

Local and Personal

Miss Alice Hanley, the superintendent of the woman's division of the county fair has been busy living things up. She has secured many of her helpers and she and they are making many plans for a very successful woman's work exhibit. All of the heads of the various departments are planning interesting and educational exhibits, but the success of this part of the fair will depend largely upon the number of county exhibitors in the various departments. All are requested to obtain a premium list from the chamber of commerce and a score, and plan to exhibit in every department that is represented.
