For the first time this season the public market got away to a good start this morning with the first supply of home grown carrots, turnips and beets, and the sale of 600 pounds of home grown peas. There was also a good supply of fine home grown strawberries which sold at 10 cents and 12½ cents a box. All this stuff and other reasonable supplies went early, which is a warning to market patrons to visit the market early if they wish to enjoy its advantages. The market is now open three mornings a week, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Here's some political dope contained in the Grants Pass Courier, pertaining to Medford affairs: "The removal of Mayor C. E. Gates of Medford from the state fair board by Governor Olcott, has raised a storm of protest in Medford, says Arthur Brown, who came from there this morning. The feeling there is that Mr. Olcott has hurt his chances in Jackson county in the November election. There is also some opinion expressed there that the move was made in order to bring Mr. Gates out as an independent candidate for governor this fall and split the opposition, giving Mr. Olcott a little chance for the governorship."

Indications now point to Ashland's Fourth of July being the most pretentious ever attempted in the southern part of the state. It is possible that four Oregon counties may participate. A band contest is likely to be a big feature, with Roseburg, Grants Pass, Medford and Ashland bands joining in the competition. Invitations have also been extended to Klamath Falls, Weed, Dunsmuir and other northern California towns. In the event of arrangements now pending materializing, it is likely that Ashland will welcome the Fourth of July enthusiasts with a more original and varied program than has been attempted in many years.—Ashland Tidings.

BATES ON PAYROLL ALL WINTER LONG

Oregon man Says Tanlac Built Him Up 25 Pounds and Kept Him On the Job By Completely Overcoming His Long-Standing Stomach Trouble.

"Tanlac not only built me up twenty-five pounds, but it actually kept me on the payroll all winter," said C. T. Bates, 470 Umattilla Ave., Portland, Ore., employee of the West Side Lumber Co.

"I suffered so bad from stomach trouble and run-down condition for three years that even the slightest foods gave me indigestion. Gas on my stomach gave me awful cramps and my heart palpitated so I could hardly breathe. I had dreadful headaches and dizzy spells, and my kidneys bothered me too, with such sharp pains in my back I could scarcely bend over. Nothing helped me and I got so weak I had to give up my job when winter came, for I didn't have strength to stand the cold."

"When I read how Tanlac helped other people with troubles like mine, I decided to try it. I improved from the very first, now feel fine all the time and will always have a good word to say for Tanlac. It's a world beater."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Adv.
