CHANGING LAWS IS BETTER THAN ATTACKING COURT

CLEVELAND, O., June 28.—Organized labor should answer recent decisions of the supreme court with a campaign to secure the enactment of a law which will protect it from suits for damages by employers instead of denouncing the laws, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers stated in a bulletin issued today.

The Coronado decision holding that labor unions are sueable for damages is a challenge to the workers to seek legislative protection for their unions similar to that given labor organizations in Great Britain, the bulletin contends.

"The Coronado decision opens a wide gateway for all sorts of unwarranted attacks upon labor organizations," states the bulletin. "It invites unscrupulous employers, engaged in a lockout or strike, to provoke damage to their property as the plaintiffs in this case did, and then to sue the funds of the labor unions by a suit for damages against the union."

"Chief Justice Taft cites numerous congressional enactments expressly exempting labor unions from excise taxes, in order to draw the deduction that such recognition of the legality of unions also implies that they may be sued and their funds attached in claims arising from acts committed by their members. Yet this comparison falls entirely when applied to common law partnerships and other such organizations which are admittedly legal, but which are not sueable for the wrongful acts of their individual members."

"Such decisions as the Coronado are doing more to discredit the law and courts in the eyes of the working people than all the so-called radical agitators in the country."

START MOVE TO RESTORE RATES ON PACIFIC PHONES

PORTLAND, Ore., June 28.—Newton McCoy and T. M. Kerrigan, public service commissioners elected recently when former members were recalled, indicated they planned to act today on a resolution which Kerrigan had prepared to restore the rates of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company which were in effect before they were raised by the former commission. Former Chairman Fred Williams and Fred Buchtel, commissioner, were recalled as a result of agitation over the increased telephone rates.

Kerrigan's resolution provided that the commission withdraw an answer filed by the former commission to a suit pending in the Multnomah circuit court seeking to have the order of the former commission increasing the telephone rates, set aside. The new commissioners said that if the former commission's order is invalidated it will restore the former rates and patrons can recover the difference paid the telephone company.
