At the Page Oh, Ho-Ho, for the life of a sailor. You will be astonished to find once you have seen Harold Lloyd in "A Sailor Made Man," his newest contribution which comes to the Page theatre Sunday matinee for a three days run. This comedy presents this clever star in the richest opportunities for burlesque in which he has ever appeared. His moments on a real warship—his shore leave—his ridiculous comic moments—these are apparent throughout the unfolding of this exceptional picture. It is a picture which carries fifty minutes of solid laughter. A brand new assortment of gags, stunts and incidents are flashed. See this breezy comedy. You will want to join the navy after seeing it.

"The World's Champion" Pleases Wallace Reid's new picture, "The World's Champion," is doing a big business at the Rialto theatre where it closes tomorrow night. This is a delightful photoplay which should go far to winning him a new army of admirers.

ers. Lois Wilson is charming in the leading woman's role. "Oh, Promise Me," a Christy comedy on the same role is an amusing satire.
