RENEGADE PIUTES STILL RAMPAGING

MONTICELLO, Utah, Mar. 22.—The four white possemen who yesterday were reported missing have, according to advices received here, joined the new posse which left Blanding, southeastern Utah, yesterday at dawn to continue the search for the renegade Piute band which caused trouble last Monday.

Blanding is still without direct communication with other towns. The telephone line from here to Blanding is reported cut in several places.

Every possible precaution is being taken at Blanding to prevent any surprise attack on the town by the renegade Indians. Guns and ammunition have been received there from many neighboring points.

In a clash late Tuesday between possemen and the renegade Indians, known as the Allen Canyon band, one redskin was shot and killed and two others were wounded. Several Indian ponies were also killed in the affray. Late advices here state that the redskins are successfully evading their white pursuers.

GROUP COAST ROADS TO BENEFIT OREGON

PORTLAND, Ore., Mar. 22.—When the inter-state commerce commission opens its local hearing on the grouping of western railroads on March 25, Portland shippers and business interests, represented by the chamber of commerce and Portland traffic and transportation association will advocate a plan proposed yesterday by the special chamber commission. This plan as suggested by the committee, advises the grouping of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Spokane, Portland and Seattle and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads into one system. Such a grouping, the report maintains, would be of great benefit to Oregon.
