

COUPLE TELL FRIENDS WHAT CHANGED THEM

It Is Hard to Tell Which of Us Is the More Enthusiastic over Tanlac, Says Husband.

"It is hard to tell who thinks the most of Tanlac, my wife or myself," said C. L. Johnson, well known carpenter and farmer living on R. F. D. 1, Box 72, Troutdale, Oregon. "My stomach and kidneys bothered me a lot. No food seemed to agree with me, and gas seemed to stay in my stomach all the time. My back was weak and numb and it was all I could do to get out of my chair at times. My sleep was all broken up and it took all my grit to pull through every day.

"My wife was troubled with chronic indigestion and wasn't eating hardly as much as I was. Well, Tanlac has done us both so much good we have fine appetites, eat anything, and feel better than in years. We both think a lot of Tanlac and are always telling our friends about it."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

ONLY SMALL DECLINE IN COST OF LIVING

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The average cost of living in the United States decreased 4.2 per cent in the period from December, 1921, to March, 1922 and 22.9 per cent from June, 1920 to last March, the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor announced today. The level of prices in March, however, according to the bureau's figures, was 69.9 per cent higher than in 1913.

Of four cities cited, Atlanta, Ga., reported the largest decline since June 1, 1920, with 22.4 per cent, and Birmingham since December, 1921, with 4.5 per cent. The statistics for San Francisco and Oakland show declines of 19.6 per cent and 3.7 per cent respectively in the two periods. In San Francisco and Oakland, the level was 75.5 higher in March than at the end of 1914.

BUILDING A MOUNTAIN FOR DAYS OF '49 SHOW

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—A "mountain" the height of a modern office building, will be one of the features in the quiting town of the big Days of '49 celebration in Sacramento May 23-28. Pine trees were transplanted on the site and will deck the slopes. Burro trails will lead around it, and by entering a tunnel, visitors can experience all the thrills of descending into a genuine gold mine. The mountain was built by the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Eat less meat if you feel Backsachy or have Bladder trouble—Salts fine for Kidneys.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

LANE COUNTY FARMERS SELL $200,000 WORTH PRODUCE, EUGENE PUBLIC MARKET

Eugene's new $3000 farmers' public market is tangible evidence of the success of selling farm crops direct to consumers. The market was started eight years ago by Pomona Grange, in the face of strong opposition on the part of Eugene merchants, especially the butchers. Now the business men are practically a unit in supporting the market. They raised the funds for putting up the new building, 80 per cent of the contributions coming from Eugene business men.

"Why this change of sentiment? "Eugene's public market has standardized quality," explains Will Ayres, market master, "stabilized prices, done away with annoying house-to-house peddling and relieved merchants of handling much perishable produce. Most of the money which the farmers take in at the market later finds its way into the merchants' tills, so why should they worry?"

One of the strongest supporters of the market is A. R. Gray, proprietor of Gray's Cash-and-Carry grocery, which is located just across the street from the farmers' market. When the latter was started, Park street—on which the market fronts—was little more than a back alley. Merchants subsequently opened their rear doors and put up signs to catch the crowds who came to trade at the market. Noting that many of the farmers hunted up a grocery store as soon as they sold their produce, Caswell and Whitton started a small store across the street from the market. This small beginning has grown into the grocery above referred to, which is one of the largest in the city.

Mr. Gray headed the committee which raised the money for the new building. He and his three merchant associates made a combined subscription of $850 for the new market building. The J. C. Penney store, which is three blocks from the market, gave $150 to the enterprise.

A charge of 25 cents per day is made for the use of each stall. This is collected by the market master, who each morning fixes the maximum price of all staple goods. Buyers find it a great advantage to shop where they can compare the offerings and pick out what suits them best, knowing that the price will be right. Producers on the other hand, are not bothered with unfair competition on the part of peddlers who through ignorance or lack of good judgment cut prices to an unprofitable figure.

Although a great variety of farm produce is sold at the market, vegetables form the bulk of the trade. The amount disposed of is surprising. One man sold 50 sacks of spuds in a single day and another's cantaloupe sales for the same time amounted to $65. The total annual sales at the market now approximate $200,000. The building is open Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during the greater part of the year and on Saturdays the rest of the time.

"There's a reason why the butchers fought us," remarked a farmer-merchant. "They were getting as much for cutting up an animal and handing it over the counter as we were for raising and feeding it and were naturally loath to let go of any such profitable business. We found out one thing, however, and that is that cutting up meat for the retail trade is a business in itself and one which can only be learned by long experience. The expert butcher not only learns how to slice a chop and carve a roast so it will look attractive, but he knows how to cut up a carcass so it will sell to the best advantage, with just the proper percentage of bone, fat and red meat. Now we hire meat cutters at so much per day or so much per animal to dispose of our hogs and beefs. All goods sold at the market

U. S. CHIEF STAFF IS BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Another courage from France joined America's unknown hero in Arlington national cemetery recently when the body of Major General James A. McAndrew, chief of staff of the American expeditionary forces, during all the days of its fighting was laid in the receiving vault with full military honors.

A squadron of cavalry and mounted band escorted the flag draped casket from the war college, where it had rested in state all night under guard of the bronzed khaki clad men of the line, to St. Patrick's church. Three long lines of foot troops stood at present arms as the gun carriage rolled to the steps and seven brother officers stepped forward to life the casket down and carry it to rest before the altar.

Behind the casket walked two high officers of the A. E. F. as pall bearers, and the widow of the dead soldier on the arm of General Pershing.

Secretary Weeks and all high officials and officers of the war department were present at the services and the department was closed until after noon in special mark of honor to the departed chief.

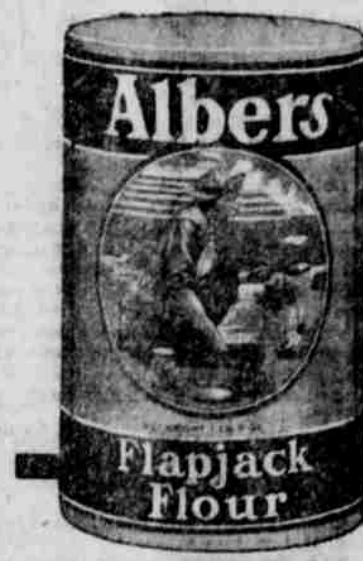

At Arlington "taps" from an army bugle, and the drumming salute of 13 guns told that another soldier had come to his rest.

Dealers often make wholesale purchases at the market, frequently cleaning up whatever the farmer has left after the day's business.

"There is practically no net profit in handling perishable farm produce," asserts a Eugene merchant. "Of course we make money on good stuff, well graded and packed, but most of it is not this kind and our losses on poor truck about balance our gains on good produce. Of course we make a profit on the goods we give in exchange, but why not let the farmer get the money out of his produce and save us the trouble? His cash will come to us, anyway. We certainly consider the public market a fine thing for all concerned."—Pacific Homestead.

Convenience and Economy

There is no fuel today that can equal gas for domestic cooking operations. It is cheaper, cleaner and QUICKER than any of its competitors.

Gas fires supply heat at just the right time and in proper amount. No other type of fuel can be so accurately controlled. When considered from the angle of economy, gas, which contains more heat units than any other fuel, will show a decided saving in cost, as there is no loss in its use.

Consider these facts before hot weather

No Disappointments

Millions of housewives use Calumet Baking Powder because of its dependability—because when they place their baking in the oven, they know it will "turn out" all right. They are confident of results because they know that no matter what they bake—pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins—the results will be the same—light, perfectly raised, wholesome foods.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

never disappoints. Don't prepare bakings with expensive ingredients and then have them spoiled because of an inferior leavener.

Have the same assurance that the majority of other housewives have.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Fithian Will Defeat Williams Voters Want Live Committeeman

O. H. FITHIAN
Republican Candidate For
NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN
ON MAY 19

PORTLAND, TOO, IS FOR FITHIAN

REPUBLICANS ALL OVER THE STATE ARE GETTING READY TO VOTE ON MAY 19 TO ELECT O. H. FITHIAN NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN, INSTEAD OF RALPH E. WILLIAMS, WHO HAS HAD THE JOB TOO LONG.

PORTLAND DAILY NEWS SAYS:
"It is a refreshing and healthy sign when a busy and successful man takes off his coat and runs for an office that is salary-less and of dubious honor."
"Such a man is O. H. FITHIAN, wholesale shoe merchant, candidate for the office of Republican National Committeeman. He is opposing Ralph E. Williams, who has served since 1908. Originally Williams was a Democrat."
"Fithian is the head of the Fithian-Barker Shoe Co., Portland. It is literally true this time that 'the office seeks the man.'"

MORNING OREGONIAN SAYS:
"That FITHIAN has organized a strong campaign and is conducting a vigorous battle, is evident to the public and it has undoubtedly caused uneasiness in the Williams camp."

PORTLAND TELEGRAM SAYS:
"Fithian, although a lifelong worker in the Republican party, has never sought political office."
"Williams is a professional politician who, after serving 14 years as national committeeman, wants still another term."
"In the 1912 national convention Williams was antagonistic to Theodore Roosevelt, despite the fact that the Oregon delegation was pledged to the Great American."
"Fithian promises to work in harmony with Oregon's delegation in Congress."
"Williams has never worked in harmony with the delegation."
