

WENT BACK TO WORK INSTEAD OF TO COLORADO

Burkank Mati Says Tanlac Actually Put Him Back On His Feet In Five Day's Time.

"It is very seldom I get enthused over anything as much as I am over Tanlac," said W. D. Graves, 1121 San Fernando Bldg., Burbank, Cal., a well-known transfer man.

"For five years I was in such a bad fix I could scarcely eat a thing and felt tired and sluggish all the time. I was so nervous the least excitement upset me four hours, and I never got a good night's sleep. Nothing I took seemed to help me, and finally I got so bad off I got ready to go to Colorado, hoping that might benefit me.

"But I saw a Tanlac statement, which so impressed me I bought a bottle, and in five days felt so much better I actually went back to work instead of going to Colorado. Tanlac has now built me up twelve pounds in weight and I am a well man. At one time, four members of our family were taking Tanlac, and it has been splendid for all of us." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Adv.

WATER TURNED IN LOCAL IRRIGATION NOW A REALITY

The vision of local progressive agriculturists has become a reality. After a ten year struggle for water on the part of the progressive farmers and after an equal period of opposition by the less numerous reactionary individuals the 60 mile main canal of the Medford irrigation district is complete and is carrying water for its full length. The canal makes it possible to thoroughly irrigate the 9700 acres of land included in the district and is carrying a head of water from Lake Creek to Central Point, following the contour of the foothills on both sides of the valley.

The final dry gaps in the canal were filled with water yesterday, May 14th, one day prior to the date predicted by Chief Engineer Cowgill. The canal is not yet carrying a full head of water as a considerable amount of puddling work is necessary to seal leaks which appear as the canal is filled. However work is progressing rapidly with a number of crews engaged and a full head is expected in the near future.

The flume which will direct water into the lateral supplying residents on Siskiyou Heights has not yet been completed and as yet no water is obtained there. It is understood that the lateral will be carrying water in a short time however.

FIRE CROSS BURNS ON ROXY ANNE

A fiery cross of generous dimensions and visible for miles burned on the northern shoulder of Roxy Ann last night from about 8:30 until after ten o'clock. Numerous excited persons jumped into their autos and drove in the general direction of the cross, thinking that it was situated near the reservoir. Others took field glasses and gazed intently in an easterly direction hoping to ascertain how the light was produced. The majority of the latter persons declare that it was produced through the use of a large number of colored fuses such as are used for railroad warning signals.

It is the general opinion of the people who viewed the cross that it was in some way connected with the Ku Klux Klan.

King Alexander has received from the Serbians in Macedonia, a shirt of pure silk, woven on a hand loom from a mediaval design that now is nearly extinct.

U. S. INVITED TO HAGUE MEET

ence ends has been informally approved.

The sub-commission on Russian affairs met today to vote on this and the other features of the plan arrived at in the private conversations participated in by Mr. Lloyd George and representatives of the four other inviting powers.

The Hague conference would consist of two commissions of experts, one for the Russians and the other for the remaining powers participating at Genoa, but it is extremely doubtful whether the Russians will consent to the plan as it now stands.

Russia Objects.

While the British delegation has intimated that the two commissions would co-operate and be on an equal footing, the French and Belgian delegations supporting their view, give the impression that the Russian panel would not attend all the sessions of the full conference. For this reason, the Russians are said to look upon the project as an attempt to place them in a position of inferiority.

The sub-commission at its meeting today, will attempt to overcome this difficulty.

M. Tchitcherin and his associates have constantly insisted that Russia cannot tolerate that her affairs be discussed by any commission in which she is not represented on a basis of equality with other nations. In other words, they say they are not playing the role of a conquered nation and will not be treated as inferiors.

Soviet Leader Protests.

Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, the head of the soviet delegation, has addressed a letter to Signor Schanzer, president of the conference, protesting against meetings by the five inviting powers to discuss the Russian proposal for a mixed commission without inviting the Russians to participate.

He demands immediate convocation of the political commission in order to enable Russia to develop her proposition.

The league's experts have just reported this to the league council, which is meeting here.

The Russians added that, if the Genoa conference failed, Moscow would continue its policy of opposition to the league on the theory that Russia could not expect anything from an organization composed chiefly of states with which it had been unable to reach an agreement. The league officials here regarded these unofficial overtures for peace from the bolsheviks as significant, in view of the bitter opposition of Moscow to the organization in the past.

Jugo-Slav Tamburicans Coming to Chautauqua

Most Unique Musical Organization of Native Musicians Feature Surprising Repertoire—Will Play on Varied Sizes of Native Tamburica

The Jugo-Slav Orchestra, playing their native Tamburicans, and singing the folk songs and melodies of their homeland, will charm Chautauqua folks with the intrinsic beauty of their music on the third day. The Tamburica combines the best qualities of the mandolin, guitar, ukelele and other similar instruments, yet it is surprisingly superior to all of them in beauty of tone and in volume. The young men play a half dozen sizes of the instrument, the largest of which is rather suggestive of the bass violin and the smallest, is no larger than the Hawaiian "uke." A surprising repertoire is given, for the clever artists not only play all the native songs, but offer as well standard operatic numbers, symphonic arrangements together with the light popular numbers of the day.

EIGHT BANDITS ROUTED

where four other masked men were waiting in an automobile.

Shoot at Conductor

When Conductor Madigan thrust his head out of a vestibule of one of the passenger coaches to ascertain what had happened, a member of the gang opened fire. Meanwhile Messenger Stewart had thrown open the door of the baggage car. When Stewart saw that Madigan was in danger, he killed with one shot the bandit who had fired at the conductor. Stewart then wheeled and sent another bullet at four robbers who were advancing on the baggage and mail cars. One, apparently hit, staggered and shouted to his comrades. Then all seven of them turned and scurried to two automobiles and sped west in the cars.

While the holdup was in progress, a freight train pulled up at the rear of the limited just as the exchange of shots took place. Without hesitating to learn what was transpiring the freight crew drove back to James, where, by long distance telephone they notified the sheriff's office in Tucson.

The train consisted of mail, baggage and express cars, two day coaches, a tourist coach, a Phoenix sleeper, a coast sleeper, an observation car and a diner.

Sheriff McDaniel and a posse were in pursuit of the band and capture of the seven was expected today.
