

COL. SMITH URGES BIGGER ARMY AND DRY ENFORCEMENT

Colonel Dan Morgan Smith, lately commander in France of the Battalion of Death (First Battalion, 358th Infantry, 90th division) has just completed a year's solid speaking upon "The World's War and the Fields of France," in California, and spoke at the Methodist church last night.

Colonel Smith in his opening remarks, said in part:

"I am not here to glorify war; there is no glory in war. 'But,' said the colonel, 'there are three kinds of enemies, and the first, the armed foe, must be met with arms; and if we scrap our navy and reduce our army to a handful, the Unspeakable Turk can combine with others of like faith and whip Christianity from the face of the earth.'

"The religious fanatic dies happy if he has killed a Christian, and a religious war would be the most awful thing the world ever knew; and scientific weapons, in the hands of trained soldiers, is the only thing that prevents the fanatical Mohammedan from ruling the world. We Christians better take care lest in our insistence upon disarmament we be responsible for the setting back of Christianity for a thousand years."

"This does not mean that I want a big army, nor a large navy; it only means that I insist that for the protection of the faith of our fathers that we lend our influence to the maintenance of a small but well equipped, well armed, well drilled, well paid and satisfied regular army, officered by men who are capable of training the citizen soldiery effectively and quickly, that we may meet the emergency, should it come."

Colonel Smith, in the early part of his speech, pictured life in France, the noisy, funny little towns, and life in the villages where the French spoke English and the Americans spoke French—greatly to the amusement of all.

Colonel Smith said: "Our great fundamental law, upon which all of our laws are based, is the Constitution of the United States. Any part or parcel of that constitution makes the direct declaration that it shall be unlawful to manufacture, sell, transport or import intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and the bootlegger, in defiance of that constitution, piles his trade—he is selling the constitution of his country for money. He is not a sportsman, he is an enemy of our government. He is not a casual offender against local laws, he is defying the government; and the man who purchases from him is equally guilty under the constitution; and he, too, is defying his government; he, too, is destroying the respect for our fundamental laws; he, too, is an enemy of his country, and by the Eternal, he is not a bit better than the bootlegger—the man who puts his appetite above the constitution of his country should not be a respected citizen and should not be elevated to public office, nor respected in the community, nor received into our homes; he should be put in jail to break rock along with the bootlegger, and other criminals."

"I recognize," said Colonel Smith, "that there are thousands who patronize the bootlegger who have never stopped to think of the harm they do. The man who threatens to pull down our flag and run up a dirty red rag in its place; the bolshevik who preaches destruction of our form of government, nor the anarchist who seeks the destruction of our institutions by the means of bombs is not so dangerous to the community as the man who gratifies his appetite at the expense of the constitution of his country. The only plea that can be made on their behalf is the plea of the dying Christ, 'Forgive them, Father, they know not what they do.'"

Colonel Smith insisted that the world was ripe for prohibition, provided prohibition was made effective in America, and he called upon those in the audience who supported missionaries abroad to help bring about world prohibition by making prohibition prohibitive in America. The peroration of his speech was: "If we

The House That Jack Built for Hill

It took 17 years to complete, but it's not ready for occupancy. Mr. S. Siggins of Fort Myer, Va., (insert) vowed he would not marry until he had completed his home for his fiancée, who was quite willing to wait for her own home. Seventeen years ago Siggins started building, doing the entire job by himself, including the plumbing, decorating, painting, etc. The house is of ten rooms and well constructed. The wedding will soon take place, and will be held, probably, in the new home.

PROTEST FILED BY SOMEBODY AGAINST MEDFORD PLAYERS

It is reported that one of the neighboring towns has challenged the eligibility of two players who are members of the first squad on the Medford high school football team. The official of the state board of control when making inquiries failed to state what school had made the protest. However, we have games for the remainder of the season scheduled only with Grants Pass and Ashland.

The players contested are Ashur Neff and Rees Baughman. Neff was objected to because, it is claimed, he is over age and is not legally a high school student. Baughman, they claim, is ineligible because he left school before the end of the semester a year ago.

In neither case is there any grounds for the protests according to the statement of local school authorities. Neff has full high school standing approved not only by the local school but by County Superintendent Carter and State Superintendent Churchill. This was given because of the following facts: He served two years in the U. S. Marines after the signing of the Armistice, passed successfully the civil service examination for employment in the postal service and has three and one-half credits in high school. He is only 19 years of age. Baughman left school in March, 1921, but fulfilled the requirements of the state league both in spirit and in the letter. The local school has the written statement of the secretary of the state board of control approving his status. Both boys are now doing good work in high school and have been all semester.

There can justly be no question as to the eligibility of any players on the local team. Both Neff and Baughman will play in the Armistice day game with Ashland which will be staged on the Holly street grounds just after the parade Saturday.

FOOTBALL RALLY SATURDAY'S GAME TO BE HAIRRAISER

The biggest game of the season will be played Saturday afternoon, Armistice day on the Holly street grounds when the Medford high school team meets the Ashland high school football eleven for the first time this season. Neither team has been defeated by another high school this year and, as the teams are fairly evenly matched as to weight, a game which will be full of fight and rivalry is expected.

Although Ashland carried off the gridiron honors last year and is reported to have a strong and well coached team this year, Medford supporters feel that Medford has the edge slightly and expect the locals to win.

Coach Durno is expected to enter the following line-up at the start of the game: Ends, Watson and Donovan; tackles, Stockman and Dressler; guards, Nicholson and Bateman; center, Stewart; halfbacks, Baughman and Singler; fullback, Neff, and quarterback, Beoney.

A rally, the like of which has never before been seen in the state outside of Eugene or Corvallis is promised by Yell Leader Jacobs for tomorrow night. The giant serpentine will start at 7:30 from the high school building and will be led by the hungry 7 (alias the high school band), followed by the team in autos.

The serpentines of students will follow with a fleet of trucks, tractors and all kinds of available self-propelled vehicles will bring up the rear making as much racket as possible.

The public is invited to follow the serpentines to the bonfire which it is claimed will be the biggest ever built in Medford. Speakers who will deliver addresses at the bonfire include: Col. E. E. Kelly, John Benson, Vernon Yawter, Elbert "Irish" Coleman, and Russell Sherwood.

Enthusiasm is to be the keynote of the rally and a display of spirit which is expected to resemble the old time Medford spirit is expected to crop out somewhere before the evening is over if Yell Leader Jacobs has his way.

16 DRY LAW CASES UP IN OCTOBER

There were 28 cases in police court last month and the total fines and cash bail collected or forfeited was $180.50. Intoxication on the streets was the majority offense against those men who faced Judge Taylor in October.

Sixteen men were up on charges of intoxication on whom fines and jail sentences were imposed, or cash bail taken and forfeited. There was one case of disorderly conduct, and one case of vagrancy in which a jail sentence was imposed. There were two cases of possessing intoxicating liquor, and one man was fined for parking his car within ten feet of a fire hydrant.

Mayor-Elect Wires Appreciation of Vote For Self and Ticket

The following message was received this morning from Mayor-Elect Gaddis, who is in Portland on business:

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 8.—Please express to Medford citizens my deepest appreciation for their splendid vote of confidence in electing the Business Men's ticket. I am sure that everyone elected will give their best efforts towards carrying on city affairs creditably and will likewise appreciate full cooperation from every citizen in working out constructive program for Medford's advancement.

E. C. GADDIS.

LOOMIS IS ELECTED ASHLAND MAYOR BY 344 MAJORITY

ASHLAND, Nov. 9.—It required until noon of Wednesday to figure up the votes in one or two Ashland precincts in order that correct results could be tabulated, with Charley Loomis winning the majority by 344 votes over Dr. W. E. Blake. Loomis is an East Main street resident, conducting a supply store called "The Oasis." Blake is a local dentist.

With one exception, the Loomis candidate for the council were elected, among the number being Mrs. Mabel Barber. The exception was C. H. Pierce, member of the present council. Ashland has six councilmen, George Eubanks, as treasurer, and Gertrude Biedo, as recorder, succeed themselves in these respective offices. Park commissioners will be W. H. McNeil, Cra. Stella Wagner, and Amos Nimminger, as chosen, Mr. Wane Vaupel and Frank Jordan holding over. Bill Hatcher succeeds himself as constable.

Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, worn-out feeling and painful periods. I used to get up with a pain in my head and pains in my lower parts and back. Often I was not able to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it. I feel so well and strong and can do every bit of my work and not a pain in my back now. I recommend your medicine and you can use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. PHIL. Don't Forget the Big Armistice Day Celebration, Medford, November 11

Dr. Daniel G. Carey, of Elmira, N. Y., Eminent Kidney Specialist, Retires

Leaves His Famous Prescription No. 777, Known for Years as 'Marshroot' to the World. Says It Has Helped Thousands

A brilliant physician, a diligent student and, above all, a man of great intellect, he made the study of these diseases his life's work.

During his forty years of constant practice, Dr. Daniel G. Carey devoted almost his entire life to the study of this most important branch of medicine and his success, as is well known, was almost phenomenal.

If Dr. Carey never did anything else in his long, praiseworthy career, but originate his famous Prescription No. 777, his fame would live long after his useful life had ended.

Watch the symptoms. Dr. Carey's advice. The tiniest signals often indicate that the kidneys are ailing and need attention. Dry skin for instance, and little specks floating before the eyes. Sometimes the feet feel heavy as if your shoes were full of lead. Often the joints ache or you have quick, darting pains shooting through the back or side. Then again that frequent desire to empty the bladder, cold clammy feet and just a little puffiness under the eyes. Occasionally the hands or feet swell slightly and the palms of the hands are moist. Don't neglect them; you cannot afford to take any chances with your kidneys.

If you ever have the faintest suspicion that your kidneys are weak or your bladder is irritated the wisest thing you can do is to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777 at once. Many thousands of cases could have been helped by Marshroot if taken in time.

Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription at reliable pharmacists the country over. Keep in mind the name, Dr. Carey's Prescription No. 777. No other medicine can take its place.
