

Local and Personal

The many friends and acquaintances of Dr. Henry Hart and family will learn with regret that Dr. Hart's condition is critical at the Sacred Heart hospital following the emergency operation performed on him the latter part of last week for appendicitis. It was reported this noon that despite everything being done to save him that he probably could not survive the day. His son, Dr. John Hart of the United States navy service, who is stationed at the Bremerton navy yard arrived here Sunday to be at his father's bedside.

Local people who have made auto trips over the Pacific highway between here and Eugene the past few days report that the highway is in splendid condition and that the only drawback to the trip between the two cities now is the delay caused by the one way traffic through a stretch near Canyonville, due to that stretch being paved, and which paving will not be completed until January. Yesterday afternoon at one point at this point 23 waiting northbound autos were counted while many southbound cars were passing through.

Ed Pelle was in the city today from his ranch on Lowbranch creek three miles south of Trail, exhibiting a box of 18 huge and fine potatoes which altogether weighed 25 pounds. The soil of this ranch, creek bottom land, is remarkably rich and prolific. Quite a patch of potatoes were raised by Mr. Pelle which averaged 80 potatoes to the hundred pounds. All this without irrigation, and the potatoes, of the Irish Cobbler variety, are smooth and solid throughout and cook up nicely.

"Notice has been given by high school authorities that all adult tickets purchased for the Ashland-Medford football game, which was cancelled at the last minute by Medford, will be redeemed, if presented at Rose Bros. confectionery, says the Ashland Tidings. "A large number of the purchasers have mailed their tickets to the high school, while others have torn them up, showing they are back of the school and willing to help out when it gets caught in a financial situation over which it has no control. It is thought that very few persons will take advantage of the generous offer of the athletic department of the high school, since nearly $500 was spent by them in hiring the officials for the game here from California, besides other expenses contingent on arrangements for the day."

Talk of a post season game is still strong and both fans and high school faculty are in favor of such a game. An item in yesterday's Oregonian stated that Hillsboro, Ore., high school laid claim to the state championship. At the first of the season Hillsboro, Ore., defeated Forest Grove 6-0, and at that time the Forest Grove team which has only two letters in its lineup was inexperienced. On Thanksgiving Day Medford defeated the same team 41-2. It would seem that the only claim to the championship are Corvallis, Astoria and Medford and local fans are strongly in favor of seeing which of the three can successfully back its claim of supremacy. 219*
