The big clock of the Southern Pacific depot waiting room, which was sent to the railroad's clock repairer at Portland the first of this week, is still there. Asked as to whether he had heard when the much missed timepiece would be back Mark Montgomery, the local S. P. agent, ventured the opinion that the repairer was just going over the clock with a vacuum sweeper to locate the trouble, and that it would be back in a week or two.

Dear Folks: "I told U so"—Don Springer was was out last Sunday. Come again, Don. Bring Mr. Lee next time. 11

Say, E just had oughter been at the Dixie Club meetin' last night! !! Supper at 7, and ev'ry thing was there 'cept possum. They had the "faters"—real "yaller yams," too, they were. Some feed, Southern style! 11

I don't know where all the folks came from, but when they got there it was some menagerie—Rebels were in the majority, but there were Yankees (I won't tell you what Bowles Moore called 'em, but he sure ought to come to church tomorrow and repent), and there were Baptists, Republicans, Democrats, Presbyterians, Methodists and specimens of other nationalities. The Yankees got the pass word by marrying Southern Beauties.

It was Robt. E. Lee's birthday, and there was a gusher of oratory. Even Fred Mears—Yankee, that he is—waxed eloquent in his tribute to the great So. General. 11

Late in the evening, "Dixie," "Carry Me Back to Old Va.," etc., were served up, and the "Break Down" was topped off with "The Va. Reel." Under the magic spell of the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Crews everybody had a "handsome" time. (And some of the DXY clubbers are coming to CHURCH tomorrow.) Yours, etc. Pastor M. E. Church.
