M. O. Evans, for the past nine years identified with the agricultural interests of this state, for the last 2 1/2 years field manager of the Oregon Growers' Cooperative association, with headquarters in Salem, will leave August 26 for Oakland, where he will handle the fruit and other agricultural interests of a wealthy California grower. Evans' first work in Oregon was in 1912, when he instituted the school gardens in Portland as a part of the extension work of the Oregon Agricultural college. Later he was assistant leader of county agents, conducting preliminary work for the extension of the work of county agents in Oregon. Evans was for two years supervising farm specialist for the United States department of agriculture for the 11 western states.—Portland Journal.

 W. C. McCuiston was one of the fortunate Medford men to get a deer yesterday, bagging a fine five point buck early Sunday morning. Tom and Hugh Brown and Chick Vance also were among the fortunate. They were on a hunting trip up near the Brown place in Applegate and brought back two bucks yesterday.
 To save a deer head for mounting, do not cut up the throat, but from a point just above the ears, straight down back of neck to shoulders, slit the scalp well, get the velvet heads to Bartlett's Taxidermist Shop as soon as possible, 115 W. Main St., Medford, Or.

PURE MILK

FOR YOUR SAFETY

we pasteurize our milk

This richens the milk greatly, for it takes out the water and leaves only the pure product.

It is a germ killing process, too, and the doctors will tell you that babies' milk should be pasteurized.

Patronize our sanitary systems for your own benefit as well as the kiddies'.

Drink a quart of milk a day.
