

ELECTRIC DEALERS BANQUET BRINGS OUT FINE SPIRIT

The meeting of the electrical dealers and contractors of southern Oregon and representatives of the California Oregon Power company at the Medford hotel last evening was well attended and highly enjoyed.

The meeting was arranged by H. D. Peary and F. A. Mulvaney of the Pacific States Electric Co. to get in closer touch with the dealers in this territory and to explain the plans of the "Check Seal" program.

The meeting was in charge of George Boring, manager of the Portland and Seattle branches of the company.

The first speaker was C. O. Shepherd, sales manager of the California Oregon Power company, his subject being "Relation of Good Will to Business." He explained what good will is and a square deal to everyone by the dealer means and said success could not be obtained and maintained without it.

Mr. Boring explained the beginning of the Good Will advertising campaign and of the "Check Seal" campaign of the company in 1921.

Mr. Boring said after careful investigation as to circulation and standing of newspapers. The Mail Tribune and Sun had been selected among five papers in Oregon to carry their campaign.

"Newspaper Advertising" was discussed by S. S. Smith, who said no business, professional man, manufacturer or wholesaler who studies and uses modern methods today at home to conduct his business without making systematic advertising a part of that business or profession, stating that from two to ten per cent of the gross receipts are usually set aside for advertising.

Mr. Boring said after careful investigation as to circulation and standing of newspapers. The Mail Tribune and Sun had been selected among five papers in Oregon to carry their campaign.

The "Check Seal" program carries the stamp of approval of merchants handling Pacific States Electric company products, and means standard material, good workmanship and fair prices.

OREGON CHAPLAIN CHIEF SPEAKER AT LINCOLN BANQUET

The various committees in charge of the Lincoln Day banquet have been active the past few days making plans and getting out tickets for the annual banquet to be held at the Hotel Medford Monday night. The principal speaker will be Reverend William Gilbert of Astoria, who has quite a reputation as an authority on Lincoln. The Reverend Gilbert was chaplain of the Third Oregon regiment and served with distinction in France. Upon his return Reverend Gilbert was elected commander of the state department of the American Legion. Legionnaires who have heard him say that he is a sincere and forceful speaker and is well worth hearing. Due to the game banquet the committees in charge of the Lincoln banquet have refrained from selling any persons tickets until this week and we now urge all republicans and all other persons interested in hearing a good program to get in touch with members having tickets and get theirs early. Remember the ladies are especially invited to this banquet which is always one of the pleasant social events of the year.

P. P. FARRELL, President of Jackson County Lincoln Club.

I wish to take this opportunity to commend the program committee of the Lincoln Day celebration, in their selection of Rev. William S. Gilbert D. D. pastor of the Presbyterian church of Astoria, Ore., as the principal speaker at the Lincoln Day banquet. I know of no better selection that they could have made. Major Gilbert, as he is called, is recognized as one of the strongest ministers in the state both as a speaker, mixer among men and organizer. For 15 years he has been pastor of the Presbyterian church at Astoria and is beloved by his people because of his strong qualities, both as a man and a minister. He was used by the government in many of the patriotic and money raising campaigns of the early days of the war—was one of the first to offer his services and with a leave of absence from his church, which refused to let him resign, spent two years in the thickest of the fray in France during the World war, as chaplain of the Third Oregon, which position he still holds. In France he was made head of all the chaplains, directing the work as a whole. He was given the title of major and later that of lieutenant colonel, which title he now holds.

Lieutenant Colonel Gilbert is a man of strong, virile manhood, with an upstanding military figure which commands attention wherever he goes. I have never heard a speaker who could make a stronger appeal to the patriotic than Lieutenant Colonel Gilbert. He is eloquent, forceful, with a thrill in his patriotic passages that grips every hearer. While I have never heard his message on Abraham Lincoln, I am sure that those who hear him, and every citizen of Medford and vicinity ought to do so, will never forget his presentation of that great outstanding personality of our nation nor his own duty of patriotism as an American citizen.

Tongue Twisters (To be read aloud) By C. L. EDSON, Author of the Gentle Art of Columning.

A GOOBER ROMANCE.
Rube H. Heber wooed a neighbor, And her name was Sue Burr Lowe; And she lived beside the Tiber; Where the tuber blossoms blow. On a tuba, Itube R. Heber By the Tiber blew and blew, But it was a "waste of labor," Said his sober neighbor, Sue. Then Rube Heber tried to bribe her With a goober that was good— With a goober and a tuber By the Tiber letter stood. Then said Sue Burr unto Heber: "What a goober Heber grew! You're no boob—or I'm a fibber— Neighbor, now I'll marry you, And she at the Tiber goober, And the Tiber tuber too.

Theatre

The rejuvenated and modernized "Merry Widow" as presented by a very capable company of principals and chorus and accompanied by its own symphony orchestra of merit, recently pleased a large audience at the Page last night with its singing of the well known melodies, splendid orchestration, good acting, stage settings, specialties and manding out prominently the beautiful costumes and air of romance.

Medford has never seen more charming stage costumes of rich colors artistically blended. All thru the enchanting musical play the eye and ear were charmed. The comedy element was quite pleasing with the veteran comedian Jefferson de Angeli, leading and ably assisted by his clever foil, Tom Burton.

Miss Marie Wells, as the "Merry Widow" lived up to her advance notice as a winsome actress of personality and a singer of ability, although handicapped by a cold. James Lidy as Prince Danilo and Warren Proctor as Camille de Jolanda, and Eva Wheeler as the wife of the ambassador, played the other chief parts acceptably.

EMILE COUE CHANGES CHICAGO'S SLOGAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Emile Coue, exponent of auto-suggestion, escaped any gathering of crippled and disabled persons upon his arrival in Chicago by reason of his early arrival. But they were waiting in line at the lecture hall.

Incidentally, he gave Chicago a new slogan, suggesting that Chicago substitute "I am" for "I will."

As to the sick he said: "So many would not be sick at all if they did not keep thinking themselves sick."

Cup Tea Prevented a Dramatic Break Britain and Belgium

PARIS, Feb.—So engrossed were the delegates in the discussion of various plans of the representation question presented at the Paris conference, that on the third and last day of the meeting they nearly forgot their five o'clock tea.

Verbal exchanges between Premier Bonar-Law and Mr. Theunis, the Belgian premier, had become somewhat bitter, marking the only strained moments of the conference. The air was charged with suppressed emotion, delegates were nervous, and for a time it seemed as if the conference, instead of ending in a "friendly disagreement," might break up in a row.

Just then the Marquis della Torretta proposed in a casual way: "Perhaps we might have our tea."

All concurred. The good old English custom, proposed by an Italian, had saved the day.

SECURE JURY IN BOOTLEG CASES

The trials of Mrs. N. Dunlap and M. M. Hefflin, under the so-called "nuisance provision" of the prohibition act, was begun before County Judge George Gardner this morning. The "nuisance clause" embraces selling and possession. Most of the morning session was devoted to the securing of a jury, and arguments. The defense is represented by Attorney George Roberts and the state District Attorney Rawles Moore.

In the justice court, in this city tomorrow morning at ten o'clock the case of Tom Olsen, alleged to have been the owner of an auto load of booze, will be called, and the mysterious disappearance of part of the cargo is expected to be a high point in the case. Three young men were held in connection with "hijacking." Olsen is represented by Attorney Ben Lindas.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

I did think that when I got through with the month of January, 1923, that I would resign my position as the Eagle Point correspondent for The Mail Tribune, but when I talked with several of the readers of the Eaglelets and they protested so strongly against it, I concluded that I would try to hold out for another month at least, although when it comes to a matter of my own tramping over our town and so into a store and inquire of the proprietor about business and he will draw a long breath and reply: "Well, there were a few people in today from the country, but I don't remember who they were. They only stayed a few minutes and went home, so I have notified some of the business men and women that if they don't put on their thinking cap and help me to gather items for the Eaglelets, that I will have to throw up the sponge and quit. And I don't want to have to do that, for that kind hearted editor, who always meets me with a smile, might not like it and I would not displease him for anything and there is another thought and that is if I should quit I would have nothing to do to occupy my mind or prompt me to move around and I would soon be like an old friend of mine, who is not as old as I am by several years, just sit around and soon be so I could not go out and become helpless and that thought is exceedingly repulsive to me. But I would appreciate very much a little help along that line, especially during the winter.

J. W. Chester and Lee Edmondson and a stranger, both of Butte Falls, were passengers on the Medford-Butte Falls stage last Wednesday on their way home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Vilas, who live on the Vilas farm on the old atkey road from here to Medford were here Wednesday for dinner and he was inquiring where he could get yew points, so I suppose he is going to do some fencing on his farm. He reports that his mother is spending the winter in California. Thomas Farlow formerly of Lake Creek, where he owns one of the best farms in the county, but now has become a citizen of Medford, was also here for dinner Wednesday. H. L. Cox was also here the same day. While here the subject came up of an article that was in The Daily Mail Tribune, speaking of the work in the timber and the addition of a branch line out from the P. & E. railroad, extending out north into a heavy body of timber, and spoke of a man by the name of Adams being interested in the move and he seemed to think that it was a sensational story, but I was talking with Frank Brown of the firm of George Brown and sons and he said there is excellent timber by that name, Adams, who has been corresponding with him with regard to buying the firm's timber out northeast of Butte Falls and that he had sent him the names of several timber owners who own timber in that section, so there may be more in it than a simple rumor.

Mr. J. M. Johnson, one of our popular merchants, reports that H. U. Ellis and Frank Hill of Derby were trading in town Thursday and that George Barker and Frank Carson of Butte Falls were business callers the same day and that J. Harry Carlton was also here and that he had taken a contract to clear the right of way for the laterals for the canal coming from Big Butte, running from the Butte Creek (the Corbin) orchard to the Alavista orchard and on through and that the Robison brothers have also taken a contract to clear the right of way on another section of the laterals.

Thursday was a noted day for the commercial travelers in our little town for in making my routine, I came to no less than seven, so there must be some business going on here. The first was A. B. Shelby, who is representing Baker, Hamilton and Pacific Co., San Francisco, Calif. He brought his mother-in-law, Mrs. C. H. Natwick of Medford out and she had a fine visit with the hostess of the Sunnyside and her daughter. They both took dinner here and so did Walter D. Oliver, formerly of Trail, but now of Portland. He had been spending a month visiting his mother, Mrs. C. Kachy Fiermol of Trail.

Mrs. Sarah Waldren of Medford, who had been up to the Anderson camp to do the cooking for the men working on the Eagle Point Irrigation company's canal, but was taken sick and only remained a few days, came out on the stage Thursday.

I also met Mr. H. L. Buck, who had just finished up his contract to clear the right-of-way on a unit of the canal referred to above.

While I was in the George Brown & Sons store Thursday looking for Eaglelets I met Mr. and Mrs. Marsey and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Brady, and while the ladies were patiently waiting for their husbands, for they were both commercial travelers, the first one representing Walter N. Moore, dry goods company, San Francisco, and the other Bering Hight and C. E. F. J., engaged them in conversation and found them to be very agreeable and interesting enter-

COUNTY EXPENSES DRY ENFORCEMENT $735.95, JANUARY

Prohibition costs for January, according to bills allowed by the county court, totalled $735.95, for salaries alone, according to the records of the county clerk. Warrants were issued as follows: George England, $270, D. M. Lowe, $77.50; J. H. Leggett, $32, and S. D. TURKS WILL SIGN PACT (Continued from Page One)

It is understood at the foreign office that the Turks are quite ready to resume the conference where it broke off Sunday, and this is the suggestion Premier Poincare has made to London and Rome with the understanding that none of the questions already settled be re-opened.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—The Angora assembly held a secret session last night upon receipt of the news of the Lausanne conference rupture. The result of the deliberations was not made public.

While the situation is conceded by Turkish newspapers to be grave, the hope is generally expressed that a peaceful solution will be reached, but a dispatch to the Teshid from Angora says:

"The last word is left to our bayonets."

Other Angora dispatches quote an unnamed statesman as saying: "Although the door to peace is closed, it is not yet locked. I believe the allies will yet be obliged to make peace but if not we are strong enough to attain our aims backed by the nation."

In an interview at Ak-Hissar, Mustafa Kemal Pasha is quoted as saying: "Whatever phases this struggle, for which we are not responsible, may take, be sure we will obtain our ultimate rights. The will and the capacity of the nation guarantee that."

Conference circles here assert that not the slightest further concessions can be made by the Turks.

Favor Eddy Measure
SALEM, Ore., Feb. 6.—The senate yesterday adopted a report recommending the passage of Senator Eddy's bill providing for the teaching of certain subjects, both mandatory and optional, in the high schools of the state.

Senator Eddy, author of the measure, scored the course of civics as taught in the high schools. Under this course, he said, the school had been opened to socialism, and that the school atmosphere had become permeated with poisonous doctrines detrimental to the minds of the young.

Ambassador Fletcher Leaves. BRUSSELS, Feb. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—Henry P. Fletcher, ambassador to Belgium, who will head the American delegation at the Pan American congress at Santiago, Chile, next month, sailed from Antwerp today for England en route to the United States.

TODAY I AM REAL WELL

So Writes Woman After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Jamestown, N. Y.—"I was nervous, easily excited and discouraged and had no ambition. Part of the time I was not able to sit up as I suffered with pains in my back and with weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, both the liquid and the tablet form, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash for inflammation. Today I am real well and run a rooming house and do the work. I recommend your medicine to every woman who complains, and you may use my letter to help any one else. I am passing through the Change of Life now and I keep the Vegetable Compound in the house, ready to take when I feel the need of it."—Mrs. ALICE D. DAVIS, 203 W. Second St., Jamestown, N. Y.

Often some slight derangement may cause a general upset condition of the whole system, indicated by such symptoms as nervousness, backache, lack of ambition and general weakness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine for such troubles. In many cases it has removed the cause of the trouble.

running down clues. It is also the opinion of the sheriff's office that they were hungry. A ten pound box of date was stolen, and the thieves ate them as they ran, for the seeds thereof were found along the railroad track for half a mile towards Talent. The date seeds ran out and the trail was lost. "Jungle camps" along Bear Creek were searched and a number of wanderers given a close questioning.
