Ye Smudge Pot

THE GENTLER SEX (?)
(Salem Capital-Journal)
To the Editor:—After reading the article sent you by Mrs. Jones (Who, I am sure, does not know a logberry from a turnip), I feel that I must reply for the benefit of this unjust, long-winded female.

Peoria Bill Gates and Lola Ulrich were framed in the same door, at the same time this am. They were finally unwedged.

Regulation of community conduct that is.

The Portland Journal hopes "the people will speak in the fall campaign." This is the first flatfooted stand in a long time, but the people are apt to whisper.

tinez was in Sacramento this

The Hon. Jim Cox, who was hit with everything but the ballot boxes in the last presidential election, is in Italy, and in the course of some jabbering announced he might "remain a year in Europe." So far, no opposition to the idea has developed in this country.

ACCENT THE ETC.
(Oregon City Enterprise)
Last evening while sitting on our porch we noticed fifteen automobiles, etc., floating by with one light in front and some also with one light and a spotlight. If there is any class of criminal that should be plucked it is that kind, but our beautiful city is full of such violators every night.

A fractious water hydrant ran into an inoffensive 4d yes. Unfortunately no damage being done to the latter.

An explorer has discovered large tracts of agricultural and pastoral land in the northern territory of Australia in a region heretofore regarded as a desert.

THE WATER SITUATION.

THE water situation in the southwest portion of Medford is intolerable. It has been intolerable during the summer months for many years. The Mail-Tribune can add nothing to what has already been said, but it certainly must be apparent to everyone that before another summer this condition must be remedied.

The city council has already decided to construct another reservoir, work to begin in September, and to so increase pressure in the southwest part of the city, that a reasonably civilized condition may be enjoyed. Nothing should be allowed to interfere with this program.

The main fault lies with the system of distribution. There is plenty of water. The absurd contention that the use of city water to irrigate a few ranches, caused the water shortage, has been finally exploded this year, the ranches concerned are using water from the district irrigation canal, and the situation shows no improvement.

Nothing is more important to a city than a good water supply.
Nothing is more destructive to municipal development and growth, than a poor city water supply. Within reason, there is no limit to the value of good water and plenty of it, for the people,—all the people,—of Medford.

Here is a problem in which every resident of Medford should take a vital interest. The water experiences of the past few years must end. What has to be done, in this direction, must be done before another summer season is here.

Quill Points

Correct this sentence: "The accused woman was beautiful, and a jury of men found her guilty."

been retouched.

Our civilization seems to be little more than a slow and painful

AGE'S PENALTIES.

I'VE grown so old that all things pall; existence has no snap at all. There are no mysteries for me the end of everything I see. I pick up a detective tale that makes a younger reader pale; in Chapter One there is a crime that gives the cops a beastly time. And younger readers, full of awe, go with the minions of the law; with them are baffled and perplexed, with them are buffeted and vexed. But I, who've read of tales a ton, can see the end when I've begun. I spot the villain every time, and know just how he pulled the crime. I know just what the dicks will do, how they will follow up the clue. And when I see a speaker rise, the glow of ardor in his eyes, to eloquence for half a day, I know just what he's bound to say, and know that it will make me sore, for I have heard it all before. And when a doctor views my tongue, and puts his ear against my lung, and shakes his head as though assured that I can nevermore be cured, I know it is the same old thing does sprung when Pharaoh was a king. I've lived so long, I've grown so wise, this world can give me no surprise. And still I read the yarns of sleuths and list to men expounding truths, and call the sawbones when I'm sick, and buy the faker's gilded brick.

How Others See Us

While the failure of the small movement against Sheriff Terrell in Jackson county is an undoubted indication of a sane citizenry of the Klu Klux Klan, the narrow margin of victory indicates the serious way in which the Klan movement has split a heretofore united community.

A year ago, yes, six months ago, Medford and Jackson county were pointed to in Oregon as examples of the plus ultra in community spirit.
Citizens worked together in utmost harmony for communal development.
Everywhere was peace and prosperity.

Entered the apostles of discord with their masked mummery, their appeal to racial and religious hatreds and now neighbors who have labored together for years do not speak and bitterly condemn each other; fraternal organizations are riddled apart and families are disrupted.

A whole community is thrown into turmoil and to no purpose. It will take years, after sanity returns, to undo the harm that a few brief months have done.

Who profits from this deplorable and terrific loss? The organizers of the movement that asks ten dollars as a fee for participation in its ridiculous mummery, and six dollars and fifty cents for a cheap masonic disguise, under cover of which cowardly outrages are perpetrated. If not by Klan members then by those who take advantage of the Klan's existence to mask their identity. They and they only.

The Ku Klux Klan is disbanded in California, and when the grand jury investigation and federal inquiry into the Jackson county outrages is concluded, its members will be diligently seeking cover in Oregon.

Klamath county may be thankful that it has escaped the virulent attack that is now fading into the oblivion of all unpleasant things.

We will not have this discordant chaos to bridge in our march toward progress.—Klamath Herald, July 31.

An Open Letter to Clients and Friends regarding

Eagle Point Irrigation District Bonds

MEDFORD, Aug. 2.—Although $150,000 bonds of this issue were reserved especially for residents of Medford and vicinity, already $50,000 of the bonds have been sold. It may be impossible to personally meet all my clients and friends before the balance has been sold. This letter is therefore written to get the facts before as many as possible.

Security Absolute Nineteen thousand, eight hundred acres are covered under the tax lien of this issue, at the rate of $20.22 per acre. Figured against the choicest land, 6,300 acres, presently to be irrigated, the debt amounts to but $63,450 per acre. The value of these lands is conservatively figured at $1,500,000, while the bond issue amounts to but $400,000. These lands will increase in value and the bonded debt will be reduced by annual payments.

Reason for Low Debt Big Butte Creek furnishes the water supply, a positive, adequate, reliable supply. No reservoir is required; only a small diversion dam.
No difficult engineering problems are presented. A harmonious organization of farmers, who knew what they wanted, the advice of progressive local bankers, cooperation of expert engineers; and the result was attained. Money was not wasted.

Tax Lien General
No land under this District can be released until every cent of principal and interest of every last bond has been paid.

The lien of these bonds secures the holder in exactly the same way as a School District Bond.

Bonds 7% Mortgages
Figure it up. Night and day, year in and year out these bonds pay interest—there is no period of idle money, no time taken out for reinvestment, no delay in payment of interest, no Federal Income Tax to pay, no expenses and no requests for favors, extensions or delays. Any man who will figure can fully prove this.

Better Security
In these bonds you have better than 3 to 1 security and the joint and several obligation of 94 owners and their families (that's what it amounts to.) The principal and interest is collected through taxes by the Sheriff and the terms of payment are easy, 6% small annual installments over a 25 year period. Yes, and every dollar loaned goes to add more than a dollar in the way of increased value and earning capacity. Mortgages come after tax liens, as you know.

A Time to Play Safe
All the affairs of the world are not yet settled. Our people have been loaning the world. You cannot afford to go up in the Balkans to collect 8% or 10%, and you cannot afford to pass the best home investment that may be offered in years.
You know Eagle Point people. You know they pay their taxes, that they must pay their taxes, and you know that Rogue River Valley land is Gift Edged Security when so reasonably bonded.

I have sold bonds for 28 years, but have never offered any bond with greater confidence in its security.
With kindest regards to my friends,
WILDES VEAZIE,
