EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

On Thursday, January eleventh, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. McGee, formerly of Eagle Point and then of Medford, old pioneers of Jackson County, but later settled on a large farm near Glendale, selling out there moved to Washington and bought a farm living there a few years, selling out again and had started out on a tour visiting his children and friends made us a short call; he was accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Selby Golhem, and her husband and little boy and his wife's sister, Mrs. W. E. Church nee Mrs. George Conley at that time living on Antelope Creek at what is known as the Antelope Orchard of Medford. They only remained a short time as Mr. McGee and wife wanted to visit the old friends who were at that time holding a meeting of the E. P. I. Club at the home of our banker, H. E. Campbell, and by that means they could see a great many of their old neighbors and friends. They had not decided definitely where they will locate.

Mr. Hoagland, Sr., of Central Point, was here on Saturday on his way up to his ranch two miles out from Brownsboro.

There were four passengers on the stage Saturday going to Butte Falls and one passenger on the Trail stage. Among the business callers were Walter Smith, Robert Nellie who is located on his farm on the headwaters of Salt Creek, S. P. Jackson of Portland, he was on his way to Butte Falls to look after his interest there in the timber industry, he was traveling in his own car and there was four passengers went out on the stage for the same place.

John Owens and family were also among the business callers Saturday. Mr. Owens is among our prominent farmers and stockmen living on Dry Creek near Wellen.

Mr. McKissick, C. E., formerly having charge of the C. E. department of the Eagle Point Irrigation canal and located here, but now located in Jacksonville was a passenger on the Butte Falls stage Monday.

Rose Whaley came out Saturday to spend a few days visiting here. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Albert of Butte Falls came out with his father on his motor car on the railroad track and later in the day Glenn had a taxi come out and take himself and wife to Medford.

Mr. C. Tucker of Portland was a business caller Sunday p. m. Mrs. Katie Wwindon Woldrom of Medford called Monday morning looking for a situation as cook in a hotel or camp. She had just come from the Elks resort on Rogue River.

Nick Young, Marshall Winter, Mike Sidley, Lake Creek; Walter Marshall, Brownsboro; Artie Vestal, Frank King, Mr. Gonde who has located on a homestead near the Reese Creek school house and Ed. Morgan of Elk Creek were business callers Monday.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stoner, January 12th, in Santa Barbara, Calif., a son. Mrs. Stoner is the daughter of one of our leading merchants, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Brown and there seems to be general rejoicing in the Brown family over the safe arrival of the youngster. Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Brown are with their daughter in Santa Barbara and not San Jose as I stated in a former letter.

Since writing the foregoing I have been asked by some of the old settlers who the people were that I referred to as Mr. and Mrs. B. in my letter in the Mail Tribune of the 15th inst and this Wednesday morning I received a letter from a man in Central Point asking me to reveal to him confidentially the name of the party referred to as Mr. and Mrs. "B" and gave me the name of the party he thought it was and added another chapter to the history of the family and stated that he had an old clock that came from the family that would start off and strike a hundred times, and that the party from whom he got it, Jim's mother-in-law and she claimed that the clock was "haunted" so it seems that he is a pretty good guesser this time for he guessed it the first time.

The last chapter I gave the readers of the Mail Tribune on the experience of a circuit rider I was at the home of my friend, Mr. Beard, with a large collection of his children and grandchildren and many of them left destitute by the floods that had swept the bottomlands of the Willamette river and its tributaries and especially the Long Tom Creek, many of them like the case of John Lewis mentioned in a former letter. Among the most serious losses was that of the feed to keep the stock they had left alive during the rest of that long and severe winter, for it proved one of the hardest winters ever experienced in that section of the country, for a short time after the water had subsided there came a heavy snow storm, the snow being sixteen to twenty inches deep and that was followed by a heavy sleet and formed a crust on the snow not quite hard enough to bear a horse, but an ordinary man could walk on it with ease making it almost impossible to travel outside of the main traveled roads and buy so scarce that it commanded any price. The stage company who was carrying the mail from Portland on to San Francisco, Calif., paid as high as one hundred dollars a ton for hay to feed their horses. I saw one man in Eugene City make the statement that he had three hundred head of cattle around his barns that he would gladly give to any one who would take them away and feed them, but his neighbors were in the same condition and had no hay and could not get it. It was not only a scarcity of hay and grain but of many of the necessities of life, sugar, coffee and in many cases bread and meat. I remember making my meal on boiled wheat and pounded wheat was a luxury.

I thought when I commenced this letter that we, Smith and I, would have gotten away from Mr. Beard's, but when I start in to write of the terrible hardships the people had to undergo I find so much to write that the first thing I know I am going beyond the limits of prudence.
