Ye Smudge Pot By Arthur Perry.

If the anti-tobacco war, now raging in Utah keeps up, it will not be long before a gang of slickers start making nickel cigars with a tumbledweed base.

The Iowa nurse awarded $20,000 for a kiss stolen by a flip doctor, failed to waste $240,000 on the jury, when the good news came in.

The French have seized 12,567,492, 493 German marks; or, as every newspaper paragrapher will surmise, approximately 15 cents.

LUCKILY IS RIGHT (Eugene Guard) Joe Short, son of the second-hand store man on Seventh street found a large pocketbook on the Row River road Thursday containing almost $300. Luckily he soon found the owner.

Governor Pierce will start distributing the political pie and plums, and the Republican party in Oregon will probably be rewarded handsomely for ruining itself.

The city council has rejected the application of a citizen to install a cigar store Indian on the ground, that it would be nothing more or less than something else for an auto to run into.

Of course, it can not be that any of the authors, now complaining about the poor pictures produced by the movies, ever wrote a poor story.

In the trial of the Multnomah county official, charged with poor arithmetic, in the counting of ballots, nothing is admitted except a primary was held last May.

It is safe to presume that there are some people in the land who believe the bank of prospective candidates for the presidency, who say they do not know definitely whether they will run, but will give the matter earnest consideration, as soon as they can get around to it.

Partisan feeling promises to run high at the bb. game this eve. Outside of the general opinion that the climatic conditions are excellent, the local five is the only thing the community can agree upon.

There ought to be a way connected to keep European hellraisers from doing all of it in America.

IN OTHER WORDS, SHOULD HE STAY OR REMAIN (Pendleton Tribune) Prelude question: "What about the case of Dr. P. S. Grant of New York? Should he leave or be put out of the Episcopalian Church?" Baptists face the same problem.

IS THE CLIMATE CHANGING?

YES, THIS WEATHER is delightful. Being delightful, it wouldn't be ungracious to term it unusual. Moreover, it wouldn't be true. February has behaved this way many times before, and will undoubtedly repeat the performance many times in the future.

But there is an interesting feature to the present summer-like manifestation. Scientists maintain the Gulf Stream is shortening and the south is creeping north. It is even suggested in certain quarters that the entire climate is changing.

We hope not. Frankly we don't care for Hollywood or Tia Juana. And we have no desire to move to Salem or Puget Sound. All in all, the climate here is about as satisfactory as any we have sampled.

So we are inclined to fall back on Nature. She has ways all her own. True there were polar bears in Brazil at one time, and hippos snoozing around Labrador, but the changes were so gradual no one lived long enough to notice them. There is good reason to believe that climate hereabouts or elsewhere will not be transformed so suddenly that the shock will be perceptible.

COMFORTING THOUGHTS.

SOMETIMES, when I have diseases circulating through my frame, and the prospect dark displeases, and I'm weary of the game, I indulge in gloomy wheezes, to my everlasting shame. But my grouch is never lasting, and I cheer up pretty soon, cutting out the rude dodgasting, to put up a cheerful tune; from my heart the sorrow casting, sipping bitters from a spoon. For my illness is a blessing with his pills of noble size; in his heart he is confessing that in me his safety lies. And the doc has even nicees he must dress in proper style; his expense no doubt increases, doubles every little while; as I rub my limbs with greases I reflect on this and smile. Scores of earnest, honest critters, gather yards on plains and hills, to compound my wholesome bitters and my death defying pills, and I seem to hear their twitters when I pay my monthly bills. And when death, the grisly raker, rakes me to my last repose, and I go to yonder aere where the weeping willow grows, then the weeping undertaker will be richer, I suppose. If I help the learned physician, and the druggist, wise and true, if I aid the tired mortician and the yarb assembling crew, it is idle my condition to lament with loud hoo-hoo.

EDUCATORS MEET IN CLEVELAND, OHIO

COMMUNICATIONS

A Word from McElroy To the Editor: Just a line and press notice from the Great Falls Tribune, to let you know that we are still on earth and doing fine. We expect to start back to good old Oregon about the 7th of next month. Will try and play an engagement in your city about the middle of April. Hope we can, anyway. Yours very truly, J. C. McELROY.

Cole McElroy's orchestra of Portland, Oregon. Great Falls, Montana, Feb. 21, 1923. J. Sylvester, premier accordion soloist of the Pacific coast, leader of McElroy's orchestra of Portland, will be featured at a radio concert tonight at 7:30 o'clock by the Tribune's station, KDYS, in one of the greatest accordion solos ever written, "Pietro's Return."

The entire orchestra will be featured in several late record dance numbers, as also will Monte Austin, the noted baritone singer, in that charming number, "Waiting for Ships That Never Return."

The orchestra will make its last appearance in Great Falls tonight at the Odeon hall.

CHRISTOPHER BRAMBLE, of Brooklyn, Retired Chief Quartermaster U. S. Navy, who says his determination to try Tanlac was the wisest decision he ever made as the medicine completely restored his health.

Christopher Bramble, 783 Monroe St., Brooklyn, N. Y., chief quartermaster, U. S. Navy, retired, is now an ardent champion of the merits of Tanlac. "I'll stand by Tanlac to the very last," declared Mr. Bramble, "for it has helped me back on my feet and I am feeling like a new man now, I had suffered from stomach trouble for two years and was in an awful run-down condition. My appetite went back on me and when I did eat a little something I would suffer pain and misery for hours. My nerves were all out of fix, I would be awake tossing and rolling until almost day, and I felt weak and tired all the time. I had no energy to do anything and just felt any way but right. "Well, I just kept on losing weight and getting worse until I concluded to try Tanlac, and that was the wisest decision I ever made. It's the only medicine I ever saw that does all they say it will. I now eat three hearty meals a day and never feel a touch of indigestion, and my appetite was never better, even when I was a school boy. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up mornings feeling refreshed and fine. My weight has increased and I have been built up until I never felt better in my life. If anybody doubts this statement, just let them see me." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Over 25 million bottles sold. Adv.
