By George McManus

NO SUCH THING AS OVERWORK, IS PROF'S OPINION

GLOSSOP, Derbyshire, England, Nov. 13.—"No person has ever suffered from overwork." With that sentence Professor William Palmer Wynne, the celebrated nerve specialist, astounded a select gathering of neuroathenics and a fashionably jaded crowd at a public health meeting.

"The condition which is generally attributed to overwork," went on the professor, "was always due to a moratorium, bad habits and the weakling's craving for sympathy. Undue excitement about trifling derangements of functions leads to that horribly degraded mental state described as 'neurasthenia,' 'nerves' or 'nervous breakdown.'

JUDGE EXONERATED ON BOOZE CHARGE

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 13.—Federal Judge James C. Wilson was exonerated of all charges against him today following a two months' investigation by a committee of lawyers from the Tarrant Bar association. The investigation was demanded by Wilson's friends, following publication in a Dallas church paper and statements in sermons here that Wilson was easy on bootleggers, that he ate and drank with them and otherwise encouraged them in their operations.
