provide a memorial tribute due to those who paid the supreme sacrifice during the world war. Twenty-four bright college girls constitute the personnel of the Madrigal club, all being selected as to vocal abilities. Arriving in Ashland on the morning of Friday this week, they will appear at the high school in the afternoon, preliminary to the formal concert entertainment at the Vining in the evening. The club will remain here until Saturday, after the concert being the guests of mutual friends while in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Miner, of Richmond Center, a flourishing town in Wisconsin, are visiting near relatives in the family of August Schuerman on C street, Mr. Miner being a brother of Mrs. Schuerman. The visitors are touring the Pacific coast and intermountain region, their itinerary to extend as far south as the Mexican boundary, and incident to this tour they may be prevailed upon to locate permanently in some favored region.

An illustrated lecture was an added attraction at the Christian church last Sunday evening, scenes in the Savior's life being depicted.

The Medford Masonic lodge has invited members of the fraternity from this vicinity to participate in third degree work on Friday afternoon and evening, March 24, supper at 6 o'clock. Furthermore, Hullah Temple will give one of a series of Shrine dancing parties at the Nat. in Medford, on the evening of the same day, after the lodge work, about 9 o'clock. Tickets will be two dollars. All Masons are invited.

Among church pulpits occupied by preachers other than regular pastors, Rev. A. J. Sullens, of Portland, engaged in home missionary work in Oregon and Idaho, conducted services at the Congregational church last Sunday morning, Rev. J. H. Doran occupying the Baptist pulpit.

The home basketball squad which won laurels last week at Salem to such an extent as to win the state championship, is composed of Guthrie and Heer, forwards; Ramsey, center; Hobson and Young, guards, to which are added the customary substitutes. Guthrie is acknowledged to be the phenomenal player. Of the series of games played at the state capital, it was demonstrated that the Ashland-Astoria contest was the most evenly matched. About 50 local rooters accompanied the team north. The only discordant note attending the championship aftermath is the contingency of perhaps losing Coach Hughes, as it is feared that, due to the prestige which he enjoys and so richly merits as a masterful leader, he may be persuaded to go elsewhere on a salary which our local schools could not hope to meet. We trust this fear is groundless, but "we can't most always tell."

The alleged Ku Klux escapade at Medford is supplemented by a mystery here still unsolved, which assumed the phase of a beacon light on hills west of town. Evidently a torch had been applied to a huge cross, covered with burlap soaked in standard oil, although that big corporation is not accused of wasting the refined petroleum. The cross is a landmark, substantially constructed, and visible from certain portions of the town, and has been visited by quite a number of people curious to learn what under heavens was the object in constructing and illuminating it. Quite a few of the superstitious ones are consulting the Book of Revelation for some clue which will assist in harmonizing scriptural prophecies as applying to developments of these latter days.

Responding to the prevailing "Build with the Birds" slogan, nearly a score of "nests," either of the brand new bungalow type or traditional colonial design, are being newly constructed or extensively remodeled. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Froberg have returned from a several months residence in various portions of California and "never again" is a refrain which they emphasize when a return trip is suggested to southern climes. In order to keep in closer information regarding illness of its members, the local Masonic lodge has appointed a committee of ten, to serve until June 20 prox. Dr. W. E. Buchanan is chairman, reports to be made directly to him. Among other members of the lodge, Drs. F. G. Swedenburg and G. W. Gregg will act in an advisory capacity in reporting to the chairman. Other members of the committee include F. D. Wagner, A. F. Abbott, C. W. Nims, I. D. Leslie, and E. E. Miller, of this city, also C. C. Wolters and A. Amundsen of Talent. The numerical extent of the committee's membership has been fixed large enough effectively to cover the entire jurisdiction of the lodge, which is a wide one, including urban and suburban limitations. The tidings is running an interesting serial dealing with "The Lost Cabin Mine," a copyrighted production even more thrilling than Edison Marshall's society chronicles or Griffin's bear stories, all rights being reserved. Predatory animals are being exterminated in this vicinity. Among trappers, A. Posten, of the Green Springs section, lately perfected claims for bounty on no less than five varminas which he had corralled in a bobcat roundup. It is well-nigh time to hear reports from George Hargadine also in this connection. As has been customary for the last few years, taxes may be paid at city hall as a matter of convenience. O. Winter is deputy collector, and the "open season" begins March 23, hours for transacting business being relatively banking ones. Fred Merrin, of this city, president

LEGION CENSUS
TAKERS NAMED

Commander Elmer Wilson of the American Legion post last night named the veterans who will have charge of the census of ex-service men for this vicinity and a thorough canvass of the city and country districts will be made. Ladies of the auxiliary will assist in this work and officers of the local post are anxious to have the work completed as soon as possible. Several matters which have been before the post before were disposed of last night and a large number was present to pass upon the work of the committees which reported. The auxiliary ladies invited the legionnaires to "cate" after the regular session of the post.

American Women Are Careless
Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When feeling well they take unnecessary chances, which in the long run cause much pain and trouble. Wet feet, exposure to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing remedy in such cases. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. If you are suffering it will pay you to give it a fair trial. Adv.

DR. LORENZ REPEATS
FAMOUS OPERATION

DETROIT, Mar. 22.—Dr. Adolph Lorenz, Austrian orthopedist, repeated here yesterday the Ledita Armour operation, which brought him international fame twenty years ago. The operation, which was performed without an incision and required but ten minutes, was pronounced a success. The patient was a six-year-old girl.

The operation, to rectify a congenital dislocation of the hip through manipulation of the bones, muscles and ligaments, was first performed in this country, it is said, when Dr. Lorenz was brought to America by J. Ogden Armour, the Chicago packer, in an attempt to cure his daughter.

'LONDON FOLLIES' PAGE
TOMORROW NIGHT

The moment Charles Cowrick snapped his baton at the orchestra, and the first sprightly notes of the overture were sounded you were just sure you were going to enjoy the London Follies.

That assumption was strengthened when a novelty dress rehearsal was held, and later when Harry Tate gave his remarkable impersonation of a golf player there was no further doubt as to the outcome of the evening. The entire English colony was present. Wherever you looked you saw a famous English comedian—now in pictures, a former Follies girl herself—now in pictures, or a leading man or a director, formerly on the English stage. The broad A was in the ascendant, and every moment of the performance raised it higher.

Tate is considered one of the funniest men on the English stage, and he showed his audience at the Mason that fun-making as a fine art is just as compelling across the water as it is on this side of the Atlantic.

The entire performance moves with a verve and spirit which is refreshing. A lot of Merry Morris sing "Off We Go" and the show is on all right without too many clothes to spoil the effect. In England they are certainly down on the high price of silk stockings. Just as often as they can they omit them entirely from the category of the wardrobe woman.

The beauty chorus is less rigid than is customary in a lot of traveling companies, the comedians are all funny, and the music is tuneful and gay.

One of the loveliest of the stage features was the Fair India group, and a picturesque scene "In Old Versailles" captivating the fancy of the audience as did the Rainbow of Flowers.—San Francisco Examiner.

The same company present "London Follies" at the Page theatre tomorrow night.
