

HIGH SCHOOL SO CROWDED, PUPILS SENT TO CHURCH

The high school building, already overcrowded with 430 students was still further jammed when during the past week 37 pupils were graduated from the eighth grade course in the Lincoln and Washington schools into the high school course, and practically all of them entered the high school.

To relieve the high pressure, the school board was compelled to go outside for quarters. No suitable place could be found immediately for permanent lease, and consequently the school board made arrangements through the courtesy of the First Baptist church, a block away, to house forty high school students in that edifice until a permanent location can be found.

These forty students keep their books in, and recite in the main auditorium at the Baptist church.

The board has been offered quarters in the Sparta building with limitations which are not acceptable, and other locations not too far away have been considered by Superintendent Smith and the school board, including the Medford Center building.

Efforts have been made for several years past by school officials and other educational leaders to have the taxpayers authorize the construction of a new high school building which would enable the present building to be converted into a junior high and his relieve crowded conditions in several of the grade schools.

The high school now has 470 students, which is far more than can be accommodated in the old antiquated building.

What's All the Shootin' For?"

From the expressions on the faces of Harold Lloyd and Mildred Davis we can guess that something is about to happen. In fact, something happens all the time in Harold's new feature comedy, "Dr. Jack."

RED CROSS HAS 2 BOYS FOR PLACING IN VALLEY HOMES

Opportunities for placing children in good homes are frequently open to the Red Cross and child placing is among the varied social problems that come under its care. At present there is need of two good homes—each home for a young motherless boy. The boys are brothers. Their father is a hard working man who is unwilling to have the boys adopted as he hopes to be able to make a good home for them himself eventually. He has several other children some of whom are already placed with relatives. Any one who is interested in helping children, and who is not "and who has a home to offer or who knows of a good home that might wish to add a member to its family for the rest of this year, is asked to get in touch with the Red Cross.

Splendid cooperation with the Red Cross office is being given by outlying communities. Within the last week investigations by the Red Cross office have been made in Central Point, where Mrs. G. E. Fox recently elected to the board of directors of the Jackson County Red Cross is giving helpful service. At Forest Creek and outlying sections of Jacksonville several needy families have been helped during the last week.

The protective arm of the county Red Cross organization reaches out into the isolated districts. There is a particularly sad case in the mountains where sickness and poverty have laid a heavy burden upon a woman with a large family of small children. Deprived of the support of her husband this poor woman was found practically without food, so far from contact with neighbors that she could not get needed help. The youngest child was in need of milk and because of the poverty in the home, the cow whose milk had saved the little one in time past, was very near starvation because there was no money with which to purchase its necessary feed. All provisions had to be bought through the Red Cross in town and sent up the mountain road to this family. The cooperation of the County Court with the Red Cross serving as investigating agent has kept the wolf from the door in this case, and the Red Cross has kept the family supplied with the necessary clothing.

Broken homes, unemployment and sickness create poverty conditions in hundreds of the homes in this county and create need for material relief, and also create numerous social problems requiring adjustment. To prevent these conditions by establishing social independence is the most important aspect of the work of the Red Cross.

COMMUNICATIONS

Covgill's Statement Denied.

The undersigned, for many years a resident and home-owner in Medford, wishes to voice a protest, on behalf of his countrymen here, against the statement attributed in Friday evening's news dispatches from Salem to Mr. Ralph Covgill, representative from Jackson county, to the effect that "the Japanese have overrun Jackson county," etc. To one acquainted with the facts, as they appear to all persons of intelligence here this assertion is palpably absurd, and if made to bolster up an argument in favor of the so-called anti-Japanese bill, the recklessness of the charge simply illustrates the desperation of the cause it is intended to support.

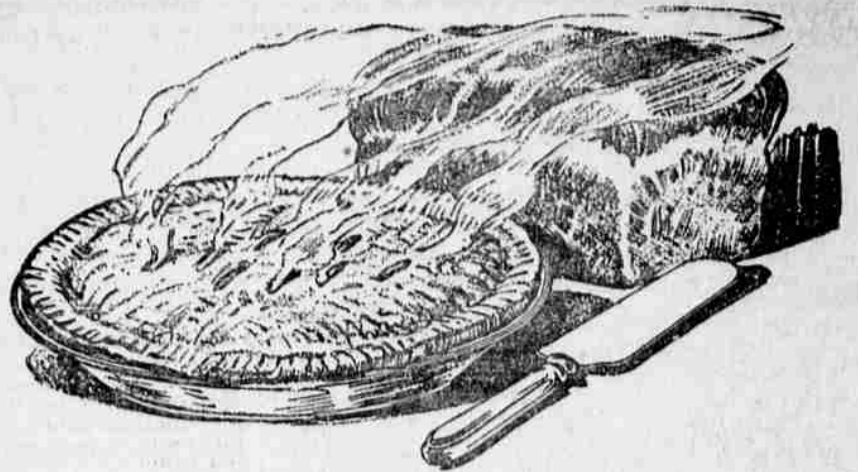

The Japanese who are living and working in Jackson county are surely known to the citizens here to be quiet, industrious and law-abiding people, and so few in number (never more, at any time, at the most, than fifty men and women all told in the county) that no part of the community, much less the whole, can be truthfully said to be "overrun" by them. They have not congregated anywhere, but live around in different places; and I can never, without fear of contradiction by any fair-minded man or woman, they have so conducted themselves in every neighborhood as not to have been in the least objectionable to anyone.

Just one word more, as to Japanese farmers and farm labor in Jackson county: There are at present only four Japanese families living and working on farms in the county; and while there have been in the past a few more Japanese farmers here, their several experiences certainly will not encourage any increase in the number, but rather the reverse.

Respectfully,
M. MARIYAMA,
Medford, Oregon, president of the Japanese Association of Southern Oregon.

Bake---Electrically

From the day you start using an electric range you'll make the most delicious bread, cake and pies you ever baked, because it's so easy to get uniform controlled heat. You'll get better frying results too, as well as better boiled, stewed and broiled dishes.

Think of the steps saved when you have no untidy wood or coal fires to tend. Think of the convenience of setting the range by the time clock, so that the food is ready to be picked up and served on the dot.

Hundreds and hundreds of The California Oregon Power Company subscribers are using electric ranges—and no wonder. This company gives a special cooking rate so low that the average bill for both cooking and lighting together is often as low as the cost of other types of fuel alone!

See our local office today about the favorable rates for cooking, and the many other practical advantages and economies your neighbors are enjoying. Look over the electric ranges at your electrical dealer's—he'll explain how you can get one on easy payments and have it installed immediately.

The Stage

"Merry Widow" Meets Success
Masco Hanez, the Spanish author, has shrewdly said: "There is a certain tunnel of fortune into which a musical or dramatic play runs when its original interest wanes, and it is only the very great product, like 'The Merry Widow,' that can emerge from obscurity again into the blazing brilliancy of renewed success."
There are substantial reasons for the fresh enthusiasm inspired by Henry W. Savage's new opera. It has an ideal story of romance; the most alluring waltz ever composed; a splendor of staging never before approached in opera and a singing cast of grand opera quality.
"The Merry Widow," with what is said to be an exceptional company and magnificent urban production, comes to the Page Theatre Monday night, Feb. 5th.
The cast includes two very noted Californians—Jefferson de Angelis and James Liddy. The former is an ex-star and comedian of more than half a hundred musical comedies and comic operas. Mr. Liddy is a recent member of the Chicago Opera company and leading man with several other big musical successes, including "The Chocolate Soldier." Others of note in the cast are Marie Wells, Warren Proctor, Tom Burton and Easter and Hazelton.

Train Predicted.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Weather outlook for the week beginning Monday: Pacific states—considerable cloudiness and occasional rain. Temperature near normal.
