KU KLUX THREAT CONDEMNED BY ALL BUT 2 ATTORNEYS

We, the undersigned attorneys of the Jackson County Bar, unqualifiedly condemn the threat against his honor, F. M. Calkins, circuit judge of the First Judicial district, contained in a letter received by him on June 10th and published in the Medford Mail Tribune on the same date, as cowardly and contemptible, and a menace to the lawful and orderly administration of justice, and as subversive of the most vital principles of American constitutional government which are founded on a judiciary untrammeled by coercion from any source, and we request a publication of these sentiments by all the newspapers in Jackson county.

In explanation of the above it should be stated that there are 28 attorneys in Medford, and all but two, Frank Newman and O. C. Boggs, who were and are still out of the state and could not be called upon, had the above named petition for signature laid before them. The above twenty-four signatures were obtained, leaving only two local lawyers who refused to sign.

ALBANY, Ore., June 16.—Friends and relatives of C. C. Dickson of Shed, one of Oregon's most widely known and extensive Jersey breeders, have instituted a search for him. He has been missing since Friday afternoon, having been seen last in Albany, where he was transacting business. Before leaving he deeded all his property to his wife.

Dickson is believed by his relatives to have wandered away. He was suffering from after effects of influenza, it is said. Fears for his safety are entertained. He is a member of the Shedd Masonic and I. O. O. F. lodges and of the R. A. M. at Albany.

TOMORROW!

A Mammoth Entertainment!

That Gives a New Meaning to

"SATURDAY NIGHT"

What Did You Do Last "Saturday Night?"

Compare it with the "Saturday Night" Cecil De Mille gives you in this great picture!

HERE YOU WILL SEE:

—the pretty daughter of the washerwoman, who is sick to death of drudgery and cotton stockings, and yearns for French perfumes and a maid to match.

—one of the lilies in life's hot-houses, who "toils not, neither does she spin," and consequently desires to darn socks for some poor and handsome conqueror of her heart.

They both get what they want, and the excitement is on right away.

The poor girl tries marriage with the son of her mother's wealthiest customer. The rich girl tries it with her chauffeur. How do these marriages work out? That's the story, pictured only as Cecil B. De Mille knows how.

See with him the different kinds of Saturday Nights! One kind is a gay country house party, dancing around a mirrored and illuminated marble bathing pool.

Another kind is Coney Island going full blast. And through an accident the lovers are caged in the Big Wheel all night.

The gorgeousness of the settings, the latest fashion and luxury of the dresses, the artistic smartness of the whole photoplay will delight you.
