Forest Supervisor H. B. McDaniels made his first trip by air on a survey of the Siskiyou National forest Monday and states that the thick smoke lying over the valley appears as dense as a blanket when viewed from the air. Most of the smoke is due to a fire which is consuming the timber of the Coos Bay Lumber company near Powers as there are few fires in Jackson and Josephine counties. He states that one can see not more than seven miles ahead of the machine now due to the smoke. He was quite enthused over his trip which took him down the Applegate south of the Josephine Caves, over Whiskey Creek and back to Medford. The pilot of the army de Havilland was Lieutenant W. C. Goldborough who was in command of the forest patrol detail stationed at Medford two years ago.
