RUHR OCCUPATION DISCOUNTED, 1923 TO BE PROSPEROUS

Linwood B. Cornell and James L. Albert of Portland, representatives of the Alexander Hamilton Institute talked before the forum luncheon at the Hotel Medford this noon on "Basic and Fundamental Business Cycles." Mr. Albert was the principal speaker and illustrated the operation of fundamental business laws of supply and demand and compensation and their effect on loanable funds, the New York stock exchange and the spending power of the American public with a chart. The cycle principle was clearly illustrated and the speaker declared that in order to be a success in business the manager must study these fundamental and irrevocable laws with relation to his business.

In terminating his speech he stated that no quains need be felt because of the general foreign situation and the French occupation of the Ruhr as the power of foreign activities to affect American business and the purchasing power of the nation is less than the increase in purchasing power during the past year.

He predicted a solid, happy, sound business outlook for 1923 and 1924 and urged merchants and business men not to consider themselves in business merely for profit but to realize that they are in business to render a service to the community.

PRINCE MIGUEL PRETENDER TO THRONE PASSES

Portuguese Prince Husband of Miss Anita Stewart Victim of Pneumonia in New York City—Worked As Insurance Solicitor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Prince Miguel DeBraganza, eldest son of Don Miguel Braganza, pretender to the throne of Portugal, died here today of double pneumonia. The prince, who was 45 years old, came to this country recently to earn a living by selling insurance for the firm controlled by relatives of his wife, who was Miss Anita Stewart of New York.

His marriage to Miss Stewart was solemnized in Scotland in 1909 after royal complications had been smoothed over by the late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria who raised the bride to the title of princess. At the time of the wedding it was generally reported that the bride received a gift of $2,000,000 from her mother, Mrs. James Henry Smith, who had been divorced from William Henry Stewart.

Three children were born to them, Princess Elizabeth, 12 years old, Prince Jean, 10, and Prince Miguel, 7. Soon after the marriage of the prince he was sued for $1,000,000 by a syndicate of creditors in Vienna and his furniture and household effects were seized.

Emperor Francis Joseph later discharged his debts. Meanwhile the prince went to London and for a time was employed in a brokers office. In October 1911, reports were current that he would seek the Portuguese throne through a secret engagement between his father and former King Manuel, should the royalists win a coup. It was reported that he had raised a loan of $10,000,000 for the royalist cause but the movement collapsed.

At the outbreak of the war Emperor William of Germany made him a lieutenant in the sixth lancer regiment. He later became a captain in the German cavalry.

The prince then dropped from public notice until 1919 when the continental papers reported he would be offered the throne of Portugal. Nothing happened however, and he came to New York.

The princess is a daughter of William Rhinelander Stewart, whose wife after her divorce married the late James Henry Smith. A large share of the Smith fortune went to Miss Stewart.

James Henry Smith was known to his friends as "Silent Smith," and was a prominent social figure. He inherited $25,000,000 from an uncle.

This was recovered from Burch, in addition to $1,070 in cash and $200 in cash found on Miller's person.

Burch and Miller, according to Anderson, went to the rabbi's residence and demanded money. Rabbi Tovil suggested they return when his son Morris would be home and he then notified Dolley and Anderson. EXPULSIONS BY FRENCH LEAD TO MORE STRIKES

After 6 Weeks Occupation France - German Struggle Narrows Down to Endurance Contest — German Dignitaries Sent Out in Hordes.

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The conclusion of the sixth week of the Ruhr occupation finds the French resorting almost exclusively to expulsions in their efforts to impress upon the Germans that the orders of General De Goutte are to be obeyed. The Germans, in turn, have adopted the protest strike.

The expulsion of Burgomaster Kotten of Duesseldorf, following closely the removal from the Ruhr of Dr. Gruetznier, caused a sensation and resulted in the walkout of most of the workers in this city. Only the street railwaymen and the employees of power plants were on duty last evening.

At Mayence, the arrest of the director of posts and telegraphs was followed promptly by a walkout on the part of the employees in this service, and the troops took over the buildings. Several railroad officials in the Mayence area have received jail sentences of from ten to sixty days for encouraging strikes and for disobeying the occupying authorities.

Advices from Essen assert that General Fournier intends to police the Ruhr with municipal forces and has ordered the dissolution of the Schutz Polizei.

The French have expelled the mayor of Dortmund for refusing to carry out orders.

TALK FEST IN SENATE CONTINUES

Senator Reed Talks Three Hours on World History Illustrating Remarks With Maps—Borah Follows With Dissertation on Russia—Brookhart Warming Up.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, started the ship bill filibuster off for the day, resuming delivery of his address begun last night in support of his resolution to direct the president to enter into negotiations with Great Britain and France for purchase of certain of their Caribbean possessions. He had hauled forth the two big maps with which in school master style he has been illustrating his speech.

Senator Jones, republican, Washington, in charge of the shipping bill, met the resumption of the filibuster with the statement that he was prepared to carry on the fight; that he would insist on another night session lasting as long as possible and that every possible strategy would be employed to defeat the purpose of the filibusters.

The recess taken last night at 11:30 o'clock after a twelve and a half hour session, allowed senators to get a fair night's sleep, and those who answered to the opening quorum call appeared reasonably refreshed, including Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, who yielded the floor at six o'clock last night after having spoken continuously for more than six hours and in all about eleven hours.

The break in the session played into the hands of those conducting the filibuster in more ways than in giving them a rest for it afforded several an opportunity to gather more material for their contemplated speeches. It gave Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, one of the leaders in the talkfest, a chance to dig up the speech of fourteen hours made by Senator Smoot in 1915 on the ship purchase bill, then before the senate.

Senator Brookhart announced he would read that speech "as a part of my remarks when I take the floor." He added that he had not given up the plan of using one of the proposed night sessions "as a night school for the education of the old guard in the principles of cooperative marketing."

Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, informed his colleagues that the respite had allowed him "to do considerable reading on the old King Tut of Egypt and his deflation of the Inuites."

Some senators conceded that negotiations were entered into last night for a vote on the pending Ladd motion to displace the shipping bill with the filled milk measure and also on one of the more important amendments to the shipping legislation but said that for the present, all efforts along that line had been abandoned.

Senator Reed held the floor nearly three hours. His speech covered the whole range of modern world history, which showed, he said, that "the friendship of nations ceases when interests clash."

Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, gained the floor when Mr. Reed concluded and launched at once upon an appeal for recognition of the present Russian government, a subject he had discussed several times in the past.
