EDEN PRECINCT

By Mary O. Carey.

There will be another addition to Phoenix on the south in the early spring. Louie Colver has sold five tracts of land on the east side of the highway, just south of his residence. There will be five residences built upon the different tracts in the spring. The last tract was sold to Mr. Knott of Medford, who will engage in the poultry business.

P. E. Furry, E. G. Coleman and A. S. Furry, shipped a part of a carload of beef cattle through the Farm Bureau, to Portland on Tuesday. Part of these animals were supposed to have been bought by local butchers this fall, but were not all taken, which accounts for placing them on the Portland market.

Miss Linnie Hanscom, who works in the office at the county court house is staying with her sister, Mrs. Galbraith in north Talent, while her mother is in San Diego this winter for her health.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frame and Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Webster of Phoenix were trading in Medford one day this week.

Everyone is looking forward to the Christmas exercises, which are to be held Friday afternoon at the auditorium of the public school house. The children have made special efforts to have this a success.

The Lamport residence just north of Phoenix, is nearing completion and will be one of the prettiest along the highway, and is most modern in every way.

Ed Hamlin has been plowing with his tractor for Lloyd Colver the past week. Ed does good work and has been plowing in old alfalfa ground where the big roots were quite thick.

Mrs. Walter Stancil has been packing apples in one of the Medford packing houses the past ten days. Many persons are wondering where the fruit men will find a market for their fruit if the prices keep going down.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allen went to Medford Tuesday evening where they did some shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Oden of North Talent were Ashland business visitors one day this week. Mrs. Oden has a and takes the fruits of their labor to that city to market them.

J. M. Rader and A. S. Furry were among the lucky ones at the Elks Christmas raffle last Saturday evening, and each won several baskets. Joe won one fine turkey and a fat hen, and Art won two turkeys. They have their birds in cold storage in Medford.

Mrs. C. Carey has several fine young Light Brahma roosters which are prize winners and are the largest birds she has ever raised, although she has been breeding Brahmas for the past fifteen years. Some of the hens from which these birds were raised weighed thirteen and a half pounds, and the male bird fifteen.

Miss Mabel Hearn and her brother Berthold Hearn are home from their college work during the holiday vacation. Berthold is in his father's store at Phoenix during his stay at home.

Mr. Webster whose home is west of Phoenix, made the trip over to Klamath Falls and back last week. He says it is not a very pleasant trip at this time of the year, but that he made it without much trouble.

Mrs. Fred Rapp and her sister, Mrs. Lawrence Crawford, were in Medford Tuesday doing their Christmas shopping. Both are residents of Talent.

J. M. Rader has just commenced to feed his cattle, which have been doing well on the range thus far. Mr. Rader has a lot of good hay which he bought from N. Chandler and Lloyd Colver.

RED BLANKET ITEMS

Mr. Mooney made a business trip to Medford one day last week. He reports the road in good condition. Red Blanket is fairly humming with activity. Mr. Mooney and Mr. Boothby have been cutting saw logs to put into the Aiken mill at Prospect.

The snow that has been on the ground since the first of December, is thawing quite fast the last few days. Mr. Ingles has been using a bobbed to haul logs to the Aiken mill, but it looks as if he will have to go back to the truck before many days.

Our school district is preparing to put up a playshed at the Prospect school. It is going to be some building when finished.

Mr. and Mrs. James Grieve have just returned from a two weeks visit at Portland. I presume Jim has been combining business with pleasure, as he is certainly a live wire.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. Wampler is leaving Prospect, to look for green fields and pastures new, or rather to search for a more promising place to trip.

Mr. Cottrell has finished gathering his cattle and has returned to his home.

Paul Force, who has been looking after the Cottrell cattle on summer range in the Red Blanket district, has returned to Evans creek.

N. S. Goodlow and wife have moved to one of the patrol stations on the new power line on Elk creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Boothby visited at Mr. Boothby, senior's Sunday.

The Prospect high school is progressing under the management of Mrs. Arnold.

Mrs. Middlebush, our grammar school teacher, treated herself to a new pair of skis when out to town a few days ago. And believe me she knows how to use them.

The teachers and pupils of the prospect school are preparing a program and Xmas tree for next Friday evening at the schoolhouse. We are quite sure it will be a success, under the management of Mrs. Arnold and Mrs. Middlebush.

Tracy Boothby is intending to quit his gasoline jitney in a few days, and put on a hay burner vehicle. He thinks it will work to better advantage in the mud, as it has more clearance.

Tucker's Picture Screened

Another link with the memory of the late George Loane Tucker is the picture, "If You Believe It, It's So," in which Thomas Meighan is starring at the Page theatre this week. This picture, with the same star, has been selected by Mr. Tucker for production, after "The Miracle Man," but his death prevented. The story, however, has been admirably screened by Tom Forman.

Younger Generation Can See Baby Marie

There will be a lot of lucky children in this town Christmas morning, and the particularly lucky ones are those who were too young to have seen Baby Marie Osborne six years ago when she was first shown in "Shadows and Sunshine." But now Pathe has kindly re-edited it in three reels as a playlet and it will be the free Christmas morning attraction at the Rialto theatre Monday morning at 10 a. m., where children can once more see the screen's most adorable baby in "Shadows and Sunshine."

"I'm sorry I used your Highland Linen, mother—but I wanted Santa Claus to sit up and take notice."

It is always in good taste to make your gift something that costs little if it is the best of its kind, and expresses genuine good taste.

THOMPSON CREEK

Several of our farmers delivered turkeys to Medford the latter part of last week to be shipped by the Farm Bureau. A. Mee, Alva Kendall, John Bingham and Marion Bingham being among the number.

F. F. Grove took turkeys to Medford last Friday and sold them for the local market.

Miss Bertha Mansfield visited her teacher, Miss Viola Hogan, last Sunday.

Miss Irma Jordan called at F. F. Groves on Thursday of last week.

Ed Connally and son Phillip and Alford Babb drove down to the Apple store last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Root of Central Point and Mr. and Mrs. Vic Shaw were up on Thompson Creek last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw came to look at Mr. Root's farm with a view of trading for it.

Will Jordan drove to Grants Pass last Monday with a load of dressed turkeys he was going to ship to a firm in San Francisco. He returned home on Tuesday.

Mrs. Roy Johnston and Miss Viola Hogan motored to Medford last Saturday.

Herbert Elmore went to Central Point last Monday.
