DETECTIVES ON TRAIL OF R. VALENTINO

Secret Service Men Probe Screen Star's Marriage to Miss Hudnut in Mexicali—Real Name of Girl in Case Divulged—Formerly a Ballet Dancer.

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—Two detectives representing the Los Angeles county district attorney's office were on the way to Mexicali, Lower California, this morning to investigate the reported marriage there of Rudolph Valentino, motion picture actor and Miss Winifred Hudnut. District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine and Deputy District Attorney McClelland abandoned announced plans of going in person to conduct the investigation.

The detectives, it was stated at the district attorney's office, were to stop at Palm Springs, Riverside county, and ascertain whether Valentino and Miss Hudnut stopped at a hotel there last Tuesday night, upon their return from Mexicali.

The name of Wilifred Shaughnessy used by the new bride of Valentino whose wedding at Mexicali last Saturday prompted the county and federal investigation now under way, is her real maiden name. It was learned from her friends in Hollywood. She is the stepdaughter of Richard Hudnut, New York perfume manufacturer. Her mother, formerly the wife of a Salt Lake City man, later married Edward DeWolfe, brother of Elsie DeWolfe, then a stage favorite. The DeWolfes went to San Francisco where Winifred's mother became an interior decorator and a year ago she married Richard Hudnut. Winifred at one time attained some popularity in the Metropolitan ballet New York and later went to South America with the Kostoffs in a dancing act.

More recently under the name of Natacha Rambova she held the position of art director in motion pictures at Hollywood, in which occupation she was engaged at the time of her marriage in Mexicali to Valentino.

Valentino is believed to be in Los Angeles now but Miss Hudnut passed through Salt Lake City last night for New York where her father, Richard Hudnut is a manufacturer of perfume.

At the district attorney's office, emphasis was laid upon the "intent" of Valentino.

"If he left this country a few days after getting a divorce," said Mr. Clelland, "was married in Mexico and then returned to the benefit of the laws here, he clearly intended to evade the law here. It makes no difference if the woman he married has left for the east."

The district attorney concurred in the informal opinion recently given by judges of the Los Angeles superior court that Miss Acker, from whom Valentino obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce January 10, 1922, would be his legal wife until the decree was made final a year after that date.

Valentino who, at the trial of the divoice action, gave his true name as Rudolpho Guglielmi, has been seen in public only once since his marriage to Miss Hudnut. That was yesterday night at Pomona, thirty miles east of Los Angeles when he escorted his bride to the eastbound train she boarded there. Movie fans recognized him at the depot. It is understood the actor has engaged legal counsel although there is no formal charge against him.

Federal authorities, however, have followed suit in the matter of the investigation of the actor's marriage. Frank M. Sturgis, one of the department of justice, frankly stated the

FIND HUMAN SKULL CALIFORNIA, THAT IS 25,000 YRS. OLD

PALO ALTO, Cal., May 19.—A human skull which is believed by Dr. Bailey Willis of the geology department of Stanford university here to be about 25,000 years old, was found today by Bruce Seymour, one of Dr. Willis students, imbedded in the bank of San Francisquito creek near the old home of the late United States Senator Leland Stanford, founder of the university. Dr. Willis arrived at his conclusion regarding the age of the skull from a study of the rock formation in which it was found.

The skull will be sent to the Smithsonian institution for further study.

According to Dr. Willis the skull is that of an Neanderthal man, which means a species living in one of the periods covered by the transition of the human race from the primitive to the present stage. It suggests the powerful neck and shoulders and the thick bony eye ridges of the primitive man.

Dr. Willis is of the opinion that the skull belonged to one of a tribe of wanderers who came from Asia while it was connected by land with Alaska and possibly the region further south.

The investigation showed, the federal agents said, that thousands of barrels of choice whiskeys and wines had been shipped into Seattle by boat from the islands of Puget Sound and trans-shipped here by railroad to Portland, Ore., San Francisco, Chicago, Kansas City and eastern points.

The Dutch minister, on behalf of Holland, voiced the assurance that everything possible would be done by the Netherlands to facilitate success of the meeting at The Hague. The keynote of all the remarks at the final session was one of friendship and earnest desire to help Russia, but Premier Lloyd George pointed out to the Russian soviet representatives the unfortunate effect their famous memorandum had had on the world and told them that if they wished for success at The Hague they had better abandon their eloquent presentation of their doctrine.

Two Government Boats Driven On Rocks Near New York City—Giant Liner Aquitania in Danger—Worst Storm of the Year Rages On Atlantic Coast

NEW YORK, May 19.—Driven by vicious eastern gale, two government ships, Eagle boat No. 17 and the army steamer General John W. Wilkens pounded ashore on Long Island early today and are reported to be breaking up.

The gale which sprang up on the heels of a terrific rain storm about a. m. wrought havoc along the coast. Even the giant Aquitania, inbound from Europe, made hard sailing of her drive along the island and at one time coast guards reported there was a fear she might get too close and come to grief on one of the many hidden bars.

The General Wilkins pounded in on the rocks at Orient Point. Soon after she struck her crew was off the ship and she had been given up as lost.

The Eagle boat, newly attached to the "dry" navy, struck a hidden shifting bar one mile off Amagansett. Her crew of sixty men was rescued in a series of thrilling dashes on the surface on a wave-submerged raft by which the men lashed themselves.

Commander Ricketts of the Eagle boat, hunting rum runners, ran into a heavy fog shortly after midnight. Then the gale tore down and Ricketts decided to run for safety. Off the Amagansett bar, however, the little boat struck.

BELFAST, May 19.—By the Associated Press.)—The terrorists began their work again early today. Two hours before the expiration of the curfew period incendiary blazes were started in different parts of the city and before nine o'clock six buildings were on fire.

Soon after midnight a number of armed men attacked the barracks of the special constabulary in Dock street and a fierce conflict ensued. It is reported that three motor cars were used to remove the wounded. None of the constables was injured.

The staff at the offices of a distillery which was among the burning buildings, were forced to face the wall and were covered with pistols while the raiders carried out the work of destruction. After a time, however, the guard told the office workers to make themselves comfortable and handed around cigarettes.

The premises involved in the incendiary attack included principally establishments conducted by wholesale concerns.

In one case the incendiaries entered a motion picture theater, held up the char woman and sprinkled the place with gasoline. The caretaker was struck on the head by the butt of a revolver, but escaped and gave the alarm.

The total damage, it is estimated, will reach many thousands of pounds.
