WASHINGTON, April 10.—The supreme court today refused to review the question of title to certain lands in California claimed by the San Jacinto and Kings River Canal and Irrigation company, Miller and Lux and the Union Colonization company on the ground of appropriation and by W. H. Worswick, Jr., and others on the ground of riparian rights. In the lower courts the riparian claimants were successful.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Appeals of the Oden, Portland and the Union Portland Cement companies and of the Utah-Idaho Central Railroad company to have set aside the orders of the public utilities commission of Utah, cancelling their contracts with the Utah Power and Light company were today dismissed by the supreme court.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The conviction of Harry A. Brodaski at San Francisco under the national prohibition act must stand, the supreme court today refusing to review his case.

He contended that his conviction in the United States district court for northern California should be set aside, because, "comments, remarks and observations" of the court "coerced" the verdict against him and deprived him of certain constitutional rights.

The circuit court of appeals for the sixth circuit affirmed the lower court in imposing a fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for two years.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Manufacturers cannot enforce contracts under which dealers had agreed exclusively to handle their copyrighted products, the supreme court today held in a case brought by the Standard Fashion company against the Magrane-Houston company of Boston.

CANADIAN TOWN IS UNDER WATER

REGINA, Sask., April 10.—The entire town of Luusden, Sask., on the Canadian Northern railway is practically under water as a result of spring floods. Grocery stores in the town are using boats to deliver provisions to the homes where whole families are forced to live on the upper floors. According to travelers who reached Regina today from that district, the water is in some places ten feet deep. Train service, it is said will be delayed for a time, at one point 350 feet of railway track being under water. The water has subsided sufficiently to permit trains being pushed over the track into the flooded area.

VALLEY VISITED BY WEATHER OF FREAKIEST KIND

Most of the local weather deponents after working night and day for weeks over the fascinating task of finding when the weather would become settled, in the face of overwhelming odds, gave up this noon, completely bewildered by the wide variety of weather of the day and after a farewell smoke jumped into the rushing waters of Bear creek glad to end it all.

Today, meteorologically speaking, whatever that means, had the most contrary and aggravating collection of weather seen hereabouts for a long time, which put everyone in the dumps. And this the 10th of April, gladsome springtime. Spells of rain ranging from hard downpours to miserable drizzles, snow flurries, dark skies, sun shinings, clear skies, and most of the time penetratingly chilly and disagreeable, constituted the mixture, and caused many folks to have desperate thoughts.

Even Floyd Young, that tried weather prognosticating veteran, wished he were back in Davenport, Ia. Most people prefer death to that, but the frost expert had got past caring what happened to him. C. C. Cate, local weather man, went about the office studying weather maps, in his shirt sleeves and wearing overshoes, and voluntarily offered to lend A. C. Allen, state horticultural commissioner, five dollars. Meanwhile when the sun shone brightly for short periods fresh layers of snow could be seen in the foothills and mountains. Most people do it out that fumes of moonshine in this region have gone to nature's head this spring, and that until the effects wear away the weather will remain unsettled.

While the official prediction from the San Francisco weather bureau is for rain tonight and Tuesday the people can expect almost anything, for the barometer in the local weather bureau office was acting up this noon and indicated that it probably would not rain tonight. Yesterday Medford residents were out in the hills gathering wildflowers and holding picnics. Last night fears were generally felt, so clear was it, that this morning would see a hard frost, but the home folks got up today to find it raining hard with the outlook that it would pour down all day. By 8 a. m. today .05 of an inch of rain had fallen. The minimum temperature of this morning was only 37 1/2.

EXTERMINATION OF GOPHERS CONTINUES

The gopher control demonstrations started in this county last week have proved of great interest to many of the farmers and orchardists of the community. Five fields were carefully gone over and a first placement of bait made, which was to be followed in three days, weather permitting and exclusive of Sundays. These repeat demonstrations are now going on wherein a check is made on the first work.

GENOA CONFERENCE OPENS

preparing to take steps that it was hoped would lead to the economic reconstruction of Europe, the conference particularly to be concerned with plans for rebuilding central Europe and rehabilitating Russia, which was admitted by many delegates to be a subject of supreme importance by itself, perhaps the most far-reaching question which the congress shall be called on to settle.

The ambassador from the United States, Richard Washburn Child, was to take his seat today in a section reserved for eminent guests. He was to attend all the open meetings, but will not be present at any conference of committees at which the actual important work of the conference will be completed.

ASHLAND NORMAL SCHOOL ASSURED FOR THIS YEAR

ASHLAND, April 10.—Sessions of the Ashland unit of the Oregon state normal are assured for the summer season of 1922, supplementing the highly successful experience of last year. The specific period will be from June 19 to July 28, and the attendance bids fair to exceed that of 1921. Opportunities offered are not merely those of an extension series, but a full normal course is available, including a practice school for all grades. The music department will be replete with advantages, while psychology, educational measurements, sociology, and school management phases of a liberal education are all within the scope of this normal training, if desired. Supt. Briscoe, of the Ashland schools, who is also director of the normal here, will supply all desired information concerning the approaching sessions.

Another golden anniversary is approaching, this event referring to Arbor Day, April 22, and this will be observed as the climax of Forest Protection week which begins on April 16. Locally Arbor Day possesses considerable significance, especially with the schools, and under municipal encouragement our parks and streets are richly endowed with shrub, flowering and tree growths, thanks to a liberal arboreal extension course afforded through educational agencies along these lines, fostered by school authorities, the park commission, Civic Improvement club, and citizens in general.

Early in June and later in that month, this terminal will witness dozens of special trains going to and returning from the big Shrine gathering at San Francisco. "Korsair" will be one of these Temple contingents. Its home is Louisville, Ky., and it is coming to the coast with 200 excursionists. A forecast of its itinerary announces an arrival in Ashland at 7 a. m. on June 11, on a schedule allowing a two hour stop. At a session of Hillah temple last Friday evening, it was suggested that these excursionists detain at Medford and enroute at Ashland, in the meantime the two hours being whittled away in an auto tour through various sections of the valley, including the scenic drives of this locality. The Kentuckians are anxious to tarry awhile in our midst, evidently having learned of the attractions of southern Oregon. A trip over the orchard districts of the Medford plateau, supplemented by viewing Ashland's parks and romantic hills would be a revelation to the visitors. This plan for their entertainment has been referred to a committee consisting of Secretaries Fuller and Frohbach, of the commercial organizations of Ashland and Medford respectively.

Born, in this city, April 9, a son to Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pendleton. Of course this fine baby boy has been named Willard, Jr. The mother was formerly Miss Madeline Silver.

Passion week is being observed by the Congregational church with services every evening until Good Friday inclusive, specific subjects being dwelt upon by Pastor Oldfield as a preliminary to the Easter festival. There will also be special services at the Methodist church on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Spring is developing athletically even if the weather is on the chilly order. April 22 will witness a baseball contest between Ashland and Medford, with games to follow in rotation between the locals and Klamath Falls, Grants Pass, and perhaps Yreka, the schedule depending upon future developments.

Revival services at the Nazarene church are being reinforced by the Smith family from Stockton, Cal., the family circle including five members, all musicians, either vocal or instrumental, or both.

A prize of ten dollars awaits the high school students who not only prepares the best essay, but who also supplements meritorious composition by excelling in oral delivery in public. Of the essays submitted, six of the best will be selected by judges, and the prizes noted, offered by the Mt. Ashland chapter of the D. A. R., will be awarded to the student who excels in the requirements as submitted.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN FALLS INTO WELL

Saturday morning about 7 o'clock while preparing to put a new foundation under a dwelling house at the corner of Fourth and Apple streets, Clarence Hankey stepped on what he supposed were some rotten boards laying on the ground and fell through into an open well. There was about an eight foot drop to the water level and the water was about 12 feet deep. When Mr. Pankey came to the top of the well he had presence of mind to spread out his arms and hang onto a one inch ledge on the side walls. He was alone at the time and no one saw him fall in and it was five minutes or more before he attracted any one's attention. When the neighbors heard his call for help they hurried to his assistance with ropes and ladders and soon had him out of the icy cold water.

S. P. MAKES GOOD TIME RECORD ON PACIFIC DIVISION

Of the 1241 through passenger trains operated by the Southern Pacific company on its Pacific system during March 1922, or 95.1 per cent made running time, and of the 4567 local passenger trains 4455 or 97.6 per cent were on time.

"This is a remarkable record," said J. H. Dyer, general manager of the railroad in making this announcement. "Especially considering the unusually stormy weather last month and the mountainous terrain that comprises much of our territory."

Mr. Dyer cited the following instances of specific through passenger train performance. Absolute 100 per cent "on time" performance for the month was made by the Pacific Limited from Oakland to Ogden, by the Californian from Los Angeles to Tucson, by the Sunset Limited and by the Sunset Express from New Orleans to San Francisco, a distance of 2400 miles. The Overland Limited was sent through from Oakland to Ogden on time every day during the month of March, with a single exception. The Golden State Limited from Los Angeles to El Paso, was late but twice during the 31 days of the month.

'IRENE' COMING TO THE PAGE

All the magic of youth and the joy of life are found in "Irene", New York's greatest musical comedy success which will be at the Page theatre Tuesday night, April 18th. It has provided a beautiful scenic equipment and wonderful costumes for the play and a special orchestra. The New York cast with Patti Harold in the role of Irene O'Dare, the shoppier beauty will be seen and a beautiful chorus which can also dance and sing will give to "Irene" all of the verve and smartness which distinguished the presentation in New York for two years at the Vanderbilt theatre. Such songs as "Alone Like Gown," "Castle of Dreams," "The Last Part of Every Party," are the choicest melodies yet heard. The comedy and music are of high order and the play the sensational success in musical history of a decade.

Teachers Council at Sams Valley One of the best council meetings of the year was held at Sams Valley's new consolidated school on last Saturday. Twenty-five teachers were present and a live program was carried on through the day. A hearty lunch was served at noon by the ladies of the community, and a goodly number of patrons as well as visitors from other districts attended the afternoon session. The chairman, Miss Almeda Fuller, presided.

Grammar, presented by Mrs. James; Primary Hand Work by Mrs. E. C. Browne; Penmanship by Miss Porter; Silent Reading, with class, by Katherine Nealon; Rhythmic exercises (with class) by Mrs. I. T. Galligan, and Clives by E. W. Jacobson constituted the program. Round table discussions were frequent. "Visiting Day" for the teacher was favored by all present as a source of inspiration and help for the growing teacher.

At business session of the council some excellent resolutions were put on record, and important committees were appointed, looking to next year's work.

All in attendance enjoyed the hospitality the new school offered, and the cordial spirit of the day.

EVANGELIST PREACHES STRONG SERMON ON "REALITY CHRIST" AT 1ST METHODIST

The largest congregation that has yet attended the revival at the First Methodist church heard Dr. Harcourt W. Pack deliver a masterful sermon at the morning service yesterday. His subject was, "Christ Jesus, the God Man."

The sermon was, in part, as follows: "My text will be found in Timothy 2:5. 'For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus.'"

"Jesus Christ tolerates no rivals. He does not say, 'By your leave I am God,' but he claims Deity without any reservation whatsoever. He says, 'He that hath seen me hath seen the Father. Before Abraham was, I am.' The Apostle Paul in his letter to the Colossians (1:14-20) states the case with absolute clearness. Speaking of Jesus Christ, he says, 'Who is the image of the invisible God, the first born of every creature:'"

"For by Him were all things created that are in Heaven, that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers; all things were created by Him, and for Him."

"And he is before all things, and by him all things consist. And he is the head of the body, the church: Who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence. For it pleased the Father that in Him should all fullness dwell; And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things on earth, or things in heaven."

"There can be no possible compromise with such a statement as that. He was either God or the greatest impostor the world has ever known. Under the circumstances let us look at His claims."

"A religion can be tested by three things: (1) The character of its founder. (2) The character of His teaching. (3) The characters produced by His life, influence and teachings. Mohammedanism, Buddhism, Confucianism, all bear unmistakable evidence of the type of life, character and teaching of their founders. The same is true of Christianity. Every man is brought face to face with these claims of Jesus Christ. We cannot possibly escape them. To accept them and live them is to be a Christian. To reject Him and them is to be an infidel."

"It is a fair question to ask, Can these claims be made good? Let us look at several of them. He is said to have been 'The image of the invisible God,' and it is claimed that we have redemption through his blood, and that all things were created by Him, and that He was preeminent in all things. These claims are sometimes denied. Some unhesitatingly claim that Jesus Christ never existed. That in reality He is only a 'myth.' We do not need to go to the Bible to prove that Jesus Christ did actually exist. Tacitus the great Roman historian, who lived from A. D. 55-117, writing of the early Christians, says: 'They were ingens multitudo.' That shows that even at the time of the apostles there was a vast multitude who were followers of Jesus Christ."

"Suetonius, and the elder Pliny also refer to the number of the early Christians during the apostolic age. They refer to their austere type of life and the purity of their women by contrast with those of the Roman world. 'Josephus tells us of the trial and death of Jesus Christ under the rule of Pontius Pilate. 'Irenaeus, first Bishop of Lyons France (in what was then called Gaul) who was a pupil of Polycarp, who was a pupil of the Apostle John, has a book now extant, in which he tells how the Apostle John used to describe the looks and actions and manners of Jesus Christ as he lived, taught and worked among His immediate followers."

"Matthew, Mark, Luke and John also write and tell about the life and teachings of the Master. As historians they are better authenticated than any Madonna and child unconsciously each other ancient writers. There are over 1800 manuscripts and parts of manuscripts of the New Testament now in the libraries of the world. Some of these dating back to within the lifetime of two generations after Jesus Himself lived on earth. Jesus Christ was no myth; he actually lived.

"Jesus Christ's character is unique. His coming was foretold several decades of centuries before he appeared in person on earth. His names were given hundreds of years before His birth. His Deity is referred to in Isaiah (9:6), and His life as a suffering Savior described by the prophet (Isaiah 53 chapter) over seven hundred years before Jesus was born in Bethlehem."

"The name Jesus was given Him before his birth to describe what His mission was to be. These writers lived so far apart that there was no possibility of collusion. Greenleaf, the great legal authority on evidence, says of the writers of the New Testament, 'Either the men of Galilee were men of superlative wisdom and extensive knowledge and experience and of deeper skill in the arts of deception than any and all others before or after them, or they have truly stated the astonishing things which they saw or heard.' As a matter of fact simple, honest fishermen."

"His advent befitted the coming of the God-man. 'Gabriel announced His coming to Zacharias, father of his forerunner, John the Baptist. 'An angel told Mary of the life and character of her child. 'The shepherds and the wise men paid tribute to Him as the world's Redeemer. Of royal blood, He yet was born in a manger that there might be no high or low of human beings who could not be reached and blessed by Him."

"He was an original character. Never before or since has any claimed to have in his own personality the life and characteristics of God and Man. The Bible does not hesitate to say that He was born of a woman! It is equally positive when it says, that He was also the Son of God. Jesus Himself said, (John 14:9) 'He that hath seen me hath seen the Father.' The Apostle John says, 'There are written that ye might believe that Jesus was the Christ, the Son of God.'"

"Tennyson well says of Him, 'Thou seemest human and Divine; the highest, holiest manhood thou; Our wills are ours, he knoweth not how; our wills are ours to make them thine. Our little systems have their day; they have their day and cease to be; they are but broken lights of thee; and thou oh Lord, are more than they.'"

"Jesus Christ is the only perfect character. 'No one else has ever been able to say as He did, 'Which of you can vineeth me of sin.' No other being has ever lived on earth who had His perfect balance. Shakespeare, after giving the world his immortal works, died after a night of drunken debauchery. Bacon, a keen thinker and philosopher, is described by his friend Pope as, 'The wisest, brightest, meanest of mankind.'"

"Jesus was equally at home with the philosopher or the child. He was just, yet ever merciful. He called the scribes and Pharisees 'whited sepulchres' because of the wickedness of their lives; but he died for them. 'Jesus was pure, but never austere. He was tender and sympathetic. He only, of all beings known to man, had no sin, no flaw, no stain. He never prayed the prayer of the penitent. He did not need to. 'He is the only universal character known to man."

"He appeals alike to all nations. Have you ever noticed that when the great artists paint the pictures of the Madonna and child unconsciously each one gives them the features of their own nation. All claim Him; all adore Him; all will die for Him, but for no other born of woman. How true it is, as Jesus said, 'And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me.' 'He alone is the contemporary of all ages. Caesar, Alexander and Napoleon were great men in their day, but who cares for them now? Jesus alone has conquered the ages and the hearts of mankind. The artists give their best pencils to picture His face. The sculptor unweariedly labors to give Him the most perfect form. His are the oratorios and Hallelujah choruses of the musician. This Christ and the direct and indirect references to Him out of the world's literature and it would lie a wreck forever."

"FLU" LEAVES PATIENT WEAK AND NERVELESS Regains Strength After Almost Giving Up Hopes of Recovery

Spanish Influenza or "Flu" as this dread disease is now generally called, almost invariably leaves the sufferer weak, nervous, discouraged and depressed. As a matter of fact, some people never fully recover from the effects of "Flu" simply because they do not know there are remedies that will bring back their health and strength.

attack of "Flu" after trying various remedies. She says: "I never took any medicine that did me so much good as Dr. A. W. Chase's Tonic Pills.
