

Y. M. C. A. RALLY WILL BE HELD IN CITY MONDAY

Preparations have been concluded by the Medford Y. M. C. A. committee for two meetings the coming week which will mark an epoch in the "Y" activities in this city. Beginning tomorrow, Sunday, the Jackson County Y. M. C. A. Training Institute begins its sessions at Ashland, and on Monday and Wednesday evenings of the coming week, meetings will be held at the Presbyterian church in Medford, at which will appear speakers of more than local reputation.

On Monday evening, Mr. F. C. Knapp, state secretary of county work, in California, and John H. Rudd, state secretary of county work for Oregon, will be the speakers. Mr. Knapp will take for his topic of discussion, "The County Work Idea," and Mr. Rudd will discourse on the "Importance of a Boys' Group."

All who are interested in the development of the Y. M. C. A. work are urged to attend these meetings. In addition to the program of speaking there will be a musical program furnished by the Geo. Andrews studio which will add pleasure to the meetings. Mrs. George Andrews is taking personal charge of the musical program, which assures the high standard of entertainment to be furnished.

No admission will be charged at either meeting, and a general invitation is extended to all to attend.

ALICE IN HUNGER LAND AT RIALTO THIS WEDNESDAY

"One of the finest sights I saw on my trip through the Near East last summer, was the American flag floating over more than 12,000 children, safe in our great Alexandropol orphanage," states J. J. Handsaker. "One day, Alice of 'Alice in Hungerland,' climbed with me to the top of the great tower in the Russian church and looked over the parade grounds where 6,000 of these children were drawn up to greet her as the representative of the one nation in the world that has a heart big enough to care for the waifs of the Near East. As those 6,000 orphan children, lovely, attractive, promising children arose and saluted the flag which she waved to them there was born in us who saw the sight a new love for the country of the stars and stripes."

"While 'Alice in Hungerland' has many beautiful scenes, the one which moves me most is this one at Alexandropol. I hope every adult in Medford who can possibly do so will see the free showing of 'Alice' at the Rialto on Wednesday. As the school children have already seen the picture and as the capacity of the Rialto is quite limited I am asking that children do not attend except when accompanied by parents and then only when it is necessary that they come."

The Reptilian Vow of the Ku Klux Klansmen

To show the absolute unfitness of any member of the Ku Klux Klan to be a policeman, constable, sheriff, magistrate, public prosecutor or jurymen, or to hold any other position connected with the administration or enforcement of law, nothing more should be needed than this oath, which every Klansman must take upon admission to the order:

I swear that I will keep secret to myself a secret of a Klansman when same is committed to me in the sacred bond of Klansmanship; the crime of violating this solemn oath, treason against the United States of America, rape and malicious murder alone excepted.

Note that but three out of many felonies are excepted, and no misdemeanors, the list of which is very numerous.

So if a Klansman charged with crime, or actually under arrest, should admit to a Ku Klux Klan policeman, constable, jailer or public prosecutor that he had been guilty of theft, burglary, robbery, forgery, incendiarism, train wrecking, manslaughter, counterfeiting, bribery, bomb throwing, mayhem, bigamy, child stealing, embezzlement, perjury or any one or more of a host of other crimes, the Klansman's oath would be a bar to revelation of the confession.

In other words, the Klansman oath would in any such case prevent a Ku Klux Klan policeman or other officer of the law, to whom such admission might be made, from performing his sworn duty as such officer.

Accordingly the folly, absurdity and danger of allowing any such public officer to become or remain a member of the Ku Klux Klan should be clear to any person of common sense.

Note also that the Klansman oath even excepts every other sort of murder than "malicious."

Our civil code defines murder as the "unlawful killing of a human being, with malice aforethought." But, aside from any manifestation of deliberate intent, the law implies malice when little provocation appears for the homicide, or the circumstances "show an abandoned or malignant heart."

And the law specifically declares that any killing, while committing or trying to commit arson, rape, robbery, burglary or mayhem, is murder in the first degree, although there may be no indication whatever of actual personal malice toward the victim.

Now why does the Klansman oath make that peculiar exception of "malicious murder"?

Is it for the reason that hooded "night riders," when they commit a felony by breaking into a home at night—with intent to take out and infamously mistreat some man or woman—know that they may be fired upon in self-defense, and mean to return the fire, and so perhaps murder some person or persons, in the effort to carry out their lawless purpose?

Any such killing is first degree murder in the eyes of the law. So it is little wonder that the Klansman oath binds each member to keep secret the crime of murder.—Sacramento Bee.

MAYOR PRAISES WORK OF SACRED HEART HOSPITAL

The National Hospital Day exercises and open house at the Sacred Heart hospital yesterday were attended by a large number of Medford people and a number of people from rural districts who took advantage of yesterday's opportunity to inspect the building; one of the finest hospitals in the state.

An address by Mayor C. E. Gates, speaker of the day, was one of the features of the program and in it he impressed upon the persons present the deep appreciation which they should feel for the great public asset represented by the hospital. He spoke of his own appreciation for the hospital and stated that practically every member of his family excepting himself, had at one time or another been a patient there. He lauded the institution for its excellent and satisfactory service and the sisters for their kindness and patience.

The crisis which tested the worth of the institution came three years ago when the flu was at its height here and when the city authorities were granted the use of the top floor of the hospital for the care of flu patients. Some of the patients had to be forced to go to the hospital and thanked the authorities for talking them there after they reached a recovery. At one time, according to the speaker, 84 flu patients were taken care of on the top floor of the hospital, and not a single death occurred among the city patients.

Mr. Gates urged the people to support the institution with such a record and visualized the circumstances should another epidemic occur and should Medford be without the hospital.

Other parts of the program were vocal selections by Mrs. J. C. Hayer and Mrs. V. Meldo Hillis, a harp solo by Miss Patricia Miksche and vocal and instrumental selections by girls from St. Mary's academy and the orchestra from the local high school.

Following the program, visitors

Noted Men's Concert Group Coming to Chautauqua

Remarkably Gifted Musical Organization Is the New York City Concert Quartet Which Will Appear Here as Delightful Chautauqua Feature on the Last Day

Lovers of really good music have a genuine treat in store when the New York City Concert Quartet comes to Chautauqua the last day. This noted organization, composed of four of New York's most gifted vocalists, presents a program of classical and popular numbers, given with an artistry which stamps it as one of America's finest male quartets. The personnel consists of John Besse, first tenor; Albert Lufrio, second tenor and pianist; Artella Dickson, baritone, and Albert Erier, bass. Their program will satisfy the most fastidious, for not only are all solo artists of note in the New York musical fields, but the ensemble effects are given with a delicacy of shading and blending that is most remarkable. They have exceptionally fine voices and each has enjoyed extensive experience in oratorio and concert fields. The Scotch and negro impersonations of Mr. Dickson will prove an enjoyable feature of the program. He is a southerner, having been born and raised in Louisiana, where he learned some of the negro folk songs he uses on the program. His art, however, is by no means confined to his interpretation of the Scotch and negro songs.

They have a surprisingly varied repertoire and their Chautauqua programs will include some classical numbers of most difficult interpretation, an abundance of popular songs and some very interesting musical character presentations. The solo work will also prove a most enjoyable feature for such an artist of distinction and real musical attainment. If you love real quartet harmony, furnished by real voices, better be on hand at the Chautauqua when the New York City Concert Quartet comes to town.

Children in Spring Time Mrs. C. Osborn, 7812 Hillside Rd., Cleveland, O., writes: "My granddaughter was troubled with a cough for nearly two years. She took Foley's Honey and Tar and her cough is now gone. It loosened the phlegm so she could raise it easily." Foley's Honey and Tar is just what children should have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles" and tight, wheezy breathing. Be sure to get Foley's. It checks croup and whooping cough, too. Sold everywhere.
