

BRINGING UP FATHER

CONDITION OF OREGON FRUIT DECLARED GOOD

PORTLAND, Ore., May 4.—Fruit bloom in Oregon is very backward, but made considerable advance during the week, says the weather bureau's weekly crop report. Cherries in the Willamette valley are approaching full bloom. Pears in the Rogue River valley are mostly past full bloom. Conditions have been generally favorable for pollination. Apple bloom is confined to the earlier species. The frost did some damage to strawberries in Umatilla county.

Seeding of spring wheat, oats and barley has progressed rapidly. Early sown spring grain is generally coming up well, but in southern wheat lands needs rain. Winter wheat is joining in southern counties, but is generally backward.

The temperature was generally below normal and freezing weather occurred several nights in the central and eastern counties. Snow fell in a few localities.

COAST LUMBER CUT SHOWS INCREASE

SEATTLE, May 4.—The 120 mills affiliated with the Pacific Coast Lumbermen's association during the week ending April 29, cut 84,012,572 feet of lumber, the highest mark since 1919, according to the association's weekly report, made public today. A new high sales record also was made, new business reaching the total of 103,341,049 feet, several million feet higher than the best record of the last 16 months, the report stated. Shipments totaled 94,196,131 feet.

The 120 mills operated at 97 per cent of normal capacity.

PORTLANDER WANTS TO FIND OUT WHO HE IS

OMAHA, Neb., May 4.—Randall Scott Perkins, 18, of Portland, Ore., is in Omaha to find out, if possible, who he really is. He arrived recently, making part of the way on freight trains, in an effort to find his parents or at least determine their identity, having heard that he was given in adoption here 17 years ago.

He received his name through adoption, H. A. Perkins of Portland being his adopted mother's fourth husband, according to his story. He said he had been unable to learn his real identity from Mrs. Perkins.
