Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry.

The liver, and not the heart is described by an army doctor, as the seat of love, so hereafter it will be: Have a liver, kid!

Arrangements have been made to shoot the first editor, who inspired by the marriage yesterday of a lad to a lass worth $40,000,000, declares they would be happier if they had stood off the preacher for his fee. The groom is described as "an artist," and he sure was, and the wedding "was a simple affair," but there have been simpler ones.

The Philadelphia aristocrat and millionaire, involved in the mysterious murder of Dorothy Keenan, Broadway butterfly and beauty, still skulks and whimpers behind his gold and prominence. He met his family Tuesday, and received a good scolding for getting caught. Another gentleman mixed up in the killing, and the son of a cabinet officer, is at least a human being, and author of the first kind words for Dorothy. Said Daugherty:

more sinned against than sinner." And ing up in the windows of the biz. dist.

The ball team of our great moral

A Fable—Once upon a time there was a girl with a pair of $7 silk socks on who never forgave her father for having the running board on the family Ford replaced, when it was accidentally torn off in an unavoidable accident.

The labor situation is very discouraging, there being nothing to do but work.

Some of the court decisions are enough to start a civil war. A Michigan judge has ruled that the United States government has the right to ask European agitators what they are raising hell about in this country.

Quill Points

About the only thing as worthless as a German mark is a button on a coat sleeve.

It is unreasonable, however, to expect any motor to run as smoothly as the agent talks.

The remarkable thing is that human nature has survived with so many laws to cramp its style.

About the only perfect neighborhoods are those found in real estate advertisements.

You seldom hear "The Old Folks at Home" now. For that matter the old folks seldom stay at home.

To the lay ear, about the only difference between a violinist and a fiddler is $200 a night.

Europe can't have started another war yet. We haven't appointed our official government observers.

There are many pretty signs of spring, but the first elbows to appear are not included in the list.

Life is harder out in the great open spaces, no doubt, but at least you don't step on chewing gum.

An educated man is one who can study the European situation and distinguish between patriotism and mulishness.

Correct this sentence: "Spring is here," said the wife; "but I don't believe I shall rearrange the furniture this time."

Still, the modern girl who puts on rouge is no more objectionable than the old-fashioned girl who put on airs.

Poetic license is all right, but as we read some of the spring verse it occurs to us that the license should be higher.

When an alienist isn't testifying at a murder trial, he can pick up a little money selecting popular songs to be published.

The coroner is becoming hard-boiled enough to call it a natural death if it occurs while one is diving through a windshield.

Not only are women's clothes looser than in the old days, but they are more efficient at the business of making old dad loosen up.

Our idea of zero in sorrow is that of an American when he reads that some European noble has been compelled to go to work for a living.

THE FALLEN SAINT.

THE MORNING PAPERS brought the news, how J. Cornelius Hiram inn, who'd fought for years the Demon Boozie, was found half shot with bootleg gin. At breakfast time I read the tale, and cried, "Great Scott and Richard Roe! This news will make the town grow pale, and fill the people's breasts with woe. For years the great Cornelius Dinn has cut all kinds of moral ice, and taught his fellow men to win their victories o'er sin and vice. Now we behold this spotless saint cast down and showing feet of clay, and virtue has received a taint that only years can wash away." Then I put on my priceless tile, and headed for the surging mart, to see a town without a smile, a village with a broken heart. But every fellow wore a grin, and voters nudged me and inquired, "Say, have you heard how Corny Dinn in raw licentiousness was mired?" Before the Travelers' Hotel, and also by the Blue Front Store, I heard my ribald neighbors yell as they had never yelled before. Around the streets he gossips ran, to spring the tale through tireless jaws; the downfall of a worthy man brought only laughter and applause. There is no mercy for the gent who toils along the narrow way, however noble his intent, if he should for an instant stray.

Says Allenhu
Surely Conquers
Rheumatism

Winchester, Ky., Citizen Cheerfully Recommends This Wonderful Remedy to All Sufferers.

His letter follows: "Burns Avenue, Winchester, Ky. I had severe rheumatism for three months; tried several remedies without receiving any benefit whatever. A friend advised me to try ALLENHU as it had cured him. I bought three bottles from the George Drug Co., this city.
When I began taking this medicine I was unable to do any work. I could neither dress myself nor raise my hand to comb my hair. I am now almost well and feel confident this last of the three bottles I am now taking will completely cure me. I can cheerfully recommend this truly wonderful remedy to any rheumatic sufferer." Signed Asa B. Keer.

ALLENHU has been tried and tested for years and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiful and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent or anyone's money unless ALLENHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee the first pint bottle to show appreciable results or money back in every instance. All druggists can supply you.

You've Prooved This, Too-

The cord or fabric in a tire can give you miles only so long as the rubber tread protects it.

Clearly, a wider and thicker tread, having more rubber in it, gives the inside fabric extra protection—and for a longer time.

It's perfectly plain, then, why the wider and thicker tread of your Gates Super-Tread Tires is giving you two or three thousand extra miles of service.
