BRITISH WARSHIPS ARRIVE OFF IRELAND

E. DE VALERA ISSUES CALL FOR ACTION

'Ireland is ours for the taking. —Take it!' is Easter message from radical leader. —Two British warships off coast clear for action. —Troops concentrating.

DUBLIN, April 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Eamon De Valera today issued an Easter message to the young men and women of Ireland in which he said: "Young men and young women of Ireland, the goal is at last in sight. Stand together, step forward. Ireland is yours for the taking. Take it."

BELFAST, April 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Two British warships arrived in Lough Swilly, county Donegal, northwest of Londonderry, it was learned this afternoon.

LONDON, April 15.—The movement of the British warships into the waters of County Donegal, Ireland, announced in Belfast dispatches today is interpreted here as a precautionary measure in view of the tense situation in Ireland.

London Anxious.—(By the Associated Press)—Developments in Ireland over Sunday are awaited anxiously here, in view of the seizure of the four courts in Dublin and Arthur Griffith's determination to hold his protest meeting in Sligo tomorrow over the decree of the local Irish republican commander.

The situation is described by the morning newspapers as very serious. General disappointment is expressed that the peace conference between representatives of the free state republicans adjourned without any sign of agreement, and this is commented on as a bad omen. It will be a surprise if Sunday passes in Sligo without trouble. Mr. Griffith's latest statement was that he was determined to fulfill his promise to speak there, and there seems to be every reason to expect that if he attempts the address, a clash of the rival parties will result. It is reported that since the occupation of a number of public buildings at Sligo by republican forces free state troops have been gathering there in considerable numbers. Many alarming rumors are afloat, one being that the republicans have laid plans to seize the heads of the provisional free state government.

Shots Are Fired.—(By the Associated Press)—Shots were fired tonight on the college green at Dublin at a lorry carrying Royal Irish constabulary, says a Dublin message to the Daily Mail. No one was injured.

British troops have been confined to their barracks under orders which will not expire until Tuesday. Dublin metropolitan police have shutters with loopholes. A late Dublin dispatch to the London Times says an armed party today seized the British Irish steam packet Sheda at the north wall. It is not known how this will affect sailings. Exciting incidents occurred in various parts of the city tonight. It is reported the republicans seized additional buildings. The caretaker of a telephone exchange was shot and wounded.

Soldiers Concentrate.—(By the Associated Press)—Forces of the insurrection are concentrating in various parts of the city.

Charges Against Fire Chief of Portland Fall to the Ground

PORTLAND, Ore., April 15.—C. O. Brown, who on Thursday filed serious charges against Fire Chief John Young, completely repudiated every allegation made against the head of the fire department and in a letter sent to City Commissioner C. A. Bigelow, asserted that he had been made a "goat" in the affair. Frank J. McFarland, and A. C. Pullen, inspectors in the fire marshal's office, were accused by Brown of having induced him to file the charges. "The instrument embodying the charges is now repudiated and abandoned and I will not press the charges and insist that the petition be withdrawn," Brown stated. The charges against Chief Young which were repudiated by C. O. Brown were refuted today by Lieutenant A. C. Pullen, of the fire department, who is also an inspector of the fire marshal's office. The charges formally accused Young of drunkenness, inefficiency and misconduct.

BEN TROWBRIDGE DIES SUDDENLY PORTLAND ORE.

The sad and surprising news of the unexpected death at Portland this morning of Benjamin James Trowbridge was received here this forenoon and threw a cloud of gloom over the city, as he was one of its best known and most beloved citizens. While it had been generally known that Mr. Trowbridge had been in poor health for the past year and that some time ago he went to Portland to be under the care of specialists at the Portland Surgical hospital, word reached the city from him yesterday that he was feeling fine. It was at first thought that he had stomach trouble. Examination disclosed, however, that such was not the case, and that he only needed rest and building up.

Hospital attendants on entering his room about 9 a. m. today were surprised to find that he had passed away suddenly from a heart attack. Harry G. Wortman have gone to Portland to take charge of the body and is expected back with it Sunday. Funeral announcement will be made later.

No man in Medford had more warm friends and acquaintances than Benjamin J. Trowbridge. He was especially well known in local fraternal circles. Of a mild, genial and home loving disposition, he was one of those rare men who seemed to be full of good will and friendship towards everybody. It is said of him that he never uttered a word detrimental to any one.

He was born in Hancock, Mich., August 19, 1864, and was 58 years old at the time of his death. His early life was spent in Hancock where he followed the occupation of builder, carpenter and mechanic. He went to Alaska with Governor Swineford, at the latter's behest, and built the first governor's house and the first Catholic church in Alaska.

After four years spent in Alaska he returned to this country and located in Roseburg, Ore., and engaged in the general mercantile business in Camas valley, Douglas county, for 12 years. There his first wife died. He then returned to Hancock, Mich., for a short time and there married Mrs. Alice E. Flynn, who survives him.

Mr. and Mrs. Trowbridge came here from Hancock in 1902. Mr. Trowbridge and John F. White were engaged in the insurance and real estate business here for years, and after Mr. White's retirement in 1912, the former had continued the business ever since under that firm name.

Mr. Trowbridge was always very active in local Knights of Pythias circles, was one of the leading members of Tallman lodge, No. 31, and was one of the organizers of the local D. O. K. K. He was past grand chancellor of the lodge and at the time of his death was its treasurer. He was also a prominent officer of the D. O. K. K. organization. Mr. Trowbridge was also a member of Medford lodge No. 90, F. and A. M., and of the local camp, No. 102, of the Woodmen of the World.

COSSACK CHIEF DEFENDED BY COLLEGE PRES'T.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A new complication over the presence of General Semenov in this country arose today when the senate labor committee sought to subpoena in its investigation of the case, Boris Kakhmeteff, the last accredited Russian ambassador to the United States and found its right to do so contradicted under the practice of "diplomatic immunity."

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—General Gregorie Semenov, former stampan of the Cossacks, whose financial entanglements led him to a New York jail, was termed a friend of the American troops in Siberia, in a statement published in the Chronicle today by David H. Farrows, president of the University of California. President Barrows was colonel of the Fifty-seventh infantry when that regiment guarded a railroad at Chita, Siberia, where there was a clash between Semenov's men and an American outpost in the summer of 1918.

The educator said, according to the Chronicle, "General Semenov is a human brute, a man to whom death is a jest, but he was the friend of the American troops in Siberia and just now is much misunderstood."

The interview quotes Dr. Barrows as saying that Semenov was "one of the greatest fighting leaders in the world, a man absolutely without fear." On one occasion, according to the statement, Dr. Barrows says by the Cossack leader wounded four times by grenades in an engagement with the bolsheviks. The charge that Semenov permitted American troops to be murdered was declared due to a misunderstanding resulting in the bitter feud between Semenov and Admiral Kolchak.

The Americans held the western sector, added the interview, and it was necessary for Semenov to send a train of troops across the road guarded by Uncle Sam's troops. Colonel Morrow, who with the others recognized Kolchak as commander, requested Semenov first to get Kolchak's approval. Semenov refused. His men were sent on and were stopped at the American sector by outposts. There was a dispute and firing broke out. A few Americans were killed. Practically all the Russian force was wiped out; they being mowed down almost to a man.

"I do not want to appear to defend Semenov, neither do I want to condemn him. He was a man of iron, both in courage and leadership. More than once he told me of his intense admiration for American troops. I know he was earnest in his good will and support of American forces and made every effort to enlist our aid before he accepted the offer of the Japanese."

"Whatever he did was with the sole aim of beating the bolshevik who he hated. I was with him when he advanced through Mongolian territory to Chita fighting for the allies. It was 150 miles and he forced his men through in ten days."

3 Boys Sleeping On Railroad Track Are Killed; One Escapes

PORT WORTH, Texas, April 15.—Officers today are trying to locate the relatives of three youths from Columbus, Ohio, who went to sleep on the Texas and Pacific tracks west of town and were killed at midnight last night. The boys are John Shoemaker, Carl Vance Riggs and Elmer Thiel. The fourth member of the party, Edward Miner, was awakened by the approaching train and escaped. The boys were bridge workers and were in search of employment. "We were going to a ranch in Arizona," said Miner this morning. "Riggs, who had already made four trips there, was our guide. He told us to sleep on rails—head on one and feet on the other. The jar of an approaching train would awaken us, he said." Miner refused to sleep on the rails, picking a place on the right of way.

MISSISSIPPI OVERFLOWS PEOPLE FLEE

Illinois and Missouri Suffer Loss of Millions—Relief Call Issued—Father of Waters Tears Down Levees and Dikes—Thousands of Acres Inundated.

CAIRO, Ill., April 15.—A break occurred in the levee at Grand Tower this morning, and the swollen Mississippi spread over 5,000 acres of cultivated land. The water is eleven feet deep in some places and all residents have fled to high ground.

CAIRO, Ill., April 15.—An estimated loss of more than $1,000,000 of crops is feared by farmers residing in four drainage districts north of the Mississippi river. An area of approximately 75,000 acres is being inundated slowly and all families in the district have left their homes. Hundreds of citizens are working to strengthen the levees, but most of them admit they are engaged in a losing fight. The river tore out a 200 foot section of the levee at Aldridge yesterday.

With the river continuing to rise, all preparations have been made for evacuating the threatened area. The several towns in the section are not expected to be flooded, although high water will surround them.

ST. LOUIS, April 15.—Instructions to make provisions for relief of flood sufferers in the territory south of St. Louis have been received at Jefferson barracks from the war department. Colonel H. E. Yates, commander of the military post, said today. Colonel Yates declared that soldiers would be kept in readiness to lend assistance to persons in the flooded districts and army tents and rations would be provided.

People Leave Homes.—(By the Associated Press)—Fighting the flood, every man in his turn, the men of Naples this morning lost their fight to Naples this morning from the grasp of the Illinois river. By noon today the entire populace of 400 families will be forced from home to encamp in army tents on the knoll of ground northward that Indian chiefs and General Grant made famous.

ST. LOUIS, April 15.—A terrific hail and wind storm caused damage estimated at $200,000 in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois yesterday. A sixty mile an hour gale uprooted trees, smashed plate glass windows, carried off roofs of dwellings, tore chimneys from houses and threw pedestrians against buildings. Flying debris injured a number of persons.

No Relief in Sight
MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 15.—Without venturing a prediction as to maximum stages, a weather bureau bulletin issued today forecast "an increased and indefinitely prolonged" flood stage in the Mississippi river as a result of excessive rains in the Ohio valley during the past 24 hours.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES FROM PACIFIC COAST TO EAST ARE RECOMMENDED

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Recommendations were submitted to the inter-state commerce commission today by one of the examiners on proposals by railroads for lower rates from points of origin in the east to Pacific coast ports than from the same ports of origin over shorter distances to Spokane, Mountain City, and Reno. The recommendations are based on railroad requests arising from a desire of carriers to meet water competition between eastern points and the Pacific coast. The recommendations, if adopted, would: Grant lower rates to the Pacific coast on iron and steel, tinoleum and a number of other hardware and druggists products.

Grant decreased rates on sulphur from Louisiana to the ports of the Western coast. Grant lower rates to the Pacific coast on coffee from Galveston and New Orleans. Grant lower rates on steel. The examiner also recommended that the commission grant lower rates on wool from the Pacific seaboard to eastern manufacturing centers than from inland points to the same destinations and that the Southern Pacific be given permission to maintain lower rates from California port cities to New York on canned goods and farm products than from interior points of the west to eastern cities.

"PLESIOSAURIAN GLIDE" LATEST WRINKLE TO SAVE JAZZ FROM SINKING TO OBLIVION

PHILADELPHIA, April 15.—Philadelphia dancing teachers rejoice at news from Buenos Aires that a new tango-like wrinkle, called the "plesiosaurian glide," has been invented and that three new tanzos have been dedicated to the Patagonian monster or which Argentine naturalists are on a still hunt. They danced today in saying that if the tango proves popular it will end the "shimmy" and its little sister, the "toddle."

The fact that the plesiosaurian glide is done to tango filled one teacher with hope. Once popularizing the tango, she said, and something artistic will have been accepted. Another teacher said he welcomed the innovation, but that the name proposed would have to be changed to fit the public fancy. When told of the plesiosaurian alleged to have been taken from prehistoric mud, the teacher suggested, "Mud tango glide."
