Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry.

The eagle screamed at Ashland on the 4th inst., but could not be heard for jazz orchestras, quacking kids, and clattering ads, Lithia park looking lovely on a background of tin. Early returns indicate that nobody broke his neck on the Specific Diway, in spite of earnest efforts. There was much sweating, but not with the free will and accord of the sweatee. Dancing raged on all hands, and a large percentage of the feet. Here the Galshevika predominated, with angular neoplasms faintly showing through flimsy crepe.
11,678 mothers had their skirts torn loose from moorings amidship by tired infants demanding an ice cream cone.
Some old fashioned folks thought there should have been some hair raising orations by leatherlunged orators, but this could not be, as the speaker might let his Americanism get the best of his judgment, and ruffle up the feelings of the numberless organizations who maintain their by-laws are more sacred than the Declaration of Independence, because they were written with a typewriter instead of a goose quill pen. There was a vivid display of commercialism and fireworks.

The state of Oregon will hang two men Friday at the end of a rope. They were in a jailbreak in which a sheriff was killed. The criminal who fired the fatal shot paid the same penalty—but two more whose guilt is largely public opinion. The victims of legalized grownsomeness have run complete-will be done again. After the barbaric ceremony, the commonwealth ought to be able to hold its head a little higher.

PLAIN HOME FOLKS.

IT IS REFRESHING, in this super-heated atmosphere, to picture President Harding back in his home town. What a relief it must be after the homeless torridity of Washington.

"Plain home folks," that is the characterization of the Hardings by the author of the "Mirrors of Washington." The characterization is correct. No president less ostentatious, less inclined to place himself above the average run of his fellow citizens, has ever occupied the White House.

Mr. Harding has a bungalow mind. This phrase has been credited to former President Wilson. Not intended as a kindly comment perhaps, but a correct one, and not in the last analysis damaging. For the president's mental processes are typical of the rank and file, no brown stone front, no towers and turrets, not even a second story, but spread close to the ground, homey, comfortable, suited to average needs and average intellectual resources.

The comparison which this appraisal invites, places President Wilson intellectually among the sky scrapers, but he never enjoyed a home-coming! He was never plain folks. A great man, but always a lonely one, detached somehow from that humanity, to which his mind rather than his heart, was so devoted.

As a result President Harding personally enjoys a popularity which President Wilson never enjoyed and President Wilson, through the sheer force of his mentality and moral leadership, enjoyed a power and prestige that Mr. Harding can never expect.

All of which demonstrates, no doubt, that there is a law of compensations, as well as infinite variety, in the types which the American people choose to represent them.

SECRETARY NAVY DENBY GREETED BY JAP ROYALTY

TOKIO, July 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Japanese royalty this morning received Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby, and visiting members of the Annapolis class of 1881, and their wives in an audience at the imperial palace.

Charles Beecher Warren, American ambassador to Japan, presented Secretary Denby, Senator O. E. Weller of Maryland, Admiral Joseph Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet and 36 other men of the party to the regent, Crown Prince Hirohito, The Empress Sadako then received the wives of members of the party, thirty in number, who were presented by Mrs. Warren, wife of the ambassador.

The audience was quite formal.
The regent exchanged a few words with Secretary Denby and Senator Weller and the empress spoke briefly to Secretary and Mrs. Denby and to Senator Weller. The others simply approached the royal personages in the usual way, in accordance to their rank, and backed away without speaking.

After the imperial audience, members of the Denby party were entertained at luncheon by Baron Shimpei Goto, mayor of Tokio, then drove to Akasaka palace where Baron Nobuki Makino, crown member of the house of peers, entertained at tea on behalf of the imperial family.

WOMAN 112 YEARS OLD DEFENDS FLAPPERS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 5.—(I. N. S.)—If the judgment of 112 years is worth anything, the flappers of today are not the terrible beings they are sometimes represented to be.

In fact, 112 years of life say the much-studied young ladies of the present is "just about all right." Mrs. Sarah Duffy, born in England in 1810, is speaking:

"The flappers' dresses are a little short, but I guess they are pretty good girls—about as good as the girls ever were."

Mrs. Duffy came to America when she was a little girl. The passage took three months. Her husband, Thomas, died thirty years ago. She attributes her longevity to "just natural living." Asked for a reason, she replied:

"Oh, nothing—just worked! I always did eat what I wanted. I wasn't particular."

LITTLE ROBERT.

YOU'VE heard of little Robert Reed, who would not use the filthy weed. He figured in a moral poem that once was known in every home; when sinful children chewed or smoked, the name of Robert was invoked by parents stern, who pointed out the merits of that shining scent. This Robert, whom we knew so well, now serves a sentence in a cell. He viewed the Volstead act with scorn, and sold him liquor by the horn. "Ah yes," he said when interviewed, "I've pulled some boners, raw and crude.
I've tried all kinds of stunts in crime, in many jails I've served my time. I'm jugged just now for vending beer, and recently I shovled the queer. But I can say with pride, indeed, I've never used the filthy weed. I robbed a church some years ago, and touched a blind man for his dough; I've sold gold bricks in hay-seed towns, and swiped a tailor's handmedowns, and broke the laws that govern speed, but I've abjured the filthy weed." I said to him, "You are, in truth, a strangely moral, stainless youth.
For harmless pranks, such as you've named, no mettled youngster can be blamed, but it is sickening, indeed, when springalds touch the filthy weed."

COMMUNICATIONS

Defends Thomas' Stand

To the Editor: I am not in the habit of mixing in public questions through newspaper communications and the recent dispute for and against the K. K. K.'s or D. O. A.'s or whatever they are, I consider particularly deplorable. Nothing ever before has done our town so much harm—friends separated, business being ruined because of it.

However, the remarks of one who signs himself "Another Republican (TR) Voter" in a letter printed in the Mail Tribune, June 29, under the caption of "Regarding Judge Race," arouses my ire by his unfairness and I must say a word if you will permit me.

Mr. "Another Republican Voter" tells us the "Klan lined up solidly" for Mr. Thomas at the recent primaries because he "refrained from denouncing mob violence."

Perhaps they did so—I cannot say—it was their privilege to vote as they thought best of course. But I would say that if they did so vote, it was not merely because he "refrained from denouncing mob violence" but because they saw in him the material fit to make a judge—one who will listen to all the evidence and wait until the trial is ended before pronouncing sentence.

Anyone who knows C. M. Thomas, knows he would decry mob violence and any organization that favors it, if there are such, if it were proper and lawful for him to enter into such discussions.

Any one in Jackson or Josephine counties who does not know that C. M. Thomas has always stood for the best things for the people, is clean and above board in all he does, is either a newcomer who has taken no trouble to look up his record, or has a mind so biased that he does not see things as they really are.

Mr. "Republican Voter" in trying to keep alive the Klan discussions, differences and bad feeling is attempting to make a Klan fight of the judgeship race, and in so doing is playing mighty dirty politics—just the kind of politics that cause so many good men to refuse public offices and makes it so hard for us to elect a good man once he does consent to brave the conditions he will be subjected to.

The communication I object to is absolutely unadulterated political bunk, nothing else—and no one knowing the candidates and the conditions in our community will be fooled thereby. Read the statement of Mr. Thomas given in the Mail Tribune the day before the primary, May 19th if you wonder why he has not made public statements decrying klanism.

Mr. Thomas may get a solid K. K. K. vote as has been stated. So also he may—probably will, get a heavy vote from all other organizations, lodges and clubs although he is not a member of all of them and some of them he would not wish to be a member of.

Judging by the votes counted for him at the recent primary it would seem that other organizations as well as the K. K. K.'s voted solidly for him and I have no doubt will do the same in November.

Now last but not least, Mr. "Another Republican Voter," it is plain you intend to vote for the opponent of Mr. Thomas. Well that is your privilege if so minded. But for Heavens sake get over on the side of the fence where you belong and don't sign your epistles as a "Republican Voter" if you are not one. Mr. Kelly may be glad to have your vote, no doubt, but I know he would not esteem you as a man, for even he hates a traitor.

Any person who attempts to make of the judgeship race a continuation of the Klan and anti-Klan fight is a poor type of citizen, and anything else than a credit to our community.

To infer that C. M. Thomas is a man who would favor mob violence is an insult that is hard for his acquaintances to tamely submit to. Any person who has the ability to think twice will know why he has not made such public statements as some others have done.

An Honest to Goodness Republican Voter.
