CHANGE OF LIFE WOMAN'S TRIAL

Proof That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is of Great Help at This Period

Metropolis, Illinois.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it is all it claims to be and has benefited me wonderfully. I had been sick for eight months with a trouble which confined me to my bed and was only able to be up part of the time, when I was advised by a friend, Mrs. Smith, to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was so much benefited by the use of these medicines that I was able to be up and about in two weeks. I was at the Change of Life when I began taking the medicines and I passed over that time without any trouble. Now I am hale and hearty, do all my housework, washing, ironing, scrubbing, and cooking, all there is to do about a house, and can walk two or three miles without getting too tired. I know of several of my neighbors who have been helped by your medicines."—Mrs. EMMA CULVER, 705 E. 7th St., Metropolis, Illinois.

Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Nervousness, irritability, heat flashes, headache and dizziness, are relieved by this splendid medicine.

On Saturday, May 27, Roseburg will be host to about 400 members of the Knights of Pythias lodge, who will gather here from all parts of southern Oregon for the regular district convention. This district includes Eugene, Cottage Grove, Roseburg, Grants Pass, Ashland, Medford and Klamath Falls. The grand lodge officers will be present and with the delegations from the cities mentioned and from other points within the district, the attendance is expected to be well over 400. The convention will differ from former meetings of this nature in that instead of putting on the work in the Knight degree such as has been done formerly a Page class of 100 members or more, the largest Page class in the history of the lodge in this district, will be initiated into the order. This work will be conducted by the grand lodge officers themselves. The program will include a number of fine features, chief of which will be a band concert by the famous "Dokie" band of Medford. Medford is to be well represented in this convention, and in addition to the band will have more than 150 delegates.—Roseburg News-Review.

"My Mother's Song" and "My Mother's Prayer" will be the special music with other interesting features. A short program will be given at the Sunday school hour. "The Old Fashioned Home" will be the theme of the evening sermon, which should interest every lover of homes, as a practical application of the theme of the day is needed. A new feature will be introduced at the evening service. An orchestra has been formed under the leadership of Ray Hagge, who recently returned from serving two years in the Navy Band. The orchestra will render several selections. The choir will also have some music in keeping with the special theme, "An Old Fashioned Home," by Mrs. Scougall and Miss Steiner, and the choir will sing, "Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me." THE X-RAY

The general public has little idea of the progress made in medical and surgical science during the past five or ten years. There is still a long way to go; but the advances made have placed the diagnosis and organic location of disease beyond the stage of experiment.

The science and art of X-ray diagnosis and treatment is now only 25 years old; during which time it has been developed by physicists, electric engineers, photographic chemists and physicians.

During the first 15 years progress was slow and knowledge gained was limited, by reason of imperfect equipment. During these 15 years the application of X-rays was restricted to the location of bullets, or the diagnosis of fractures or other diseases of bones. The interpretation of such pictures was relatively easy, and a physician with a small X-ray machine in his office was the only specialist.

The American invention of X-ray machines, such as the "interruptless transformers" and "thermionic tubes" prepared the way for great advances. The medical use of X-rays has been, during the past ten years, expanded to the diagnosis of all diseases which produce deformity in either the bones or the organs of the body.

Today, a roentgenologist can diagnose diseases of the chest and heart, the stomach and bowels, gall bladder and appendix, kidneys and bladder, the pelvic organs and even the brain; so that the treatment of such diseases is beyond the stage of guesswork and is based on exact knowledge.

It will be readily seen that a physician or a surgeon cannot devote time enough to the medical and surgical application of X-ray science to become proficient in it, and also in his own work. To fill this need a new specialist has arisen in this new branch of medicine, which is so intricate as to demand the entire time and study of the one engaged in it—the "roentgenologist"—the X-ray specialist.

The X-ray specialist has a ground work of medical science elaborated by years of training in his special line of work.

The public is not benefited by X-ray pictures. Their health problems are concerned only with the interpretation of the results of an X-ray examination by a specialist in that work. The work of the roentgenologist forms only a part (though an important part) of the whole examination and diagnosis.

X-ray equipment may be purchased by anyone with the means to buy it; but possession of such equipment does not imply ability as a roentgen specialist, or the knowledge needed to make X-ray examinations which are of value to the patient, any more than the possession of a high-powered racing car would make a man a successful racing driver; even though he were expert in the mechanical knowledge of automobiles.

Grave danger attaches to X-ray work done by unskilled. Inadequate machinery may be purchased and the representation made that it is adequate and that the possessor has the skill to use it to advantage.

There are many so-called X-ray laboratories elsewhere in this region; but they cannot and should not be expected to furnish material aid to the patient.

Between Portland, Oregon, and Sacramento, California, there are only two places where competent X-ray service, furnished by an X-ray specialist skilled by years of training and with adequate equipment, can be had. These are at the Sanitarium in Ashland and at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Medford. Dr. Lincoln Kallen is the roentgenologist in both places. Adv. 4
