PEAR PRICE ON DRY BASIS WILL BE $40 PER TON

SALEM, Ore., June 15.—Pear prices in California will be $75. per ton for number 1's and $40 per ton for number 2's, according to a dispatch received by the Oregon Growers' Cooperative association from the California Pear Growers' association, who named prices Wednesday. In addition to these prices, pears that are sold on a dry basis will net the growers $40 per ton. It is believed that these quotations will prevail throughout California this season. The Oregon pear situation is the cause for considerable speculation both in regard to price and possible tonnage. Reports coming to the association indicate considerable spotting in various pear producing sections, particularly in the Willamette valley. It is thought that with the bright prospects in the Rogue River valley the average tonnage for the state will be about the same as in previous years.
